BRYAN IS TO WORRY ROOSEVELT ON TOUR

Wilson Lays Plans For the Nebraskan.

TO FOLLOW AND ANSWER

AND ASSAILED HIS RECORD IN WHITE HOUSE.

Bryan Will Keep His Hand on the Lever—He Has Been Invited to Visit Governor Wilson at Sea Girt, N.J., About the Middle of August.

Sea Girt, N.J., July 25.—Plans for the Wilson campaign for the presidency are slowly crystallizing. It is learned here that the Wilson managers intend to use William J. Bryan to offset Mr. Roosevelt. The plan is to have Mr. Bryan follow the Bull Moose as closely as possible, through the country and to meet his argument with oratory and facts.

It is intended that Bryan shall keep as close to Roosevelt as possible, following him a day after into every city he visits and talking wherever possible to practically the same audience.

Mr. Bryan will not merely take a defensive attitude, he will assume the offensive and hurl at Roosevelt pertinent questions about the harvester trust, the steel trust, and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company. Also he will assail him on his record in the White House.

An invitation has been extended to Mr. Bryan to visit Governor Wilson at the little White House about the middle of August, immediately after the governor has delivered his speech of acceptance. Bryan is to be a special guest in the sense that he is to be asked to remain here two or three days to go over with the governor the details of the campaign.

It is known here that Governor Wilson is anxious that Bryan shall give his campaign the benefit of his wide experience for, as Governor Wilson himself says, "I have never had many experiences in a national campaign."

As the situation stands at present Governor Wilson has placed in command of his campaign forces two young men, McCombs and McArdle, experienced in business, but utterly lacking in political training. To be sure Chairman McCombs handled Governor Wilson's pre-convention campaign for the nomination with some skill, but to intrust a national campaign entirely to him is beyond the wishes of the governor and his friends. Mr. Bryan will, therefore, be urged to keep his hand on the lever.

Word has been received from Senator La Follette, through a National Committee man Joseph E. Davies, of Wisconsin, that the senator will undertake to meet Roosevelt's arguments wherever possible. Davies says that La Follette has no intention of leaving the republican party to fight for Wilson, but that he will match his wits with those of the colonel, whatever effect that may have.

He stated that the section of 400 miles which he is building from Harry Junction to within 150 miles east of Cochrane is graded, and the rails laid except for a gap of thirty-five miles. This will be finished this fall.

Immediately west of Cochrane—Mr. O'Brien is building 275 miles of this line, and another contract is for 150 miles east of Cochrane, the whole employing about 5,000 men.

It is still hoped, he said, to have the whole of the line from Superior Junction to Cochrane, whence there is direct connection to Montreal, complete this fall, so as to permit the hauling of some of the crop on slow trains. If the line is not ready in time to permit hauling some of this year's crop, it will be because of lack of sufficient laborers.

GERMAN MENACE A MYTH.

Declares Vice-President of the Reichstag at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., July 25.—The German menace, now occupying so much attention, is only a myth. Belief in its existence has been encouraged by French chauvinists or ultra-patriots, with the idea of embroiling Great Britain and Germany. Mrs. William McCartney Died Very Suddenly.

BODY OF HER HUSBAND

LAY JUST BELOW, AWAITING BURIAL RITES.

The Wife Survived the Husband by a Day and a Half—Heart Failure, Due to Shock and Grief, Caused Her Demise.

Two hours and a half before the body of her late husband was to have been taken from his late residence, 230 University avenue, for burial, Mrs. William McCartney, expired in her room upstairs at twelve o'clock noon. The passing away of Mrs. McCartney was as may be expected, a severe shock to her family, who were present for the funeral.

The deceased, who was seventy-four years of age, had been ill for some eight weeks with heart trouble. She took her husband's death as a relief, for him after years of suffering, and her family thought that she would stand the shock. She had been in her room all morning, and attended by Dr. A. E. Ross, who did not expect the sudden end. Deceased was about to be taken downstairs to see the remains of her late husband.

About twelve o'clock, Mrs. McCartney was affected with the fatal turn with her heart. The family was called into the room, and she died in her chair, in the arms of Mrs. C. Smith, who had tenderly tended the last couple of years.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Jane Berry, was born and resided in this city all her life. Mr. and Mrs. McCartney were married fifty years ago last autumn. Groves, of New York, and Miss Gertrude, at home.

M., of which he was a member, conducted the service, and Rev. A. P. Morrison, pastor of Bethel Congregational church, also held a service.
