COMING TO KINGSTON.

and Others. Kingston music-lovers, when fortunate enough to hear some of the great artists, have had to pay an extreme ly high price for the privilege. Frederic Shipman, the well-known impressario, claims to have a solution to this problem, which is merely "organization." Heretofore the best artists could only visit the large cities, hence the heavy expense, but by arranging for a series of three concerts by three metropolitan attractions, approximately a month apart, it becomes possible to visit more cities and divide expense. In fact in commercial phrasethought in that statement just at the ology, it is running a tour on wholesale basis and thus securing wholesale

In other words, a tieket for the best seats for all three events may be purchased for three dollars. Naturally this great reduction in price will apply to subscribers. Patrons for one event only will, of course, have to pay the regular price. It is hoped Kingston will give this proposed series the support necessary
