SHE DIES IN AGONY

METER EATING CANDY GIVEN BY HAMILTON FRIEND.

Teamster Under Arrest Who is Said to Have Presented Sweets to Wife in Hospital.

Hamilton, Aug. 12.—James Bruce, aged twenty-two, a teamster, was placed under arrest last evening, and the police decline to say what the charge against him will be. The story, however, that is told, in connection with his arrest is quite out of the ordinary.

Bruce, it is said, was married a short time ago, to Ada Dalby, a young girl who, for the last few weeks has been an inmate of the City hospital.

Sunday afternoon, it is alleged, Bruce called at the hospital to see his wife and left her a box of candies. Mrs. Bruce did not eat any of the candies, as she is on a dietary, but this evening when her two sisters, Gertrude and Ethel Dalby, with her friends, Rose Ziepe, 97 Burlington street east and Maggie Vanos, 222 Wood-street east, called to see her, she gave them some of the chocolates. Miss Ziepe ate four of them and the other girls ate each.

It was not long after that Miss Ziepe was taken seriously ill. She was seized with convulsions. Although the hospital doctors did everything in their power to save her, she died in a short time in the greatest agony. The other girls were ill, but after being given an emetic they recovered. It is alleged that Bruce bought the chocolates at a York street candy store.

The police were very reluctant to say anything on the case at all, and gave no reason for placing Bruce under arrest. Mrs. Bruce is in a delicate condition, and the shock may have serious effects on her.

The whole city is, to-day, discussing the tragedy of the death of Miss Ziepe. James Bruce, husband of the sick woman, who gave her the chocolates, remains in custody pending an analysis by the provincial analyst. All he will say is that he bought these sweets from a local confectioner. The police have ascertained that the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce was far from being happy.

THE HORSE'S PRAYER.

What This Dumb Animal Says to Its Master.

To thee, my master, I offer my prayer. Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done, provide me with shelter, a clean dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort.

Always be kind to me. Talk to me. Your voice often means to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may love you. Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

Do not check me so that I cannot have the free use of my head. If you insist that I wear blinders, so that I cannot see behind me as it was intended I should, I pray you be careful that the blinders stand well out from my eyes. Do not overload me, or hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat, I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that, you know, is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position, or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail.

I cannot tell you when I am thirsty, so give me clean cool water often. Save me, by all means, your power, from that fatal disease—the glanders. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, that by signs you may know my condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun, and put a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth; first warm it by holding it a moment in your hands.

I try to carry you and your burdens without a murmur, and wait patiently for you long hours of the day or night. Without the power to choose my shoes or path, I sometimes fall on the hard pavements which I have often prayed might not be of wood but of a nature as to give me a safe and sure footing. Remember that I must be ready at any moment, to lose my life in your service.

And finally, O my master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner, to be slowly tortured and starved to death; but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreligious if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable.

Bonny Misunderstanding.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—Only eleven hundred claims have been admitted, and cheques sent out to twenty-five thousand veterans of the Fenian raid who put in their claims for one hundred dollar bounty voted by parliament. There seems to be a misunderstanding as to whether a man qualified for a grant by merely being ready to go to the front, or whether it was necessary to be in active service.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

The Very Latest Called From All Over the World.

James Langmuir, paint and varnish manufacturer, Toronto, is dead.

The pope is engaged in writing his memoirs, which will not be published till after his death.

A local dispute between J. D. Rockefeller and Cardinal Farley, as to the ownership of lands at Poanatico Hills, is before the American courts. The cardinal, who represents the Catholic Foreign Missionary Society of America, says he will fight to the bitter end.

♦ ROSE GOES SCOT FREE. ♦
♦ New York, Aug. 12.— ♦ "Jack" Rose, it was learned, ♦ to-day, has received absolute ♦ immunity. It became known ♦ that when Rose confessed ♦ before the grand jury a ♦ stipulation granting him his ♦ freedom as soon as he has ♦ completed his testimony at ♦ the trial of the case was ♦ signed by the district at- ♦ torney and Judge Mulqueen. ♦ with the approval of the ♦ grand jury. ♦

♦ WHY FOAM IS WHITE. ♦
♦ The Little Bubbles Reflect All the ♦ Light. ♦
♦ No one can have failed to notice that the foam along the shore of the sea or of a lake is white. No matter how deep the blue of the water may be, there is the same whiteness of the froth at its edge. If the blackest ink in the world is beaten into foam the foam will be as white as the froth of milk. ♦
♦ The reason for this is that we see all objects by reflected light. If they reflect all the rays, they appear white; if they absorb all the rays, they seem to be black. When beaten into a froth, says Harper's Weekly, the little bubbles reflect all the light from their surfaces, for their extreme thinness makes them practically nothing but surface, and thus they are white. ♦
♦ For the same reason any colored stone shows white when it is ground to a powder. Take the blackest marble and reduce it to small grains, and these will appear white, because their surface now all reflect the same light. If the polished surface of the same marble be only a little scratched, as with a nail or drill point, the effect will be a light-colored streak. ♦
♦ The same point is illustrated in the appearance of the tiny particles of dew on the spider's web as compared with the larger drops suspended from the tips of blades of grass. All the more striking is the difference when the cold has converted dew and water into frost and ice. The frost sparkles from the innumerable faces of the crystals, while the ice shows a uniformly shining surface. Frost and snow are white because of the smallness of their particles, and the great number of their reflecting surfaces. ♦

♦ AN OLD BURIAL. ♦
♦ Habit of Shaking Hands Strong in ♦ Death. ♦
♦ In life a genial man with a habit of shaking hands with all persons for whom he expressed a fondness, Dr. A. J. Hine, of Fosterberg, Ill., whose funeral was held recently, went to his grave with his right hand outstretched as though to shake the hands of friends who assisted in the final rites. ♦
♦ The tendency of the dead physician's arm to remain outstretched with the hand in the position it ordinarily would assume in grasping that of another person was noticed when the body was first being prepared for burial. An effort was made to arrange the member so it would lie across the dead man's breast, but each attempt to do this met with failure, the hand springing up just as an life. ♦
♦ Cloth hands were resorted to in an effort to fasten the hand down, but this was unsuccessful. The hand remained outstretched as the body was lowered in the grave. ♦
♦ One way to lose a friend is to engage in a political argument. ♦
