Walkers will make brief welcoming addresses followed by replies. A cordial invitation is given to the citizens to meet in Grant Hall to participate in the welcoming ceremonies. The return trip to the Frontenac Hotel will be through the parks and along Kings street. At night it is proposed, about 7 o'clock, to give them a street car ride to Lake Ontario Park and at 8 o'clock to attend the band concert in Macdonald Park.

GREAT FISH STORIES

Are Being Told by Some Local Anglers.

This is great fishing weather and if all stories were true the fishes caught would feed many multitudes and fill many baskets with fragments, but if they were sifted for the actual number it might require a greater miracle than the one of old to make the fish go around.

One of Kingston's popular anglers says that he returned from Lohborough lake with about fifty pounds of fish, including black bass of from three to five pounds and pike of untold dimensions. Another caught some wonderful fluky specimens near Simcoe Island, but none of his friends saw any of them. A poor fisherman and a poor story teller are one and the same thing.

ATTEMPT TO CUT HOLE IN WINDOW OF C. W. LANE'S JEWELRY STORE.

Proprietor Discovers the Cut on Wednesday Morning—The Police Informed—Reward of $100 Offered.

An attempt was made on Tuesday night to cut a hole in the plate glass window of C. W. Lane, the Wellington street jeweller. When Mr. Lane came to his store on Wednesday morning, he found the cut of a diamond point in the lower right hand corner of the window, where a hole was marked out about five inches across. The glass was cut nearly through.

Evidently the would-be thief was scared away before he had finished his job. The curtain was drawn, and he had to guess where to cut, for even had he gotten through the glass the hole was too low down to get much of a chance at the contents of the window.

When interviewed, on Wednesday morning, Mr. Lane said that he never left any costly things in his window, but he did not want anyone to tamper with his glass. He informed the police immediately of the matter, and all the jewellers are put on their guard against window thieves. Mr. Lane is offering $100 reward for anyone who will locate the person who cut the glass.
