MAGISTRATE CENSURED

PEOPLE WHO SECURE LIQUOR FOR THOSE ON THE LIST

And Imposed Fine of $25 and Costs in Case of One Man Found Guilty of Such Offence—Member of List Was Committed to Jail—Youths Fight at Cricket Field.

Magistrate Farrell censured very strongly, on Monday morning, men who would secure liquor for a man on the "prohibited list." He had several liquor cases before him and those brought on the remarks he made concerning the matter.

"A man who would secure liquor for a man who is on the list," said the court, "would be guilty of almost anything. A man is put on this list because he is found incapable of protecting himself. He is put on the list so that he might be protected and he is a pretty small man who will get liquor for him in the face of all this."

Joseph Cooper was found guilty of securing liquor for Alfred Betts, who is on the list, although he stoutly denied the charge. A similar charge was lodged against Horatio Blake and George Shepherd. The charge against Shepherd was dismissed, and that against Blake will be heard on Thursday. Blake denied the charge very strongly, although Betts swore that he had been the one to get him liquor. William Kennedy was also summoned on a charge of having secured Betts liquor but as he did not appear a warrant was ordered for his arrest.

A fine of $25 and costs, with the option of ten days in jail, was the fine imposed upon Cooper. William Heath, on the list, and remanded by the magistrate, in order to give him time to think as to where he had secured his liquor, told his story.

"I said that a man named West, who was going to the west, secured the liquor for him. West was a little 'go,' which was not down on the programme, but just as it was nicely started, and both the contestants were warned up somewhat, Sergt. Snodden, who was a spectator at the game," nipped it in the bud.

The two were taken to the police station, but were afterwards allowed out on their promise to appear before the court. Both entered a plea of "not guilty," but on the evidence of Sergt. Snodden both were found guilty and a fine of $25 and costs was imposed. The magistrate pointed out to the pair the seriousness of fighting in a public place and causing a disturbance.

"The man knew me all right," said Heath, "because he called me 'Bill.'" Two youths were on the carpet for having a "scrap" on the cricket field on Saturday, while the baseball match was in progress. They had a little "go," which was not down on the programme, but just as it was nicely started, and both the contestants were warned up somewhat, Sergt. Snodden, who was a spectator at the game," nipped it in the bud.

A Little Excitement. A horse belonging to the Kingston steam laundry caused a good deal of excitement on Alfred street, on Monday morning. The horse took fright at a street car and dashed up the street just behind the car. A man, travelling on the car saw the horse, coming, jumped off the car and grabbed the horse by the head and brought it to a standstill, but not before the wagon had been turned over.

She Sang Finely. Misses Adria and Grace VanLaven, Watertown, N.Y., are visiting Mrs. Alvin VanLaven, Brook street. Miss Adria VanLaven sang in Cooke's church, Sunday morning, and in the evening in St. Andrew's. Her solo, "I'm a Pilgrim," was well chosen and beautifully rendered. Solicitors have congregations enjoying the singing of a sweeter and a clearer voice and yet her rendering of her solo was without any apparent effort and with an excellent appreciation of the spirit of the piece. The people of Kingston will look forward to hearing Miss VanLaven again.

Had a Close Call. A dead and dumb child came nearer to being killed, on Saturday evening, than any person would want to see, when the street car struck the child at the corner of Bay and Bagot streets. The car was coming in when the child walked across the track. Motorman Quessel rung his bell, but the child paid no attention. As there is a pretty good grade, the car was travelling at a fast rate. The motorman reversed the power, stopping the car just as it hit the child, but it was too late. Had the motorman not been accustomed to driving, the child would certainly have been killed; as it was it gave the motorman a dreadful scare.

Visiting the Scouts. The Scouts in camp, on Brophy's Point, continue to enjoy the outing. A couple of the officers and a few of the boys came home on Monday, with regret their duties calling them to the city. Sunday was spent quietly, the boys being busy by the commandant, Canon Starr, in the evening. A number of visitors were at the grounds on Sunday, including Isaac Strauss, of New York, and a party. They sailed down in his fine yacht. He is a member of the Boy Scout council of the United States. The New Yorker asked a number of questions, and appeared to be pleased with what he saw. Dr. William Spaul, and Postmaster Friend, of Wolfe Island, also called on the Scouts.

MAJOR O'GRADY DEAD

HE HAD SUFFERED FROM A PROLONGED ILLNESS.

He Had Been a Long Time in Service—Saw Duty in South Africa—The Funeral on Wednesday.

The death occurred on Monday of Sergeant-Major James O'Grady, (Honorary Lieutenant and district officer), after an extended illness. This deceased was connected with the military nearly all his life, entering the service at Quebec twenty-nine years ago. From the time he entered the service he took a great interest in his work. At the time of the South African war he was Sergeant-Major of "E" Battery, at Quebec, and went out with the second contingent. On his return from the war he was transferred to the R.C.H.A. Kingston, in which corps he served until his death. He was a battery sergeant-major for fourteen years. He also served in the North-west rebellion. In April, 1911, he was given the honorary title of lieutenant and district officer. At the time of his death he had three months for service.

He leaves to mourn a beloved wife and five children, four sons and one daughter, at home, and one sister, Mrs. Neville, Montreal. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning from his late residence, Queen street, and may be of a military character. The wife and family have the sympathy of numerous friends in their bereavement.

A Venerable Resident Dead. In the death of Mrs. Catherine Kane of Howe Island, we passed, on Saturday, Aug. 7th, the community has lost one of its oldest and most esteemed residents. The deceased had spent the greater part of her life in that township, having settled there soon after coming to Canada from the county of Waterford, Ireland, where she was born nearly eighty years ago.

During her long and useful life Mrs. Kane had, by her kindly manner and many sterling virtues, won the esteem and respect of all with whom she associated. Her husband, the late T. Kane, predeceased her by many years. She leaves six children, Mr. John Kane, of Hammond, Ind.; Thomas Kane, Howe Island; Dr. P. O. Kane, Buffalo, N.Y.; Mrs. J. Cuff, Watertown, N.Y.; and the Misses Margaret and Agnes, Howe Island. The deceased was a devout Catholic and a faithful friend of the needy. The funeral took place Monday from the Howe Island church to the cemetery.

HUSBAND AND WIFE PARTED. Lad Handed Over to Care of Children's Aid Society. A sad story was revealed at a session of the juvenile court on Monday morning when a thirteen-year-old lad, hailing from Sharbot Lake, was handed over to the care of the Children's Aid Society. The father and mother recently separated and there was no place for the boy, so J. S. McCann, acting for the Children's Aid Society, had the case brought to the attention of the court. The father of the boy is living in a tent, near Sharbot Lake, and the mother is staying at another home, and from all accounts there is no chance of a reconciliation between them.

The boy is a bright lad and Mr. McCann is very anxious to get a good home for him on a farm, and would like to hear from any farmer who would like to give the youngster a home. The boy gives every indication of being able to "make good" should he be given a chance.

FIREMEN WERE CALLED. The Department Had Two Runs on Saturday Afternoon. The fire department were called out twice on Saturday afternoon, but there was no serious fire. At 2:30 o'clock they were summoned to Knapp's boat house. Trouble was caused when a motor boat, on going out, back fired, and set fire to some gasoline. The blaze was extinguished with a chemical extinguisher, and the damage was slight.

In the case of the second call it was "all smoke and no fire." This was at 5:30 o'clock and a well-known military man, a member of the permanent force, was responsible for the trouble. He was "breaking in" a new stove, and filling it up with wood when the fire started in the parlor. In a few moments the house retired, after fifty years service in the neighbors had an idea that the house was on fire and sent in an alarm to the fire department. The stove was soon put into shape and the excitement all over.

THE BEST WAY To Do Many Household Tasks of This Season. To wash silk handkerchiefs, use borax in tepid water with little or no soap, iron them before dry. To prevent cakes, pies and puddings from scorching place a dish of water in the oven. To keep new-laid eggs fresh rub them over with oil or pure glycerine. To give a fine polish to tinware use silted wood ashes and a little mild soap.

To keep the outlets of laundry tubs clean probe them occasionally with a long-handled butterhook to remove the lint that collects therein. To get best results when baking bread in a gas range use light, cheap bread pans, for the lighter the pan the lighter and whiter your bread will be. In cooking beans and peas their flavor will be much better if they are cooked in as little water as possible. To make curtains or draperies slip easily on a portiere pole rub the pole with hard soap before putting them on.

Frederick Anglin, aged twenty-three years, residing with his father, Michael Anglin, a well-known farmer of McIntosh Mills, pleaded guilty to obtaining $150 from the acting teller of the Northern Crown bank, Brockville, on the 5th inst., by passing a forged cheque.

Harry McPaul, aged fourteen, died at Marmora, of suffocation from vomiting, induced by intoxication. Where he obtained the liquor is not known. "Boy nail brushes" at Gibson's.

TROUBLE IN THE UNION

MAY LEAD TO THE DISRUPTION OF ORGANIZATION.

Those of the Body Who Went Back to Work May Be Put Out—There are Officers Concerned in It.

There is trouble in the Painters' Union over the recent strike. There will be a meeting on Monday evening, at which steps will be taken which may have a serious effect on the future of the union. The trouble seems to have arisen in the following manner: There was a difference of opinion from the first between some of the members as to the advisability of the strike, and many went into it very reluctantly. The bosses offered the most part of their demand, namely, an eight-hour day and the rest of it, a raise of twenty-five cents a day in the spring. The men as a whole refused this and stood out for their entire demand. The result was that the bosses were forced to hire non-union men to do the work. After losing considerable time, Organizer Stevenson, of Toronto, came to the city, and after a consultation with some of the men who wished to return to work, he advised them to do so. This was done without the advice of the rest of the men and about seven returned to work. Some of those who tried to return were unable on account of non-union men who had their places. This started the trouble and it is possible that at the meeting to-night, those who went back will be fined. If they do not pay the fine they will probably be put out of the union. Among those who returned to work were the president and vice-president. Their offices will, in all probability, be filled by others. The rent in the union is quite serious and may result in its disbandment in the spring.

THE WORK OF A YOUTH. A Bottle With a Message Found in Harbor. "I am tired of life, so send word to Mr. W. D. University avenue, Kingston Ontario. Tell whom you wish this was found." The above was written upon a piece of wrapping paper which was found floating in a bottle at the wharf of the Kingston Shipbuilding company, on Sunday. A boy fishing at the time saw the bottle bearing the intell...

It was one of the smaller jam bottles, purchased at any grocery store. The writing appeared to be in a boyish hand. The paper was somewhat wet and it was a little difficult to read the handwriting. The Whig made enquiries from one of the relatives of the address and has an idea who wrote the note. It was the work of a youth.
