INVITATION ACCEPTED

PREMIER OF ONTARIO WILL COME TO KINGSTON

With Hon. W. J. Hanna and Hon. Allan Beck to Open Tuberculosis Hospital—Water to be Secured From Rockwood.

Dr. J. C. Connell, chairman of the Kingston tuberculosis hospital board, and Dr. A. E. Rose, M.P.P., returned Thursday night from Toronto, where they were in the interests of the hospital. The Kingston doctors had interviews with Sir James Whitney, Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, Inspectors Dr. Bruce Smith and Rogers, and Dr. J. W. McCullough, chief health officer of Ontario. They were cordially received in every case and the interest of these gentlemen in the new hospital in Kingston, for the care of those afflicted with this disease, was obvious. It will do a great deal for Eastern Ontario.

The request of the board that pipes be constructed from the Rockwood hospital, and water pumped therefrom for the use of the new hospital was granted. The bare cost of the pipes and their laying will be borne by the board. The problem of the water supply is, therefore, most satisfactorily cleared up and the pipes will be laid by the end of September. The invitation extended by the doctors to Sir James Whitney, Hon. W. J. Hanna and Hon. Adam Beck, the chairman of the Hydro-Electric commission, to come to Kingston for the formal opening of the hospital, about the third week in October, was accepted.

IN MARINE CIRCLES.

Movements of Vessels In and Out of Port.

The steamer Keyport passed up, on Thursday night. The sloop Shibley arrived light, from Enfield, and is loading coal at Crawford's wharf, for Amherst Island. The barge Sherman was towed over to Charlotte by the steamer Ruge.

The steamer Buena Vista cleared for Rideau points. The government boat Simcoe called at the government dry-dock, to-day. M. T. Co's elevator: The tug Hall cleared for Montreal, with three grain-laden barges; the steamer Acadia is on the way from Fort William, with grain, to discharge here, and is due to arrive on Monday; the tug Bronson arrived from Montreal with two light barges.

The government steamer Simcoe cleared west from the wharf of the Kingston Shipbuilding company on Friday.

The M. T. company barge Muskoka has been floated at the dock of the shipbuilding company.

Swift's wharf: Steamer Kingston, down and up; Caspian, down and up; Rideau Queen down from Ottawa; Britannia, up and down.

The M. T. Co's barge John Gaskin went into dry-dock at Davis' on Friday morning.

The Davis company is negotiating for the building of two boats, one a six-foot steam tug and the other a 130-foot passenger boat. Neither contract is closed yet, but the firm is looking forward to an order in the near future.

SHE WAS PUZZLED.

A Lady Who Visited the Fire Station This Week.

A very pompous lady, who was being shown the "points of interest" at the fire station this week, became quite puzzled when she noticed a reel of small hose on one of the wagons. She asked the young fireman, who was conducting her through the station, what that was.

"Why, fireman's hose," he replied. "He could not restrain his amazement when he heard her next remark: 'Young man, are there any men here whose legs would fit that?'"

General William Booth. Great general, alas, his march is done, But all the victories which he has won Were not on earth, his soldiers have come down into the depths of hell and found Poor conquered souls who never heard before, The voice of mercy pleading at the door.

True benefactor, thus he lives for men And honor crowns him with a diadem, That shall endure when kings have passed away In countless hearts that gloried to obey His epitaph is writ and shall inspire Posterity with the celestial fire, Affliction the great soldier never dismayed, And when love's light and friends began to fade, The light eternal still his soul illumed Till even in the shadow of the tomb, He cheered his comrades on who mourn in truth, Humanity's first friend, immortal Booth.

Injured a Hand.

D. A. Townley, Victoria street, of Townley & Horne's box factory, met with a painful accident on Thursday, when his hand was cut in the machine. He was giving the new machinery a trial run. He will be deprived of the use of the hand for a while, but will not be prevented from work.

1,000 Islands—Rochester.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Movements of the People—What They are Doing and Saying.

Mrs. Joseph Harpell, Cataract, left, Thursday, for Quebec. Dr. R. H. Gardner, Bagot street, is in Toronto attending the exhibition. Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Young, of Boston, were in the city on Friday. John O'Neil and Howard Ryan have returned after a week's fishing at Sydenham.

J. A. Barrett and family, F. Gagnon and B. A. Dore, of Ottawa, were in the city on Friday.

J. C. Mitchell went to Toronto, to-day to visit his son, Arnold, and also the assistant superintendent of the Miss Nadie Book of Whitehall, N.Y., and Miss Jessie Morris, of Montreal, are visiting Mrs. Bryant, 63, George street.

Leo Millan, Earl street, has been spending a few days in Toronto, taking in the fair. He will return home to-morrow.

"Larry" Ryan left for his home in Chicago, after spending the last two weeks with his brothers, Matthew and William, of this city.

Miss Cassie Fox, B.A., Picton, left on Thursday for Dauphin, Man., where she has a commercial teacher in the Collegiate Institute at $1,200 a year.

Mrs. Edward Shortt, 95 Queen street, and little grand-daughter, Marjory, have left for two weeks' visit to her daughter, Mrs. James Gowan, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Couper, of St. Louis, left for home on Wednesday after spending two weeks with the former's brother, ex-Mayor Daniel Couper, Princess street.

Mrs. Dr. A. Curry, Ottawa, accompanied by her brother, R. G. Whalton, Watertown, N.Y., returned home, to-day, after visiting Mrs. G. A. O'Neil, Queen street.

W. H. Stewart, wife and son, Ottawa, are visiting his parents, Postmaster and Mrs. James Stewart. Mr. Stewart is assistant superintendent of the Canadian Pacific railway at the capital.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

What Happened in Kingston and Elsewhere in 1887.

Judge Price disposed of a lengthy docket at division court to-day. Two boilers, 6 x 36, have been built in by masons in the employ of Mr. Snowden, at the Wilbur and Bedford iron mines.

Convicts Schoones and Kelly made sensational escapes from penitentiary by stealing steamyacht lug, belonging to the penitentiary, and at the rate of five knots an hour made for Oswego. Guards gave chase but the fugitives were not overtaken. At Oswego the convicts discarded the yacht and made off.

PREMIER AND MINISTERS

To Address Canadian Club in October.

Upon the visit to the city of Sir James Whitney, Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, and Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, about the third week in October, at the formal opening of the tuberculosis hospital, these gentlemen will be invited to address a gathering of the Canadian Club.

At a meeting of the executive of the club, this was decided. Addresses from these ministers should surely constitute a notable programme, a "red letter" gathering of the organization.

MUST BOIL THE WATER.

Brockville Will Act on the Report of Dr. W. T. Connell.

Recently, Brockville submitted to Dr. W. T. Connell, of this city, four samples of river water and one from a well for analysis, and his report states that all were contaminated with bacteria of intestinal origin. Acting on this report Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, chief medical health officer of Ontario, has written to Dr. Macaulay, medical health officer at Brockville, urging the consumers to boil the water for drinking and domestic purposes.

Troubles of the Barbers.

There has been a hitch in the arrangements for the Labor day celebration which will probably result in the postponement of the barbers' baseball game. They were asked to play for a box of cigars, which they did not feel was a big enough prize for their trouble. The barbers had agreed to close their shops all day and one of their number refused to stay by the agreement, so the rest of the barbers decided that they would stay open in the morning, too.

Boy Scouts Tramp Home.

The "bear" patrol of the Gananoque Boy Scouts, which was in the city on Thursday, after a tramp from that town, left for home on Friday morning, after an enjoyable outing. Though on Wednesday night they bivouacked "by the wayside," they were given shelter indoors over Thursday night. The cold would have been very trying out in the open, with but a blanket. Two of the scouts returned by train.

Labor Day Excursions.

To Rochester, by steamers North King and Caspian, going Aug. 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, and returning till Sept. 3rd. Round trip only $2.50. J. P. Hasley, agent.

Kingston Horses Won.

Of the Kingston horses which were at Cape Vincent on Thursday prizes were won by W. M. Baillie's horse, Cassette, which took first in the 2.22 class, and Syka Direct, which took second in the 2.15 class.

PUT UP NOVEL PLEA

WHEN ACCUSED OF DRUNKENNESS IN POLICE COURT.

Herbert J. Roberts said His Head Affected by Smoking and Drinking Cream Soda—Woman Tippler in Tolls.

"Herbert J. Roberts, professional sealer, Montreal, played a return engagement, at the police court, on Friday morning, but not of his own will. He came at the request of Police Constable Samuel Arnold, who entered a double charge against him, that of drunkenness and vagrancy. Roberts was before Ald. D. A. Givens, the acting magistrate, on Thursday morning, but as it was his first time before the court, and because he had told a story about having waited in celebration, including Sir John Macdonald, Ald. Givens decided to give him a chance to leave the city. Herbert, however, instead of heading for Montreal, evidently made another inspection of the cells, and at midnight, last night, Constable Arnold ran across him on the street and took him to the station.

The accused was very much surprised when charged with being a vagrant. He did not know the meaning of the word, and the court had to explain. Then, he stated he had been looking for work. One place he had visited, in search of employment, was the city hall, but there was "nothing doing" in his line of business. His particular line of business is evidently unloading "schoolers," and the city hall is included in the deal.

Roberts put up a rather novel defence to the charge of being drunk, when he told the court that he smoked a great deal, and that it went to his head.

"Smoking affects my head," he explained, "and, no doubt, the police constable thought that I was under the influence of liquor."

Following up his argument, Roberts pulled a small bottle out of his hip pocket, which was labelled "cream soda," and, holding it up, so that the acting magistrate could see it, pointed out that the cream soda was all that he had to drink Thursday night, and this he had secured after eleven o'clock.

Constable Arnold told the court about finding Roberts, and said he was under the influence of liquor. The constable also had the names of a couple of citizens who had been "held up" by the accused for money.

In view of this evidence, the court imposed a fine of $2 and costs, or twenty days.

The second case on the docket was a most unfortunate one, when a woman, well up in years, with a family of eight children, stood accused of being under the influence of liquor. As it was the first time she had ever been in trouble, she was given a chance. She declared that she would never touch liquor again.

"The Bachelor's Baby." One of last year's most pronounced successes from the Criterion theatre, New York, "The Bachelor's Baby," is to be the attraction at the Grand on Sept. 2nd, when Etienne Girardot, assisted by seventeen associates, will tender this delightful offering of Francis Wilson's. The piece is a wholesome comedy, full of sound sentiment, and tells the story of a little child, who is thrust into the household of a bachelor, who abhors children. The little girl is not sensitive to snubs, so after three acts of complication she finds her pertinacity in friendliness rewarded by a full requital of her affections and a gracious entreatment as head of the bachelor's home, with the additional reward that the child-hating bachelor becomes a benedict and that love has found the way. At the Grand on Labor Day, matinee and night.

LITTLE DOG A PRISONER.

Police Would Like to Find Owner For Stray-away.

A little stray-away dog, a fine fox terrier, was a prisoner in the police cells on Thursday night. It was picked up on the street as a vagrant canine, and was the only occupant of the cells during the night who did not have to face the magistrate. The police are very anxious to secure the owner of the little fellow, as, no doubt, it is somebody's pet.

The little dog is not mind his confinement in the cells at all, and made great friends with Constables Filson and Armstrong, who are great dog fanciers.

RUN OVER BY HAYRACK.

Young Son of Henry Webber, Princess Street, on Friday.

A hay rack, being driven down Princess street, about noon, on Friday ran down the young four-year-old son of Henry Webber, 813 Princess street. The little fellow, it was feared, has had one of his legs broken. Dr. A. Morrison was called, and young Webber was taken to the Hotel Deu, where his injuries were dressed.

It appears that the little boy had run out of his home, on to the street, was knocked down and the wagon was driven on without stopping.

NURSES WERE FRIGHTENED

By Some Men at Their Bedroom Windows.

Some of the general hospital nurses at the residence received a scare on Friday morning when some men made their appearance at their windows. The scare came about two o'clock in the morning and the nurses were so alarmed that the house surgeons were called and general excitement reigned for a while. This is not the first time that this sort of thing has happened and the offenders are threatened with severity if caught.

COAL WAGGONS ON JOB.

Many Citizens Have Commenced to Get in Supply.

The cool weather has brought forth many rush orders for coal," remarked a coal dealer to a Whig representative, on Friday morning.

A large number of citizens have had their winter's supply of coal delivered, and a great number are now making preparations to have their supply put away. Coal cars have commenced to show, showing a sure sign of the approaching winter.
