A STEAMBERG MISSING

MONTREAL PEOPLE ARE SEEKING THE ADMIRAL.

Which Has Disappeared From View—It Ran This Season From Lake Ontario Coal Ports to Montreal.

Where is the steamberg Admiral? This was the question asked in Montreal on Monday morning. The steamer last seen on Tuesday, disappeared on Lake Ontario this season, and from what can be learned, nothing is known of her whereabouts. Where the captain and her crew is remains a mystery. The Admiral was formerly a United States vessel, but was transferred into Canadian registry this spring. She was built in Cleveland in 1866, and rebuilt in Detroit in 1882. From this it would appear that the vessel was attaining a "ripe old age."

M. J. Morris, of Montreal, purchased the Admiral this spring. One local mariner told the Whig on Tuesday morning that he had heard there was a steamer by that name in the coal trade between Montreal and the coal discharging ports at the end of Lake Ontario. The vessel is 198 feet long, 27 foot beam and 10 feet, 6 inches in depth.

The question has been asked, "What Canadian steamerboat officials inspected the vessel since her transfer?" The Whig called up one of the local inspectors. He said that he never saw her, let alone performed his part of the inspection.

Whether the Montreal owner purchased the vessel and put her in the trade, disregarding inspection, is being asked. At any rate she has disappeared with her crew.

Scharwenka's Marvellous Versatility.

To the army of piano students and piano teachers in America the re-visit of Xaver Scharwenka is doubly welcome. Above all else, this famous composer pianist is ever able to help the perplexed to grasp the meaning of the much abused word, "interpretation." He himself is rated with the few great versatile pianoforte virtuosos; of him it has been said, "He can roar with the lions and coo with the doves." When Scharwenka plays Beethoven, one gets the genuine Teutonic atmosphere with its depth and reticence; when he plays Chopin, he is himself, a true son of Poland, the land of romance and beautiful women; when Scharwenka performs a Saint-Saens concerto, all the elegance and grace of the Gallic hesitations are revealed. No one hesitates to accept the Scharwenka readings as anything but authentic. Scharwenka will tour Canada in October, and may visit Kingston.

Makes Denial.
Mrs. C. E. Fralick, owner of the residence at the driving park, denies that a dray was required to remove liquor from her premises. All that was secured was one case of ale kept for private use. No liquor of any other kind was found on the place.

Mission Workers.
There was a meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, on Monday, but the session was strictly a business nature. An interesting report of the recent annual meeting was read by Miss Sarah Gibson.

TO HOLD RIFLE SHOOT

At the Barrfield Ranges on September 26th.

The Kingston rifle association held a meeting on Monday evening. It was decided to hold a big shoot on Saturday, September 28th, commencing at 8.30 a.m., and continuing all day. In the morning the matches will be held for the members of the association. In the afternoon the matches will be open for teams of five men from the following corps: civilians, cadets of R.M.C., staff of R.M.C., headquarters staff, students of Queen's university, or any military corps in the district. Cash prizes will be given in all cases except the grand aggregation for which a trophy will be given.

SEEKING KINGSTON GIRL

Who Entered the United States at Charlottetown.

Last week a Kingston girl with a relative, crossed to Cape Vincent, but both were refused admittance to United States soil by the immigration inspector at that port. A couple of days afterwards, the girl crossed the lake on a steamer out of Kingston and landed at Charlottetown, N.Y., where she was permitted to land unmolested. The Yankee immigration authorities afterwards "got wise" and are now looking for her, as they claim to have reasons why she should not be permitted to abide in the land of Uncle Sam. If found, she will be arrested and deported.

DISOBEYED A SUMMONS

And Had to Pay a Fine in the Police Court.

It does not pay to disobey a police court summons. A youth four days to be in the case in police court Tuesday morning, when he came before the magistrate. Some time ago, he was charged, with some other young fellows, with being disorderly on the street. He was served with a summons, but failed to appear. Yesterday, he was gathered in, and the magistrate imposed a penalty of $10 and costs. The youth will, in the future, know that it will be better to answer to a summons, when it is served.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

What Happened in Kingston and Elsewhere in 1887.

The steamberg Waterbury was sunk near Brass Point, Rideau River. A steam pump has been at work, and it is expected she will be raised shortly.

Rev. Prof. Ferguson returned home from Lansdowne, where he occupied the pulpit for Rev. E. B. Millard, during the latter's absence in England.

Grain freight rates from Duluth to Kingston are active at 6 1/2¢ per bushel.

Hunters Shooting Ducks.

The season for duck-shooting commenced on Monday and many of the local men of the gun, who have postponed their vacation until the duck season, have now taken their holidays and are out in the hunting grounds. The Rideau lakes and various resorts at Wolfe Island, are alive with hunters since midnight Sunday night. There was considerable argument among sportsmen as to the date of the season's opening and the law was disputed by some who thought they could shoot from Sept. 1st, but for the most part they were in the majority.

Inquest Was Adjourned.

At Brockville, Dr. Jackson opened an inquest on the body of Robert Gates, the deckhand on the steamer Alexandria, who was fatally injured at Iroquois, by having his leg crushed between a rope and a snubbing post, and then adjourned until Tuesday night, to hear the evidence of the crew of the steamer Alexandria. The remains were taken to Rideau, and from there removed to the family plot in Pittsburgh township. Last season Gates sailed on the steamer Simbad.

The Late John S. Walker.

The funeral of the late John S. Walker took place from his late residence, on Tuesday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, to Cataract cemetery. The service was conducted at the house by Rev. G. I. Campbell, of Queen street Methodist church, assisted by Rev. J. W. McIntosh, of Cooke's church. The pall-bearers were J. V. Burton, A. Strachan, J. Johnson, W. Chapman, Dr. R. E. Sparks and P. Lowry.

Wolfe Island Fair.

Don't forget the Wolfe Island Fair, Tuesday 17th and Wednesday 18th Sept. Trials of speed and ball games both days. Boat leaves foot of Clarence St. 8.30 and 11.30 a.m. and 2.00 p.m., both days of fair. The Annual Fair dance will be held in the C.M.B.A. Hall, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 18th. Boat leaves foot Clarence St. at 8 p.m., returning at 3 o'clock Thursday morning.

G.T.R. New Freight Building.

The work on the G.T.R. freight sheds is progressing. The cellar at the bay market end of the building is walled in and the foundations laid for the entire length of the building. The building is to be nearly the length of the block and will be built high and dry on piles. It will be well adapted to storage purposes.

A PORTSMOUTH BRIDE

THE HURLEY-KENNEDY WEDDINGS WEDNESDAY MORNING

In the Church of the Good Thief—The Newly-Married Couple Will Reside in Trenton.

The Church of the Good Thief was gayly decorated, on Tuesday morning, for the nuptials of Miss Jennie Elizabeth Kennedy, daughter of Patrick Kennedy, Portmouth, and Jeremiah Michael Hurley, of Trenton. Rev. Father Macdonald officiated. The bride and groom were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Mary Kennedy, and her brother, Dr. P. J. Kennedy, of Lenox Island hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y. Solos were sung at the ceremony by the bride's cousin, Miss Rose Burke, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. F. Gravette. The bride was given away by her father.

The wedding was favored with a bright, cloudless day, and the bridal party made a very pretty procession as they left the altar. The bride was prettily dressed in embroidered Brussels net over silk. She wore a Juliet cap and Brussels net veil, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was of pale blue satin with an overskirt of Irish lace. She carried a large picture hat. The bridesmaid carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of gold earrings set with amethysts and pearls; and to the bridesmaid a lock of gold chain set with ruby and pearls. The groom gave the best man an amethyst tie pin set with pearls. Miss Rose Burke, the bride's cousin, received from the groom a gold bar pin set with pearls, and the groom a gold sunburst set with pearls.

After the ceremony, the party set down to a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. Hurley left on the Cape Vincent steamer for a trip to Watertown, Syracuse and Rochester, N.Y. On their return they will reside in Trenton. The bride's going-away dress was a suit of brown tweed with waist of tan silk over chiffon. Her hat was of tan velvet.

Tipped From Cannon.
A camper from Dead Man's bay tells of a very exciting experience that two local men had on Monday night, when they were tipped out of a small boat near Cedar Island. The men had been down to this point fishing and were going to leave for home when the accident occurred. A motor boat happened to be in that vicinity, and one of the men had stood up in the small boat and was preparing to throw the rope to the man in the larger boat when a large wave came and the two occupants of the small boat fell into the river. They were able to get out safely.
