Initial Outlay. London, Sept. 17.-The Wellington correspondent of the Times says the del nce estimates amounting to £456, 000, have been passed. In reply to complaints of extravagance, Mr. Allen, minister of defence, said that Lord Kitchener's estimate was exceeded owing to initial non-recurrent expenses for equipment. He was satisfied that when fully working the £400,000 limit wended be observed. Mr. Myers, miniset, concurred and declared that compulsory training had passed the experimental stage and this was largely due to the experience, tact, and whole-heartedness of General Godley.
