ULSTER WILL NOT FIGHT SAYS FATHER BURKE

Rioting at Belfast Has no Significance.

ABSOLUTELY ABSURD

THAT ULSTER WILL WAR OVER HOME RULE

Declares the Roman Catholic Editor of Toronto—He Thinks the British Liberal Party Will Not Last to Give Home Rule to Ireland.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—Rev. Father Burke, of the Catholic Register, who has just returned from a trip to the Old Country, does not believe that the clash between the Catholics and the Orangemen in Belfast, yesterday, has any really serious significance.

"The suggestion that Ulster is ready to go to war over the question of home rule is absolutely absurd, in my opinion," he says. "After all there have been riots in Ulster long before home rule was ever thought of and I have no doubt there will be riots there after they have home rule."

"As to Monday's conflict there can be little doubt that it was engineered for political purposes, although, as a Tory myself, I am at a loss to understand why the Tories should imagine such extreme measures to be necessary. From all the indications it is evident that the Liberal government will not last to give home rule and, furthermore, the Tory government, when they get into power, will themselves bring in home rule, not only for Ireland but for Scotland as well. You will see that that will be one of the first measures the next government will pass."

"It has been suggested that the Tories following Saturday's football game tend to show that the Irish people are lacking in sporting spirit. This is not true. I was at a hunting game in Waterford recently, a game which is even more strenuous and scientific than our own game of croquet, and I can assure you that anyone among the players or spectators who showed the least inclination to be quarrelsome would be put off the field right away. As a matter of fact, Ireland, with the exception of Ulster, is one of the most peaceable countries in the world, and I speak with some knowledge, having travelled extensively in many countries of Europe."

"There was talk of trouble in Ulster when I was in Ireland, but no one took the matter seriously. The people in the south expressed the hope that Ulster would fight so that they might have an opportunity of being shot, but no one believed they would. It is the saddest thing in the world to stir up conflict in any creed by organized efforts, and that is no doubt what occurred in the present case."

SEES NO CURE FOR CANCER.

German Professor Says Remedies Only Good for Mice so Far.

Munster, Prussia, Sept. 18.—Prof. Vincent Czerny, surgeon and bacteriologist at Heidelberg University, and a world-famous investigator of cancer, has sent a communication to the German medical congress dealing with the latest reported cancer cure.

A specific remedy for cancer has not yet been found, he says, and possibly never will be discovered. The widely heralded chemotherapeutic treatment of metastatic cells, the professor continues, only rarely have cured mice, and they are too dangerous as yet to apply to human beings.

Prof. Czerny, in conclusion, deprecates the negligence of the various governments in financing investigations into disease.

WOMAN MAY BE HANGED

Mother Who Poisoned Children May be Refused Clemency.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Among the capital cases awaiting consideration of the cabinet is that of Mrs. McGee, of Prince Edward Island, sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 10th, for the poisoning of her five children, to whom she gave sulphur and phosphorus from match heads. The woman has been judged sane.

Generally clemency is extended to female murderers, but in view of the peculiar severity of the case, the law may be allowed to take its course.

FINED FOR CUTTING TIMBER

On the Forest Reserve Near Clarendon Station.

Constable F. D. Kellar, of Plover, came to the city on Tuesday afternoon, with Edwin Vanalytze, fined two dollars and costs or ten days in jail, for cutting timber on the forest reserve near Clarendon Station. The poacher chose the latter. A summons was issued at the same time for one, Joseph Bedard, who was charged with the same offence. Bedard, however has cleared out, and is nowhere to be found.

WOMEN OUTLIVE MEN.

What French Insurance Statistics Show About Sexes.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The greater longevity of women than of men is shown by recent French insurance statistics, the advantage on the feminine side being almost one-third.

Thus the average age of death of females is seventy-two, while for men it is barely fifty. Another company has several centenarians, all women, on its books. These annuitants have already received their money back five or six times over. The company is thinking of revising its tariff, making the scale for women much higher.

A distinguished doctor, when asked to account for women's longer lives, said:

"Men live much harder, and smoke and drink too much, even though they rarely work too much. Women are wiser and think of the future, rarely smoke and drink one-fourth as much, while their preoccupations and moral sufferings are much less intense."

"At forty a woman is in the plenitude of her physical powers, while a man at the same age has probably contracted organic weakness which will shorten life."

THE NEED IS SHOWN OF REDISTRIBUTION

The Cities Will Be Given Better Representation—What Last Vote Showed.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The need of redistribution is emphasized in a blue book just issued by the clerk of the crown in chancery, giving the detailed results of the general election a year ago. The vote in each poll is given. It was shown by the census that there has been a strong movement from the rural districts to the cities. The result is that some of the urban constituencies which have a population of 100,000 have but one member, while rural counties with 10,000 population have an equal representation. It has always been customary to concede a smaller unit to the country districts than to the cities, but in any event, the representation of the latter is bound to be increased. Mallesherive, with 170,978 is the largest and Soulanges, the smallest of the constituencies. Montreal and Toronto both will have more members. The same will apply to Winnipeg and Vancouver.

WOMAN TALKS 36 HOURS.

Battles Efforts of Doctors to Stop Her Chattering.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—Physicians at the Pennsylvania hospital, after laboring with Mrs. Alice Holland for more than thirty-six hours in an effort to stop her talking, gave up their task as hopeless, and ordered her removal to the Blockley asylum for the insane.

Nothing that they could do would stop her chattering, and she had grown so hoarse that she was fast exhausting herself. The physicians said that they had never seen her equal and that the marvel of it all was how she could retain use of her larynx and still be able to articulate, for there had not been periods of ten minutes every hour of the last thirty-six that she had not talked and given vent to articulations that were still distinguishable.

Her condition was diagnosed as acute insanity, and it was declared that the centre of speech in the brain had become affected as the result of a former injury.

Rusty Nail Proved Fatal.

Windsor, Sept. 18.—Some days ago Harvey Norton, whose home is at Tecumseh, stepped on a rusty nail, and his right foot became affected. He was brought to the Hotel Dieu last Friday, but too late to save his life. Gangrene set in, and he died yesterday.

PRINCES HAD SPORT AT BALMORAL CASTLE

Placarded Place With Suffragette Posters—Sought to Apologize to Churchill.

By Special Cable.

London, Eng., Sept. 18.—That Prince Albert and Henry, of royal blood, sons of King George, were responsible for the latest suffragette "outrage," leaked out to-day. It was just after the red flags of the golf links of Balmoral castle had been changed for "Votes for Women" streamers, that the royal stripplines conceived the idea of having some fun out of the thing themselves. The household awoke one morning to find all the automobiles in the royal garage, and many rooms of the palace, placarded with suffragette posters. Worst of all, the guest rooms of Hon. Winston Churchill, who was minister-in-waiting, and visiting Balmoral at the time, were specially placarded with these rather startling decorations. Queen Mary, escorted by servants, and it took two weeks of vigorous sleuth work to discover that the young princes were the real offenders. They were sent to London to apologize to Mr. Churchill.

JILTED, HE SUICIDES.

Finches Returned Engagement Ring—Drowned Himself.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 18.—H. Cochran, twenty-four years of age, whose home was at Nation Mills, near Ottawa, committed suicide because his fiancée returned the engagement ring. His body was found in the harbor.

"I could give you the name," said the coroner.

SCANDINAVIAN OIL TROUBLE.

Bitter War for Control of the Northern Market.

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—The war for the control of the oil market in the Scandinavian countries has resulted in practically a complete victory for the Standard Oil company. The only concession obtained by the Scandinavian association from the big American company was that the price of oil in Scandinavian territory should not exceed the price asked in any other European country.

The Standard Oil company obtained an entrance into the country by an agreement with existing interests to take over the distribution system for Scandinavia.

There was much opposition to the scheme by the Small Dealers' Association, which passed a resolution in favor of government intervention to prevent the establishment of a Standard Oil company in the Swedish market.

The Austrian minister made every effort to secure the admission to Sweden of Austrian oils, which has been kept out by the Swedish oil regulations, as it does not meet the requirements for sale transport, being too light.

SHOT BY TROLLEY BANDIT.

Tragic Result of a Lone Highwayman's Hold-up.

San Mateo, Cal., Sept. 18.—Charles N. Kirkbride, an attorney of this city and a lieutenant in the 11th company, Coast Artillery Reserve, known as the "Millionaire Company," was shot and probably fatally wounded early yesterday, by a young highwayman, who robbed two cars of the electric line between this place and San Francisco.

Kirkbride grappled with the robber and received a bullet in the body. The bandit escaped.

There was one woman aboard the first car and the robber forced her to collect the passengers' valuables while he covered them with a revolver.

A car from San Francisco appeared and came to a stop beside the first one. The robber scrambled aboard and repeated his performance. He had about completed his task when Kirkbride, a passenger on the second car, leaped at him. The bandit shot Kirkbride, jumped to the ground and disappeared. There were about forty-five persons aboard the two cars.

RANCHER CROWDED OUT BY THE HOMESTEADER

A Government Commission Will Investigate Decline in the Cattle Raising Industry.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The live stock and ranching industry of Western Canada is to be inquired into by a committee about to be appointed by Hon. Robert Borden. It will be composed of E. E. Taylor, chief ranch inspector, Calgary; George H. Pope, Winnipeg, and Clarence F. Graham, Winnipeg.

The question as to what lands can be set aside for grazing, conditions of leases, etc., will be investigated.

In the past there has been considerable dissatisfaction over the leases and friction between the cattle men and homesteaders. To this is largely attributed the decline in the cattle-raising industry of the west.

The short-term leases have particularly been objected to, ranchers being constantly crowded out by homesteaders.

As a result of the work of the commission, certain areas will probably be set aside, and when they are leased it will be for a reasonable length of period.

THERE'S NO GERMAN PERIL

For the Borden Cabinet is Not Meeting.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The "German peril" so far as the Borden ministry is concerned, seems to be imminent only when speeches are to be made and a safety vent found for Tory imperialism. Since the cabinet assembled after Premier Borden's ministerial London, absolutely nothing has been done towards formulating a naval policy or towards giving "immediate and effective aid" to the motherland. The "emergency" has not yet been before council for the "further consideration" deemed necessary, and it therefore is apparently no prospect of the question being taken up for some weeks yet. The cabinet has not met for several days, and in the few meetings held since Premier Borden's return only routine matters have been considered.

PRINCE ARTHUR LAID KING GEORGE'S WREATH

On the Coffin of General Nogi Who Suicided at Tokio, Japan.

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 18.—With most impressive ceremonies the remains of General Count Nogi and his wife, who suicided as a tribute to the memory of the dead emperor, were interred in the Gaiyama cemetery to-day. Prince Arthur of Connaught, King George's special representative, personally laid a floral wreath on the coffin. The attitude of the masses on the route of the cortege indicated that Nogi has taken the place of a demigod in the hearts of the majority of the people.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 18.—Gifts to Yale were made known at the meeting of the corporation, the largest being $10,000 from the Misses Kingsbury, of Waterbury, in memory of Frederick John Kingsbury, for many years a member of the corporation. LAURIER IS ACCLAIMED BY NORTHERN ONTARIO

Five Thousand Cheered Him at Sturgeon Falls.

SIR WILFRID PLEADS FOR CONCILIATION AND UNITY IN DOMINION.

Question of Wider Markets Must be Settled in Interests of Canadian People—Cobalt Refers for Laurier on Wednesday.

Sturgeon Falls, Sept. 18.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday made his first visit to this province since the defeat of last September, and his reception was that of a conquering hero. Stripped of the badges and trappings of office, removed from the prestige of the premiership, the people of Sturgeon Falls and the whole district of Nipissing, over five thousand in number, testified to their esteem of and affection for a Canadian.

English and French fellow-citizens uniting in doing him honor, it was a memorable occasion, and the veteran statesman was moved to unusual emotion. Leaving forward from the garlanded platform, gazing into thousands of straining eyes, Sir Wilfrid tearfully acknowledged the remarkable greeting from the province which a few months ago voted him out of power.

"May God bless you" fervently exclaimed a pioneer at the front of the throng.

Sir Wilfrid raised his hat amid impressive silence. "He has blessed me," he responded, quietly. "For more than seventy years, and I ask Him to bless me again. It may be that I may again be called to the high office in which I was privileged to serve for fifteen years. But whether in or out of office my heart and life are at the disposal of my Canadian fellow-countrymen."

For a thrilling moment the great gathering rose and stood silent when it gave vent to its emotion in several moments of enthusiastic and unstrained cheering.

Despite the fact that a misty rain fell throughout the whole morning and earlier part of the afternoon, it was necessary to hold the meeting out of doors. Arrangements had been made to use the large skating rink, with a neighboring hall for the overflow, but it was found impossible to house the large throng in both places.

Z. Mageau, M.P.P., told how families had driven over forty miles for the opportunity to see and hear the Chief. They started Monday afternoon and took the journey overnight. The disappointment was so great that it was decided to brave the elements and hold the vast meeting out of doors. Men, women and children were gathered under a great sea of umbrellas. And as Sir Wilfrid spoke the clouds broke for the first time and the gathering cheered as the skies cleared.

One of his thrilling statements was this: "Let my word be heard throughout the whole of Canada. Reciprocity is killed, they tell us. Perhaps, but the question is not solved. It will not do. It is indispensable to our young and growing country; it is indispensable to the great young west, that markets should be provided for its production if Canada is to attain the place she is, I trust, destined to fill." He declared that the question of wider markets had to be settled in the interests of the people. In closing he made a strong plea for conciliation and unity.

Cobalt is En Fete.

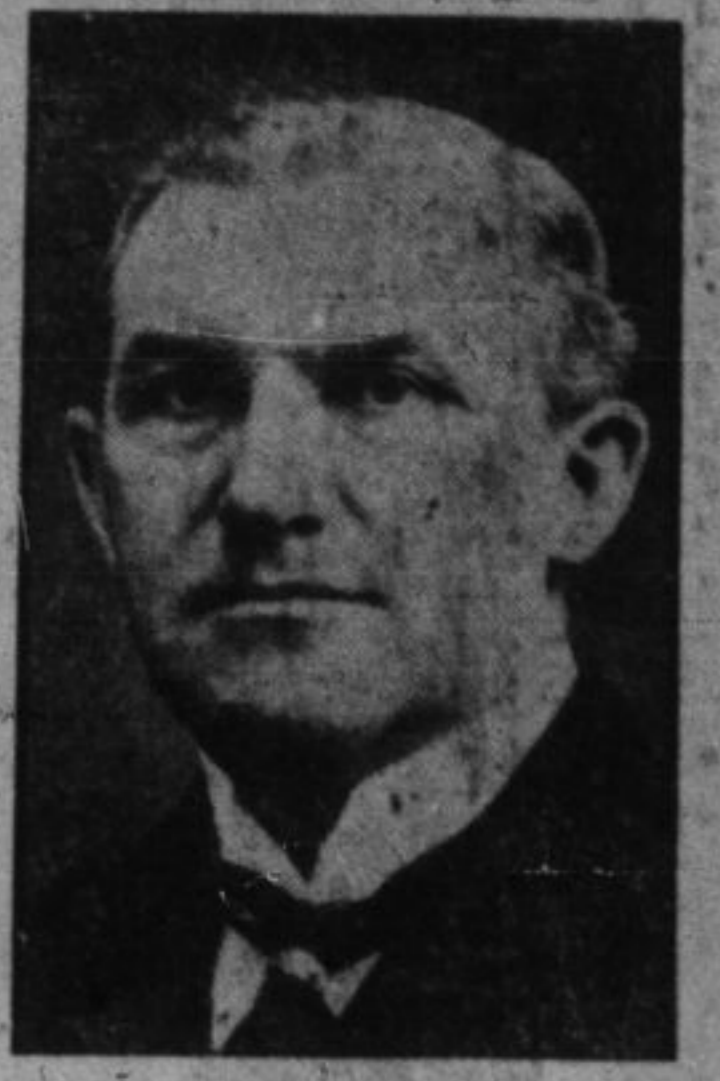

Cobalt, Sept. 18.—Cobalt is en fete to-day. The stores closed from ten o'clock until noon and the mines allowed all their men that could possibly be spared to come to town. Sir Wilfrid arrived at 10:30 a.m. and was greeted by a salute of dynamite blasts from the Nipissing mine on the opposite shore of Cobalt Lake. As the train slowed up, a delegation of citizens boarded the car and welcomed the Liberal chief and his lieutenant, Hon. Lemieux, Hon. G. H. Graham, Murphy and Mackenzie King. Judge Mason, President of the Cobalt Liberal association, and Hon. Clem. Foster, the secretary, had already met the train at Gilles depot and outlined the programme of the day.

Every point of vantage on the picturesque Cobalt hillside, which fronts on the lake and tracks was crowded with people. Under the auspices of the committee, Sir Wilfrid spent the rest of the morning driving around Cobalt and its historic environs, filled with reminiscences of the silver rush of 1894-5. He opened the new Y.M.C.A. building at noon and spoke this afternoon to a great crowd of people.

Grocer Meets Tragic Death.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 18.—Joseph Toyo, a prominent grocer, died last night, at the city hospital, of injuries received, when an automobile driven by Moses Boyer struck one of the arches of the highway bridge over the Rutland railroad on the boulevard near the St. Lawrence state hospital. The car is lurching over the edge of the bridge. Boyer escaped injury, but Mr. Toyo and a man from Montreal were hurled to the tracks. The latter will probably die.

Hotel Glenwood, at Lake Simcoe, Ont., was burned Tuesday. No one was injured.

Sturgeon Falls, Sept. 18.—Hon. Charles Murphy, in the course of his address to the great liberal gathering here, yesterday, made a trenchant criticism of the Borden government's administration of the Transcontinental railway. He charged that the road is being degraded, its grades increased, and that the country will greatly suffer in consequence.

Orangemen in Belfast Met—Army Officers and Men Will Join Them.

Enniskillen, Ireland, Sept. 18.—Fifteen thousand militant Orangemen met here to-day, according to programme, and opened a series of meetings, passing a resolution to resist home rule to the death.

Police and government detectives by hundreds were present and made copious notes and memoranda, but made no attempt to arrest anyone.

It is rumored that a large number of army officers and men are prepared to desert the colors and fight against home rule, if necessary.
