MODIFIED REFERENDUM ON HOME RULE QUESTION

May Be Submitted By The Government.

THE NOIES OF ULSTER

PRODUCES A REAL IMPRESSION IN ENGLAND.

Bitter Racial Feeling Fanned to a White Heat—Efforts Being Made to Bring the Laborites and the Liberals Together.

London, Eng., Sept. 23.—Political London is full of rumors concerning the government's action over home rule. Ulster's ten days' demonstrations are producing a real impression here, despite "General" Carson's gasconading and the inadequate nature of Ulster's solemn covenant.

Many politicians, including Mr. O'Brien, in Winston Churchill's remarkable local parliament speech, last week, the evidence that the government will yield to Protestant Ulster's protest and allow it to write itself out of a home rule Ireland.

Others declare that the government will submit the question to a modified referendum and abide by the result. Even Bonar Law has admitted that in such a case he would tell Ulster, "You have got to submit."

Few believe that the government will introduce coercive measures to check the active sedition now progressing in the north of Ireland. Carson's campaign is admittedly dangerous. Bitter racial and religious hatreds are being fanned to a white heat. The Ulster clubs, which are drilling day and night, number about one hundred thousand men, including many old soldiers and an appreciable stiffening of old army officers.

It is officially admitted that these clubs have imported arms on a considerable scale during the past year.

They have behind them the most unassisted Lord Dunraven says, are dominated by the unworthy spirit of ascendancy, which no concession can baffle men in the empire—men who are grimly earnest, savagely intolerant, and wholly dangerous.

These extremists are unsupported by the majority of English unionists.

Men like Balfour and Wyndham have kept studiously apart from them.

Their aspiration, however, has struck home. Every correspondent in Ulster, during the present demonstration, agrees in describing these men as grimly earnest, savagely intolerant, and wholly dangerous.

The politicians are already returning to town after the summer's rest and there are many signs of renewed activity. The main interest in the forthcoming meetings of parliament lies in the possibility of trouble between the labor representatives and the government. The parliamentary labor party is showing many signs of becoming imbued with an anti-liberal attitude which admittedly exists widely among the labor groups throughout the country. The unionists are confidently declaring that, thanks to the defection among the laborites, they will be able to defeat the government before Christmas. This, however, is improbable, but the best friends of the government admit that the present position of the three concerned contests at bye-elections cannot continue long without causing a corresponding loss of cleavage between the parties in parliament.

Steps are now being taken to secure a renewal of the good relations between the government and the labor party leaders in parliament. It is hoped that the new agreement may be arrived at.

May has given notice that at the next meeting of the city council will move that the council go on record as favoring the adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall into the civic system, and recommending the legislature to legalize these innovations in Alberta.

Cigarettes and cigars are not quite strong enough for the women of Kansas City, and they are now chewing tobacco, according to the exclusive dealers in the boulevard district.

BOMB KILLED FIFTY LEAVING A MOSQUE

Outrage in the Village of Adrianope —Alleged Conspirators Arrested.

New York, Sept. 23.—A special cable from Adrianope says:

Fifty persons were killed during an anti-Turkish demonstration in Akchitanelebi, in the vilayet of Adrianope, when some one threw a bomb into the crowd of Turks who were just emerging from a mosque.

Frags of the bursting bomb tore the bodies of some of the victims to pieces.

The government immediately started an investigation, and gendarmes searched the houses of a number of the alleged conspirators, arresting several men at once.

The outrage is one of a series of similar demonstrations against the Turks in the Balkan states in the past year, which have claimed nearly 1,000 lives.

PERSONS AFTER MONTHS FOUND SKELETON IN CHAIR

The Tragedy Associated With a Wealthy Recluse in a French Town.

Paris, Sept. 23.—An extraordinary discovery has been made at Le Terroux, near Paris, where the body of a wealthy man, who committed suicide eighteen months ago has been found in the house in which he resided alone.

Four years ago the man in question, M. Diniel, disappeared. He had gone to a hospital to undergo treatment, and when he returned he raised a strong protest because some neighbors had entered his house, thinking he must be ill as they had not seen him about. They promptly vowed never to cross his threshold again.

In March of last year Diniel again vanished, but nobody paid the least attention to the fact until yesterday when the police burst into the house and found the man's skeleton in an armchair. He had committed suicide eighteen months ago, leaving a letter saying that he wished to be cremated.

RAPIDS PRINCE ASHORE

THE STEAMER HAD TROUBLE IN A FOG, SUNDAY.

Heavy Gale Which Set in Saturday Night Has Been Giving Vessels a Lively Time—Motor Boat Owned by John Stansbury Sunk Near Swift's Wharf—Notes of Marine.

The steamer Rapids Prince, of the R. & O. lines, went aground, on Sturgeon shoal, near Aultsville, during the fog, Sunday morning. The Calvin company, Garden Island, was communicating with and the steamer Cornwall went to the vessel's assistance. The Prince was on her trip from Montreal to Prescott. She was to have entered the Kingston dry dock on Wednesday.

During the storm on Sunday night a motor boat, owned by John Stansbury, sank at the northern side of Swift's wharf, where she was moored. It was a short time, and the nature of the storm may be gathered when it swamped a motor boat in such a place. The bow line held the boat out of water.

The heavy gale which set in Saturday night has been giving the vessels a lively time. Vessels out in the gale were given a great shaking up, and captains state that it was about the liveliest storm they have experienced in some time.

The schooner Horace Taber, of Gananoque, came over from Oswego, in the midst of it, and suffered the loss of her jib boom. She arrived in port and after a short delay was able to proceed on her way to Gananoque.

The barge Dunmore, loaded with corn, from Port Colborne to Richardson's elevator, where she is discharging. The Bartlett ran up against the gale and the steamer Phelps arrived at Crawford's wharf, from Charlotte, with the cargo Parson, loaded with coal.

The Earl of Liverpool has been appointed governor and commander-in-chief in Newfoundland.

Rev. Robert C. Parsons, a supernumerary Methodist minister at St. Thomas, died at the age of eighty-two.

Six thousand men are idle at mines in Bingham, Utah, following a strike.

The honey crop of Quebec has turned out to be less than half an average crop. This also seems to be the case in Ontario.

The orphan children of a Lanarkshire miner have proved to be heirs to $300,000, left by the late Benjamin Hunter, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The Watson Trading company and the Wabash iron works are new industries in Northern Ontario's commercial and manufacturing evolution.

For permitting its baseball park to become overcrowded during a series with the New York Giants, the Chicago club, of the National League, was fined $600.

Rev. Dr. F. C. Stephenson reported that the Sunday school and Young People's Society of the Methodist church had contributed over $100,000.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—The steamer Fairmount arrived from Kingston with a large cargo of grain. Her voyage had been an extremely rough one.

Coming through the locks, some difficulty was experienced in opening the gates. The Fairmount being the largest vessel, capable of coming through the canal, entirely filled the basin between No. 2 gates, and blocked the gates as they were swinging back.

After the vessel was backed a few feet, however, they opened easily. Coming through No. 2 basin the keel scraped bottom as the depth of the canal is only fourteen feet at this point. No serious damage was done.

"The people cannot be misled all the time," continued Sir Wilfrid. "A year ago, my friends of North Bay, you remember that our opponents made a promise if the Laurier government was defeated you will have the Georgian Bay canal within a year." (Laughter and cries of "Hear, hear.") The year has gone and it is my privilege to pass by this way. I say to myself, I will have the opportunity to see the work of construction going on upon the Georgian Bay canal. I ask my friends to take me to see it. They look at me surprised. I say, "Take me to it. It must be there, because it was promised within this time." They smile at me. Again I ask: "What have they done?"

"Not a thing," shouted a voice from the crowd.

"I'm afraid not," observed Sir Wilfrid. "I'm afraid we will have to wait till the return of the Laurier government to power before we can hope to get much done. They do not seem to take even their own promises seriously."

"And we won't have to wait very long," shouted a man in the gathering, amid renewed cheering.

"Till the next election," smilingly responded the Liberal chief; and again the applause broke forth.
