FESTIVAL OF HARVEST

CELEBRATED IN ST. LUKE'S CHURCH ON SUNDAY.

The Preacher at Both Services Was Rev. R. W. Spencer, M.A., of Camden East—Other Church Services.

The congregation of St. Luke's church, Williamsville, celebrated their harvest festival on Sunday in their services. The church was prettily decorated with flowers, fruits and grain, suggestive of the bounty for which the thanksgiving was being rendered. Hymns and anthems appropriate to the occasion were chosen and the music was most inspiring. The sermons at both morning and evening services were preached by Rev. R. W. Spencer, M.A., of Camden East.

In the evening Mr. Spencer preached from Ruth II, 5:—'And behold Boaz came from Bethlehem and said unto the reapers, "The Lord be with you." "These familiar and inspiring words convey a double message and should entwine themselves into the harvest festival" said the speaker. Boaz came to the harvest fields where the reapers toiled and gave them these words which convey not only a feeling of power but of faith in the divine presence. It is the God of heaven that gives the harvest. His power is manifested in the development of the fruit from the seed. The speaker drew from the example of the development of the fruit from the sown seed the moral for the Christian who through this divine power should bring forth the fruits of the spirit which are love, joy, peace, long suffering. He showed how this power had taken hold of Paul the great apostle to this end. Paul showed in his life a consciousness of the absorbing presence of this power. Mr. Spencer closed with the plea that every one might realize in his life this power working to produce the fruits of righteousness. Soon, said he, we come to the great harvest of which Jesus said, "Already the fields are white." What will be your fruits in that day?

St. Mark's, Barriefield. Sunday being the annual thanksgiving special services were held in St. Mark's church, Barriefield. The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with fruits, vegetables and a profusion of flowers. The collection for the day amounted to over $120. Rev. A. H. McGee, of Christ church cathedral, Montreal, a former pastor, preached at both services, to large congregations. In the morning he took as his text Jeremiah xliii, 28: "What is the straw to the wheat?" He dwelt on the growth of the wheat. From a tiny sprout it grows and expands till in the fulness of time it puts forth a head of grain. Under the warm rays of the harvest sun the grain takes on a robe of gold and yellow, and when it has been sufficiently nourished the reaper begins his work. When the harvest is past and the things done there is no difficulty in deciding the relative importance of the straw and the wheat. The straw has its uses but they are secondary to the uses to which the grain may be put. The straw and the wheat, being parts of a complete branch, may be taken to represent two departments of life, the straw standing for all those things in life which shall pass away, the things we see and handle that have to do with trade, commerce, politics, etc., things which are of great importance as life advances and at life's close lose their importance entirely; and the wheat to represent the permanent in life, the most important in life, that which grows in importance as life advances, and which at the close are the only things that are of importance at all and the only things that shall last—character, spiritual growth and the kingdom of heaven.

As the straw is an agent in the hands of nature, whereby she produces the wheat, so are the things which shall pass away of paramount importance to life. The art of life consists in having these things fulfill the right relationship to each other. We cannot do without either and reach the goal which God expects us to attain. The things that are temporal are to be employed, so that the things which are eternal will result. Nothing can be further apart than heaven and money, but here they meet. The commonest, most ordinary things, those perhaps which are most likely to be abused by these souls of ours, can be so used that heavenly eternal things will result. When you press the button of a good deed on earth you set a bell ringing on the register in heaven. The only real value of the fleeting lies in the production of the eternal. The things which we see and touch are necessary to our life in the flesh, but they are not the most important things in life. Their importance lies in the fact that if we use them right, as God would have us use them, they will give us the most important things of which we see only in this life the manifestations.

In closing the preacher appealed to the people to contribute freely to wards the support of the church. "It is the giving that actually builds that counts," he said. "Give until it hurts. The temporal things of this world will be producing things that are eternal. We shall show that we are using the straw to produce the wheat."

Leo Beauprey, recently hurt in Montreal by falling into the hold of the steamer Toiler, was able to be removed to the city on Sunday, arriving on the steamer Belleville. He was removed to his home on S. S. Corbett's quillanoe.

DEATHS IN THE CITY.

The Late David J. Moarskell, a Native of England. David J. Moarskell, aged fifty-five years, died of a lingering illness in the Hotel Dieu on Monday morning. The deceased had been in the hospital only one week. He was an Englishman, and had been in this country about twenty-four years. He was a bachelor and had made his home with his brother-in-law, D. Goodman, Princess street. The deceased had no immediate relatives in Canada and is survived by two brothers, John and Walter, in England. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon.

Death at Glenburnie. The death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bedwell, at Glenburnie, of their youngest daughter, Emily Constance, after a brief illness. The deceased was three years of age. The funeral took place on Monday, to Cataract cemetery.

"JACK" CAME BACK. The Four-year-old Son of Dr. W. G. Mylks Disappeared.

The disappearance on Sunday afternoon of "Jack," the young son of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Mylks, Wellington street, caused much anxiety on the part of his parents and friends. They were impeded and search in his home and neighborhood did not reveal his whereabouts. The police were notified and the doctor and friends scoured the waterfront and the lower part of the town. But between seven and eight o'clock "Jack" came back. Where had he been? Why the little lad, after being slightly restrained for being "naughty," had crawled under one of the beds in his parents' home and fallen asleep. His disappearance was announced in Sydenham-street Methodist church in the evening by the preacher, and the members of the congregation were asked if they came across a stray boy to ask him if his name was Mylks. Later an usher informed the preacher that the little fellow had been found and the people were told they need have no more anxiety.

Contract Not Yet Awarded. Though the tenders for the thirty mechanics' houses to be erected by the Kingston Realities, limited, closed on Friday evening, there will not likely be any award of the contracts until Tuesday or Wednesday.

A meeting of the syndicate will be held on Tuesday afternoon and the announcement of the contractors to erect the dwellings will be announced. The secretaryship of the syndicate will likely be transferred to J. H. Munn.

Roadwork Again Delayed. Out of a possible ten days, the city engineer's department has had less than five fit for work on the Barris street roadway. No work could be done Monday. If there came two weeks of good weather, the road to Chalmers church would be about finished.

The contracting company is all ready to begin the work of paving on Brock and Wellington streets, but it can do nothing so long as the wet weather continues.

FIRST APPLICATION DARKENS THE HAIR

A Simple Remedy Gives Color, Strength and Beauty to the Hair.

You don't have to have gray hair, or faded hair, if you don't want to. Why look old or unattractive? If your hair is gray or faded you can change it easily, quietly and effectively by using Wyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. Apply a little tonight and in the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the results from a single application. The gray hairs will be less conspicuous, and after a few more applications will be restored to natural color. Wyth's Sage and Sulphur also quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, and promotes the growth of the hair. It is a clean wholesome dressing which may be used at any time with perfect safety.

Get a 50c. bottle from your druggist to-day, and see how quickly it will restore the youthful color and beauty of your hair and forehead and the nasty dandruff, hot, itchy scalp and falling hair. All druggists sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if you are not satisfied after fair trial. Agent, G. W. Mahood.

DR. RYCKMAN SCORES People Who Prefer Social Whirl to Church Work. Rev. Dr. E. B. Ryckman, preaching in Sydenham-street Methodist church, on Sunday, speaking of the works of Satan, and what he had to offer the unsuspecting in Kingston, made a reference to one "little theatre and five-cent shows." He also brought the so-called society under the same heading. He had been told by a mother that she would rather have her daughter take a prominent place in society than be a member of the church and take an interest in its work. The cultured people, "who walked humbly before God," were not included in those he referred to as spending their time in a whirl of amusement. The venerable doctor appealed for a revival among church members and adherents.

What Happened in Kingston and Elsewhere in 1907. At Frontenac cheese board the price offered was 12c, and 11 1/2c for lots, but there were no sales. There were headed 1,420 boxes of colored, and 555 white.

The cadets and the battery men held a friendly cricket match. Judge Price heard the appeal of farmers against a drainage award of Engineer Thompson, and quashed it, with costs to the township.

Park Nine defeated Kingston by score 17 to 8. The famous Callahan Bros. formed the battery for the park nine. D. J. Millan, playing for the Park Nine, scored two runs.
