

AGREED WITH BABY

This Mother Found The Right Food For Her Baby Girl.

Mrs. Arthur Prince of Meaford, Ont., writes, on Sept. 12th, 1912: "Some time ago, you were good enough to send me a sample of Neave's Food. Baby liked it so well and it agreed with her, so I am using it right along and think it is excellent. I have a friend with a very delicate baby. She cannot nurse it and has tried six different foods, but it does not thrive at all—always sick and troubled with indigestion. It is strongly recommended your food. Will you please send her a sample?" Mrs. Prince wrote again on Sept. 27th, 1912: "My friend's baby has grown wonderfully. I can scarcely credit it. Her next baby which she expects in five months, will be fed on Neave's Food right from the start—she thinks it is so good." Mothers and prospective mothers may obtain a free tin of Neave's Food and a valuable book "Hints About Baby" by writing Edwin Utley, 14, Front Street East, Toronto, who is the Agent for Canada. (Mention this paper.) Neave's Food is sold in 1 lb. air tight tins by all Druggists in Canada.

Death of a Centenarian. Atkinson, Oct. 1.—On Sunday Sept. 22nd, Henry Johnston passed away at his home at Atkinson, aged 105; but notwithstanding his grand old age was hale and hearty until two weeks before his death, when his heart became affected. He was born in Ireland and in 1847 came with his parents, brothers and sisters to Canada, settled in Pittsburgh and lived here ever since. He was a Presbyterian and in politics a conservative. Mr. Johnston was a very hospitable man, kind and generous to all, and upright in all his dealings. His familiar form going up and down the road will be sadly missed. Rev. Mr. Reede preached the funeral sermon at his home to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, thence his remains were followed by a large cortege to Gananoque cemetery where the Orangemen performed the last rites to all that was mortal of their brother. Interment will take place in the family plot at Sand Hill. Deceased was married to Miss Mary Anne Lucy who died about 1857. He leaves five sons: Francis, William, John Henry, Robert, and Anderson, all of Pittsburg, and two daughters, Mrs. Henry McBroom, Washburn and Mrs. Wm. McFarlane, Joyceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are spending some time at Mrs. D. Cox's, prior to leaving for their home at Peterboro. J. Johnston made a business trip to Kingston last week. Mr. Knight and H. Drew are building a co-operative platform in front of the town hall. Quite a number attended the exhibition at Parham. Roman says the village is to have a doctor. Mrs. J. Buttillier, Sharbot Lake, at J. Buttillier's. Mrs. Rieley and children, of Syracuse, N.Y., at Frederick Gibb's. The box social held in the village hall under the auspices of I.O.O.F. was well attended. A number of the local Orangemen with the organizer went to Harlowe the next day.

Weakness and Failure. Human interest is almost unlimited in its power. Energy comes from rich vital blood. Weakness and failure result when blood is weak and impure. Have utmost mental and muscular energy by enriching and vitalizing your blood with Wade's Iron Tonic Pills (Laxative). They help almost at once. They are a great nerve strengthener and blood maker. In boxes, 25c. Sold at McLeod's Drug Store, 53 Beech street, one door above King street. Money back if not satisfactory.

Friend of United States. Boston Transcript. The death of Sir Richard John Cartwright deprives Canada of one of her most distinguished statesmen, a man of thorough training and long service in the higher public affairs of his country, and one whose loss the United States deeply regrets, because he was her very good friend. Even Champ Clark's flippant remark did not worry him, because his experience enabled him to easily comprehend the superficial character of the man. Twice was he acting premier, in the absence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and had he been invested with the full dignity of that high office he would not have disgraced it.

BLESSINGS NEVER COME SINGLY

Herpicide and Beautiful Hair. Having a head of nice hair is a blessing within the reach of anyone who will use Newbro's Herpicide before the dandruff germ has denuded the scalp and left a foundation of chronic baldness. Herpicide imparts that snap and lustre to the hair which is so attractive. Having a subtle fragrance, Herpicide appeals directly to persons of refinement. It has been sold for years, and is made of more scientific uses than all other hair dressings combined. Newbro's Herpicide is recommended and used by the best barbers and hair dressers. Send 10c. in postage or silver for sample and booklet to the Herpicide Co., Dept. R-7, Detroit, Mich. Newbro's Herpicide is 50c. and 81 sizes is sold by all druggists who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. James H. McLeod and J. J. East, special agents.

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A nicely-dressed woman sat beside me in the train. As we passed a lady, I could not help doing the same. It was not her beauty of features that held my eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression—I raked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazzlingly pure? Don't think me impertinent, but you seem over thirty, yet haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?" Laughing, she said: "That's easy; I use my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure metcized wax, procured at any druggist's. I apply this nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This gently soaks the skin, without putting on any, without pain or discomfort, thus revealing the fresh, clear under-skin. Every woman has a beautiful complexion underneath, you know. Then, so ward off wrinkles I use a face bath made by dissolving powdered salolite in water. It cleanses the skin, and has a harmless astringent which 'tones' the skin wonderfully. Very simple, isn't it? I thought so. I am now trying her plan and like it immensely." Brilliant Brown, in "The Story Teller."

CARTWRIGHT A PROPHET.

A Letter He Wrote to a London Paper in 1871. Toronto Star, Weekly. That Sir Richard Cartwright, who passed away at Kingston, after over half a century as one of the outstanding figures in Canadian public life, was a seer with more than ordinary vision is evidenced by a letter which he wrote to the Canadian News of London, England, in December, 1871. He looked into the future and saw the success of Canadian confederation, the South African and Australian federations, and prophesied the day would come when Britain and her daughter nations would join with the United States in a great Anglo-Saxon league against the aggressions of continental Europe. He forecasted an imperial council, at which representatives of the colonies of the empire would sit and discuss questions concerning their mutual interests. And he foresaw also the difficulty in the way of giving this council any authority. Said he in the letter: "It is more than doubtful whether such a body, even supposing it succeeded in effecting something like a bona fide union between the parties, would add one particle to the actual strength of the empire, while there is no question at all that it things remain as they are in other respects. The mere fact of its existence would hamper and embarrass English statesmen in no ordinary degree." Sir Richard, as one of the authors of the reciprocity pact, had to suffer at the hands of its opponents the charge of disloyalty, whereas there was really no more loyal Canadian than he. In this same letter, written in 1871, he wrote: "We are as a people most thoroughly desirous of continuing part and parcel of the British empire, and although most undoubtedly anxious to cultivate friendly relations with the United States as far as practicable, we neither wish to become incorporated with that republic, nor even to be made to feel that we are only maintaining a separate existence at their will and pleasure." Sir Richard was a firm believer in free trade principles, and he could never be persuaded that there was advantage to Canada in tearing down tariff walls between Canada and the United States.

Princess Henry.

Princess Henry of Battenberg is a most accomplished musician, and can read the most difficult music at sight. A famous musician was "commended" by Queen Victoria to Windsor Castle. Another princess played a piece of music and asked an opinion of her skill. "Madam," was the musician's courtierlike response, "you play like a princess." Then came the turn of Princess Henry, who also sought the musician's judgment, as promptly given it was: "Madam, you play like an artist." The Princess has composed many charming songs; and adds to her accomplishments those of painting, chess, and oils and watercolors, and elocution.

OLD LADY ALMOST CRAZY WITH ECZEMA. A Remarkable and Convincing Statement of the Success of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the Treatment of the Pain, Itching and Burning of Eczema. "I, the undersigned, do not give enough thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been suffering for at least a year for eczema on my foot. I had tried doctor after doctor to no avail. When a young girl I sprained my ankle three different times, paying little or no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle. I was worried and sent for a doctor. He said it was eczema. He drew a small circle around the ankle about the size of a match and about an inch long. The same spot grew to about the size of an apple, and the eczema spread to the knee. The doctors never could get the hole in the skin. The whole foot ran water all the time. "My husband and my sons were up night and day watching me from some room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would all for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for a draft. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy. In fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. One day a friend of mine dropped in to see me. She brought her own bottle of Cuticura Remedies. Being disgusted with the doctors and their medicine, and not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment a trial. After using these three days that night I slept so sound as I never did for eight long hours. I awoke in the morning with my feet like milk, so that I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Remedies for three months, I was perfectly restored to health, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I will be sixty-four years of age my next birthday, hale and hearty at present." (Signed) Mrs. Julia F. Jones, 2224 Belmont St., St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 7, 11. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter D. & C. Corp., 22 Campbell Ave., Boston, U. S. A., for free sample of each with 32-p. book.
