DEATH OF GENERAL BROCK. Was Commemorated in Schools of

The one hundredth aniversary of the death of General Sir Isaac Brock, was commemorated in the public schools of the city, on Friday, with patriotic songs and exercises, and the reading and writing of sketches of the great general. Each class arranged its own programme for the affair. All the senior classes in the) schools were asked to write an es say on the life of General Brock, which the funior classes were told of his life and work. At Victoria school, the teachers told the story of Brock's life and afterwards there was a discussion. At Central school a aketch was read of General Brock and stories told concerning his life, and this was followed with a programme of patriotic songs and chouses. A concert was arranged for, at Louise school, and it was carried out most successfully. From 3 till 4 o'clock was given over to General Brock and the part he played and recitations. In nearly all of the schools, a special programme was carried out to remind the pupils of General Brock. The Minister of Education asked that a portion of the day be set apart for this purpose. Gen-eral Brock died October 13th, 1812.
