The Whig's young man remarks that the ladies of Kingston will be interested to learn that old files of this paper are a great tell-tale as to ages, and that he knows after a daily perusal of them just how old some of them are.

CAUSED QUITE A SCENE.
Lady Wanted to Fight Officials at Cape Vincent.
A woman hailing from Pictou, who went over to Cape Vincent on Monday and was stopped at the border by the officials, caused quite a lively scene. It appears that she had been indulging freely, and that she was in no fit condition to go on her way. She was very warm under the collar as a result of being "turned down," and in addition to calling the officials some choice names, threatened to give each one a round with the gloves. The woman arrived back in Kingston on Tuesday.

"Buy cough syrups," Gibson's.
Miss Germaine Nantel, daughter of the minister of inland revenue, was wedded to Charles Avila Sequin, of Ottawa, on Tuesday at St. Jerome, Que. Among the wedding presents was a silver hand bag from Premier Borden.
