Montreal, Nov. 1-It is probable that the Hon. CHURCHILL ON THE WAR. Powers Honestly Striving to Secure Just Settlement.

London, November 1. - Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, speaking as Sheffield, devoted his remarks to Balkan events. He expressed the fervent hope that when the war was ended the nations would be found united in the resolve that about Balkan difficulties there should never be another war, and that the long disseeks re-election on November 19th. mal chapter of human misery unfolded in that region of the world should in one way or another be closed once for all.

There happily were sigus, he said, that all the powers were' honestly striving to adjust their differences and bring their combined influence to bear to make an end of the long fierce and disastrous struggle and to French and 8,000 English. The secure a cettlement just to the belligerents and beneficial to the populations concerned.

Powers to Remain Friendly. London, Nov. 1-The ministerial organ, the Daily News and Leader, gives prominence to an article on ininternational negotiations, in which "The most satisfactory thing in connection with the Balkan war is that all the powers remain on friendly terms. The quarrels and differences of the last few years seem to have disappeared like magic before this new portent. Great Britain and Germany are freely exchanging views, and, what is even more remarkable, the consultations of France and Germany are close and constant. The fear that the superficial class interests of Austria and Russia will lead to open differences has also been removed."

The writer of the article intimates that the question which is absorbing the powers is whether the territory which the allies conquered should be restored to Turkey. The powers would never agree to the taking of teritory from Turkey, but when the conquest is fait accompli the question has another aspect. "It is satisfactory to know that no power has yet proposed the restoration to Turkey of territory which the allies have ing contest will be in the French | conquered," says the writer, "Should such a proposal be made, Great Brit-At the present time it is doubtful ain would do her utmost to prevent who the liberal standard-bearer will the concert of nations from acquies-
