HERPICIDE

At Mrs. Blank's reception I met a gentleman who fulfilled my ideal of a man in all but one particular. He had a good head, fine physique, perfect manners, was a most interesting personality, and bore himself with the distinguished air of a gentleman. His hair was immaculate and his clothes faultless as to cut and material. But all the pleasant first impression was ruined when I discovered the collar and shoulders of his dresscoat covered with loose hair and flakes of dandruff.

To me this was an indication of personal carelessness, not to say uncleanliness. I wanted to tell him to get a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide. This remarkable remedy would, in a short time remove every trace of dandruff from his head, stop his hair from falling and prevent him from becoming bald.

Dandruff is caused by a germ and Newbro's Herpicide kills that germ. The itching, which is so frightful with dandruff, stops almost instantly.

Herpicide is the Original Remedy that destroys dandruff. There is nothing in the world just like it, nothing that is "just as good."

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications obtained at the good barber shops.

Send 10c. in postage for a sample bottle and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

THE CLEVER MEN IN OTTAWA.

The Montreal Gazette, referring to the expenditure of $4,994,416, which had to be paid on the bonds of the Grand Trunk Pacific, guaranteed by the government, says it is an "evidence of the incapacity of the Laurier government." Our contemporary qualifies this statement by adding that "clever men told it its proposals would mean" something it would not accept.

Who were the clever men? Members of the then opposition, and of the present government? That is the inference, but the "clever" men who now dominate the federal ad-

MUST KEEP THE COMPACT.

The situation in Quebec is becoming the more interesting as the quarrels between the government and the Nationalists go on. Mr. Lavergne's influence at Ottawa, and in connection with the Borden government, has been made apparent. The premier bid for nationalist support, and received it through the promises of a plebiscite on the naval question, and when the conservatives succeeded, in the election, the nationalists had to be recognized.

Mr. Monk, the leader of the conservatives in Quebec, was called into the councils of the premier. He was allowed to select his colleagues and nominated Mr. Teller and Mr. Lavergne. Mr. Lavergne declined office, not desiring that it should be said that the nationalists were unduly favoured. He nominated Mr. Pelletier, and he pledged himself later to

THE COMING PROFESSION.

The Scientific American quotes the advertisement of the City of Sumter, S.C., for a municipal manager. The council, for some reason, has dissatisfied the people. The members of the civic body feel that they have not been acquitting themselves worthily, and so they are willing that an experiment should be tried. They have assumed the responsibility of seeking an expert whose advice they may be willing to take and whose administration of public affairs they are willing to trust.

"From the brief summary of the requirements for this office, we gather," says the Scientific American, "that the applicant should be competent to oversee public work, such as paving, lighting, water supply, etc., that an engineer would be preferred; that he must state what has been his previous experience in municipal work; that he will have complete administrative control of the city, subject to the approval of a board of three elected commissioners, and that he will hold office so long as he gives satisfaction to the commissioners; that his work will be purely that of an expert; and that he will be entirely free from political control; finally, although local conditions and tradition will be taken into consideration, local citizenship will not be necessary." The announcement concludes by designating this as "a splendid chance for the right man to make a record in a new and coming profession; since this is the first time that a permanent charter position of this sort has been created in the United States." But it is not the first departure of the kind. The Whig cannot recall the place, and has not time now to search the records, but it does remember the story that appeared in one of the magazines to the effect that in a town in a southern state, a man was "called from the outside" and given power to run the municipality as he liked. He was a man of capacity, a business man, and an engineer by profession. He quickly brought order out of chaos. The council would not be disposed of under the law, but it had only a nominal existence, and formally approved of all the manager performed. And well it might, when he carried efficiency and economy into every department, and gave the town a government such as it had never before.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Roosevelt is modest in his claim with regard to the election of to-day. Apparently he does not expect success. His claim, however, that the progressive party has been put upon a lasting basis is quite correct.

On this that the opposition leader in the legislature will retire and be replaced by Mackenzie King. But that rumour will not count. Mr. Rowell will remain in public life, and it will not be long until he is the premier of this province.

Here's another school sensation. A boy in Camden, N.J., refused to salute any flag but the red flag of the socialists, and has been dismissed from school. There is a lot of sham and hypocrisy in this flag saluting, and Uncle Sam should see the wisdom of ending it.

The municipal elections in England have been disappointing. In London the people were very indifferent. "The apathy of the people," says one report, "is as great as ever." Eventually they will wake up, and when they

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

Hour of Expectancy. London Advertiser. On the eve of the presidential election the United States is experiencing that sense of crisis which intervenes when two strikes and three tal's have been called.

Double-Barrelled Affair. Toronto Telegram. Borden naval policy will sweep Hochelaga at the bye-elections if the grant of $30,000,000 to the British navy is coupled with a grant of $50,000,000 to Montreal harbor.

Wilson and Canada. Hamilton Herald. Governor Wilson's policy of a tariff for revenue only would enormously increase Canadian trade with the United States, to the advantage of both countries, without the necessity of any sacrifice on Canada's part.

Election in Manitoba. Weekly Sun. It is within the bounds of probability, however, that law-abiding citizens will organize before another election, and prepare to protect themselves against thugs of the government hired to browbeat, intimidate, and even go the length of jailing innocent men on perjured formations.

Supply of Coal. Hamilton Spectator. If everybody wants a winter's supply of coal delivered in the fall, the demand will so greatly exceed the supply that the speculators can charge what they please. If the public will just have patience for a few weeks, and buy only what they need in the interim, the men interested in cornering the market will lose their grip, and the line companies will be able to accommodate everybody at no great advance upon the price of last winter.

LATE MRS. R. W. R. McRAE

Passed Away in General Hospital on Monday Afternoon. After an illness extending over some ten years, Mrs. R. W. R. McRae died in the general hospital on Monday afternoon, where she has been confined for some months. She was born in Morven in 1851, the daughter of the late M. M. VanLoven.

The deceased has lived in this city for years, and had made many friends. She was a Presbyterian in religion, being a member of Chalmers church. Besides her husband, she leaves her mother, Mrs. M. M. VanLoven, Collins Bay; one daughter, Mrs. E. S. Farewell, Winnipeg and one son, Rose M., at home. Two sisters, Mrs. S. Youmans, Newburgh; Mrs. John Irish, Yarker, and five brothers, Hiram, in Creelman, Sask., Frank VanLoven, in Morven; Albert O. VanLoven, in Namanager; Alfred O. VanLoven, in Brockport and A. Parker VanLoven, Lipton, Sask., also survive.

A Voting Experiment in Ireland.

An unexpected turn has been given to Irish legislation by the British Government's decision to make the Irish Senate elective instead of appointive. The Irish nationalists would prefer an appointive house, but they have agreed to a conciliatory offer to the Irish minority and as a response to the group of Protestant Irish peers who have accepted the home-rule bill. Among these are the Earl of Dunraven, Lord Macdonnell, and Lord Rossmore, the latter at one time grand master of the Orange body. For this reason they desire the agitation carried on by Sir Edward Carson and Mr. Bonar Law. In the new Irish parliament, they will form an important and moderating influence.

The system of proportional representation has never been tried in British Empire. But it has been recently introduced into France, and Belgium. In the latter country, both the clericals and the socialists profess themselves satisfied with the proportional representation. In Ireland the result will be that in the second chamber the Protestant minority will be certain that its minimum of representation will be proportionate to its voting strength in the country.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

The directors met on Monday evening, and thanked the fifty young men, who, had increased the membership of the institution by 150. That body authorized the calling for tenders for renovations and improvements to the physical department, and the purchase of 100 steel lockers.
