THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

PRESENTATION OF HUMANITY MEDAL TO A. D. MATHESON.

The Faculty, preparing for the Alma Mater Election—Medical Dance Friday Night—The Dramatic Club Play.

As a result of Thursday's rush and the use made of the fire hose, the new arts building contains several souvenirs of the affray. The door of the mathematics room has its panels missing, the wooden banister of the steps leading into the building is toppling, and the ceilings are still wet, where the water oozed through from the floors above. It has not yet been announced who will have to pay for the damages, but arts men claim that science is the guilty party.

The joint meeting of the Q.U.M.A., the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., in convocation hall, at 4 p.m. yesterday, was presided over by the president of the first society, M. N. Omond. After a brief address from the president, outlining the work conducted by the Q.U.M.A., Dawson Matheson was called upon. Mr. Matheson gave an interesting account of the work done upon the mission field in North Hastings, where he spent the past summer. P. T. Pilkey then told of his experience among the lumbermen at Collins' Inlet, Ont., and Mr. Irwin of his work with the Mormons. Lastly, A. J. Wilson told of his missionary efforts among the miners and lumberjacks in British Columbia.

After these addresses, Principal Gordon called upon Dawson Matheson, and, on behalf of the Canadian branch of the Royal Humane Society, presented him with a medal, for his gallantry in rescuing a young man from drowning this past summer. The meeting was an unqualified success and gave those present some idea of the good work which is being done by the Q.U.M.A.

The arts ticket for the Alma Mater elections has been finally chosen and consists of the following strong candidates: President, A. D. Matheson, M.A.; first vice-president, S. H. McCuaig; second vice-president, H. L. Spankie; secretary, D. A. Sutherland; assistant secretary, Robert McGregor; treasurer, R. J. Mackenzie; committee, R. M. Fisher, W. C. Johnston, George Shortt, G. Caldwell.

The soccer game in the MacClement series, which took place on the lower campus, between arts '15 and science '15, the champions of their respective faculties, was won by arts '15, by a score of 1 to 0. The going was very heavy, and the arts team had the better of the play throughout.

The play which is being put on this year by the Queen's Dramatic Club, in the Opera House, Dec. 3rd, is Bernard Shaw's comedy, "You Never Can Tell." Prof. McNeil, in his address to the club this week, gave an admirable estimate of the play. He described it as the first play of Shaw's with no abominable women in it. It represented a conflict between old-fashioned sentiment and modern rationality. The character, Crompton, was the embodiment of the former, his wife of the latter. Gloria is her father's daughter, and the twins, Philip and Dolly, their mother's children. The subject of Valentine, life duellist of sex, was a very questionable triumph of the former. William, the waiter, is the chorus, or interpreter, of the whole. Bernard Shaw intends the audience to go home and think seriously over the present marriage conditions in vogue in Canada and England. The cast of the play includes the following:

Fergus Crompton—George Clarke.
Bobin Q.—R. M. Spankie.
Finch McCamus—P. Baldwin.
The waiter—Charles Girdler.
Valentine—H. L. Spackie.
Philip Clandon—G. B. McCallum.
Mrs. Clandon—Miss Coley.
Dolly Clandon—Miss Gihooly.
Gloria Clandon—Miss C. Watt.

Three minor parts have not yet been assigned. The play is in four acts and is set in London, England. Rehearsals are being held daily under the direction of Prof. Falls, and everything points to a most excellent performance.

There will be no junior year dance at Queen's this term, but instead an arts dance will take place after the new year. The annual conversations will likely take place two weeks from Friday.

A rugby game between arts '13 and arts '16, in the Mitchell series, will take place at 3 p.m. this afternoon, on the lower campus.

The nuisance caused last year at the dances, by the confusion of cabs and bad management of cabs and reception, is being got after with a big stick by the medical dance committee, which has adopted the plan used in most cities at affairs of this kind, and arranged for the calling of the cabs as they are desired by their respective parties. Roles have been published for the direction of the cabbies and guests, as follows:

Guests admitted by south door; backs approach from east and depart by west; hackmen give their numbers and come when called by police.

At the Aesculapian Society meeting on Friday the candidates to run for the offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer, critic and two committees men of the Alma Mater will be chosen on the recommendation of the election committee. The remainder of the men nominated for the different years are: Second year, Messrs. Bagyard, Carmichael and Box; first year, Messrs. Stevenson and Macdonald.

The election committee will have some trouble making their selection as all these men are suitable and would give the other candidates from arts and science a close run.

Although smoking is allowed in the medical building the privilege of smoking a big cigar, as was noticed today by the seniors, is quite likely to bring dire results to the foolish one.

The following men from Science faculty have been chosen as candidates for positions on the executive of the Alma Mater society: E. E. Watts for president; W. S. Laing for vice-president; J. H. Balfour for assistant secretary-treasurer, and N. G. Stewart and W. Calder for committees. A sign bearing the names of these nominees is hung above the entrance of Fleming hall, but a more elaborate one is being prepared and will be shown to-night to those who go to the medical dance. An electric sign will flash the names of the candidates in order. The sign, which is about fifteen feet long, contains about forty small bulbs set in the framework of the letters. It is run by a small motor and is altogether an unique product of the electrician's art.

Arts '15 defeated Science '16 yesterday afternoon in the McClement trophy series by the score of 1 to 0. The players for Arts '15 were Gilchrist, Livingstone, McCormack, McGregor, Sagar, Kines, Holmes, McIntosh, McIntyre, Glauser, Steen. The '16 team was Orr, Keeley, Campbell, Hemmerich, McIntosh, Cole, Barrett, Tatt, Free, O'Connor, Godsen, Wilson.

Referee, D. C. Foster.

Steen scored the goal on a pass from McIntosh. Piffen's forward line played good ball considering the condition of the field. Livingstone should make a good try for Queen's first team next year. Sixteen had a good back division.

No. 5 Co. R. C. E., held their first drill on construction work and signalling in the armories yesterday afternoon.

The Geological excursion on Saturday morning will be by boat up the Rideau canal to the sandstone quarries and the brickyards near Kingston Mills.

The preliminary practices for the intercollegiate assault-at-arms are being held now. The assault will be held in Kingston this year, and judging from the number and style of those at the first work-out on Wednesday, Queen's will run a good chance of again winning the championship. Most of last year's champions are back, while there is some new material in evidence. The trainer has been secured to give lessons in boxing. Some effort has been put forth to have an interfaculty assault-at-arms in December, which the winners of last year will be debared, in order to give the new men a better chance.

RAINS HINDER PLOUGHING.

Farmers Obligated to Let Their Ploughing Go.

The heavy rains are giving the country people considerable trouble this fall by flooding the land and rendering it impossible to do fall ploughing. The country in many places is turned into a regular bog, and this condition is so incessant that there has been little done except in high and dry sections. The time has now passed for most of the ploughing and this work will have to go until spring. This may have a bad effect on next year's crop, for not only is it better to have the land turned over before the frost comes, but the ploughing of land in the spring after heavy rains in the fall is hard work, as the ground sets together. The farmers all agree that so much rain is something that they have never seen before. It is too much of a good thing.

A KINGSTON CLERGYMAN

Refuses to Marry a Canadian to an American.

In connection with the discussion of the much-talked-about marriage of a local Celestial to a white girl, one local divine has voiced some very closely-drawn views on intermarriage of races. The minister in one of Kingston's largest churches has said that the Chinaman should not be allowed to marry the white girl because of his race. He would not marry a British subject to an American. He does not believe in intermarriage, and has refused to perform them.

This clause in a creed would make a big difference to peoples along the border line of the United States, if it were put into effect, for it is safe to say that a fairly large portion of the people of this city have been so married or have relatives who are.

Has a Hard Task.

Peterboro Review.

The very fact that he was not yet widely known will handicap Mr. McIntyre for a while. He was no figure in the mind's eye of Ontario, owing to his quiet, studious ways. But he will not make any the worse chairman of the railway board for that. He has a hard task to restore the prestige of the Ontario Board to what it ought to be. The chairmanship of James Leitch was sorely disappointing, and it is no secret that Sir James Whitney was perturbed on occasion over the manner in which his friend handled affairs. It would not be fair to prejudge Mr. McIntyre, but it is safe to say that the chairmanship of Sir James Whitney, to the province at large, and to the board itself.

NEW TREATMENT FOR INSANE.

Address at Picton by Dr. E. H. Young, of Rockwood.

The Picton Times says that Dr. E. H. Young, assistant superintendent of Rockwood hospital for the insane, gave an address before the medical men of Prince Edward county in Picton public library last Tuesday evening.

The strictly professional or scientific part of his discourse richly deserves high commendation, but the part directed to the education of the lay public would prove a great boon to every member of society. For that reason we will try to cover a few of the salient points in the briefest manner.

"First, is the change of name from 'asylum'—meaning a retreat or a place of restraint—to 'hospital'—a place for sympathetic treatment, care and cure. As direct result of this there are fifty patients a year less at Rockwood which means a saving of nearly $10,000 actual expenditure at that institution alone, to say nothing of the wage-earning power of these patients."

"Second, if public attention is recognized that every insane person is not the same, that, as mentioned before, insanity is but the symptom of many and varied disorders; that while some of these disorders are incurable if but given the opportunity—just as with other diseases."

"And third, the alarming increase of certain forms of insanity, due directly to the white slave traffic with its venereal diseases, should arouse an educational campaign along these lines—as Prof. Adams says, the future of our young nationhood is menaced by our neglect of education for open, direct and energetic education."

"While these are but a few, and very briefly put lines of thought, our doctors will be willing to discuss them more fully with anyone interested. And we have no hesitation in saying that the practitioners of this district will do all in their power to aid in the campaign of education along the lines which Dr. Ryan and his staff at Rockwood Hospital are doing their utmost to inaugurate."

"If the campaign receives the support due it, not only will the sick in this district benefit, but the social, moral and economic conditions of our whole dominion will be benefited."

TO PLACE CHESTER FRENCH

In Home for Aged—He is Not Insane.

Chester French, of Westbrook, the old man who is confined to the county jail, on the charge of ill-treating his wife, will, in all probability, be sent to the Home for the Aged. It will be remembered that a short time ago, while in a state of excitement, he tried to kill his wife, and it was thought that he was insane. Upon examination, it was found that his mind was not affected, and something would have to be done with him. His son is now trying to make arrangements to have him taken into the home, where he will be properly looked after.
