PROSECUTING THE WAR WITH RENEWED VIGOR

Turkey Has Rejected the Allies' Terms

THE TERRIBLE SIGHTS SEEN IN CHOLERA CAMP AT SAN STEFANO.

No Conference of European Powers to Stop the Frightful Butcheries Yet in Sight—Greek Outrages at Salonika.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—The war is being prosecuted with renewed vigor.

Vienna, Nov. 22.—Austrians accuse the Serbian troops of cruel barbarities.

London, Nov. 22.—The Bulgarian terms of peace were impossible, according to the Grand Vizier. He made this statement to the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Constantinople at ten o'clock yesterday morning. Eliaz Pasha said: "I received last night a communication through the Russian Ambassador to Turkey, of the terms which the Bulgarians suggest for an armistice as a preliminary to the discussion of the terms of peace. 'The terms are impossible, and unless they are radically altered the war will continue. The Bulgarians ask for the surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and the Tchataldja lines. The only hope of peace, the correspondent adds, now seems to lie in the fact that these demands of the allies probably were determined on before any successful attacks were made by the Bulgarians in the Tchataldja lines during the first three days of this week.

ROMANCE OF THE FOUR KINGS

Of the four kings shown here, King Ferdinand, on the right, is a German by birth, and King George of Greece, at the other end of the line, is a Dane. King Peter is on the other hand a Kara-georgievitch, a dynasty of a century's standing, but the real claim to Blue Balkan blood must be conceded to King Nicholas, whose Peterovitch ancestry stretches back to the days of the prince Bishops of Montenegro. An impressionistic sketch by an artist on the London Sphere.

will continue. The Bulgarians ask for the surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and the Tchataldja lines. The only hope of peace, the correspondent adds, now seems to lie in the fact that these demands of the allies probably were determined on before any successful attacks were made by the Bulgarians in the Tchataldja lines during the first three days of this week.

The Tide is Turning.
Constantinople, Nov. 22.—Heavy cannonading was heard all night along the line of Tchataldja fortifications. Under cover of this terrific bombardment, Turkish warships landed strong parties of fresh troops, and are making flank movements at both ends of the trench lines. The condition of the masses here and the troops at the front is fearful, but the Turkish leaders are in high spirits. The impression appeared to prevail that the tide had turned and victory for the allies was ahead.

In the meantime comes the news that following the failure of yesterday's peace negotiations, Greece, Serbia and Montenegro are rushing all available reinforcements to assist the Bulgarians in the final assault on Constantinople. Military experts say that owing to the rapid approach of winter, this must happen immediately, or allied troops will die by thousands of hunger and exposure.

The Bulgarian cabinet is meeting in Sofia today, in hurried conference, regarding the situation. It is hoped that it will make some modifications in the demands on Turkey.

The Terms Offered.

WOODEN LAMB AS A TARGET.

Pennsylvania Hunter's Artificial Leg Filled With Shot.

Darby, Pa., Nov. 22.—Almost flung off his feet when his artificial leg suddenly gave a violent jerk in the air, James Martin looked around to ascertain the cause and found that an excited rabbit gunner had emptied an entire load of shot into the limb, in his eagerness to shoot a rabbit running directly in front of Martin.

Horrors of Cholera Camp.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—Heart-rending scenes of suffering and misery are enacted daily at the Turkish cholera camp at San Stefano. The correspondent of the Associated Press, accompanied by the secretary of a foreign embassy and by Major Clyde S. Ford, of the United States army, paid a visit there yesterday. Much skepticism had prevailed in Pera, the foreign quarter of Constantinople, both among members of the diplomatic corps and foreign residents. No one there believed the figures given by railroad employees and others in contact with the Turkish army, who declared that (Continued on Page 3.)

WOMEN MUST GIVE UP BRIDGE OR BABIES

Cannot Play Game and Perform Their Maternal Duties, Says John Drew.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—Women must give up either bridge or babies, the two are incompatible, declared John Drew, who is appearing this week at the Nixon.

1913 TO BE YEAR OF BLOOD.
So Says Parisian Prophetess, Who Predicted Balkan War.

New York, Nov. 22.—A Paris cable says it was Mme. De Thebes who last November predicted war in the Balkan and Italian spheres here.

HAS 270 GRANDCHILDREN.
Mrs. De Beer Married Widowers and That Helped.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Thekla M. de Beer, a Boer woman, who was recently married for the seventh time, has probably established the world's record in matrimonial ventures. She is now the mother and stepmother of forty-nine children and the grandmother of 270.

Address in Reply to Speech From Throne

BY THE COMMONS BEGINNING ON MONDAY.

A Great Reception Tendered Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Commons on Thursday—Dorcyard for Halifax—Government Wants British Firm to Establish Plant.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The government's naval proposals will probably not be introduced into the house until the week after next, as it is expected that the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne will occupy fully all of next week. Meanwhile the party caucus will be consulted.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—The government is endeavoring to arrange with one or other of the big English shipbuilding firms to establish at Halifax or some other maritime port a dock-yard and shipbuilding plant such as was contemplated by the Laurier naval policy, where the Admiralty might expend in the construction of warships some of the money which Canada is to contribute to the British navy.

HE WANTS DAMAGES.

Suing Doctor Because He Did Not Pass Beyond.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 22.—Because he did not die, Goldblatt, a jeweller, brought suit against his physician, Dr. G. H. Pomeroy, for $15,000. Goldblatt alleged in his complaint that Dr. Pomeroy told him he had cancer of the stomach. Believing that recovery was impossible and wishing to leave his property in cash Goldblatt states that he sold his jewelry business at a auction, he estimates at $15,000, and waited for death to claim him.

POLLUTION OF WATERS IS A VITAL QUESTION

In Both Houses First Bill on Order Paper Deals With It.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—A somewhat significant feature in connection with the opening of the present session of parliament is the fact that in both the commons and the senate the first bill on the order paper for the consideration of the members is "An act respecting the pollution of navigable waters."

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The government's naval proposals will probably not be introduced into the house until the week after next, as it is expected that the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne will occupy fully all of next week. Meanwhile the party caucus will be consulted.

In addition to the main features of the emergency proposals as already outlined it is learned that the government is endeavoring to arrange with one or other of the big English shipbuilding firms to establish at Halifax or some other maritime port a dock-yard and shipbuilding plant such as was contemplated by the Laurier naval policy, where the Admiralty might expend in the construction of warships some of the money which Canada is to contribute to the British navy.

PROMISES AGAIN DISREGARDED.

In deciding to bring down a bill this session to increase the senatorial representation from the west by nine members, while the west the twenty new members to which they are entitled according to the census, Premier Borden has again stultified himself in regard to his own promises.
