CHOSE S. A. TRUSCOTT AS SOUTH FRONTENAC PUBLIC SCHOOL INSPECTOR

To Succeed Dr. William Spankie, Whose Resignation the County Council Accepted—General Hospital Asks for $2,500 a Year.

On Thursday afternoon, the county council was addressed by a deputation from the Kingston General Hospital, which asked for an increased grant, in view of the larger cost of living and the great work the institution is doing for the whole district. The deputation was composed of Dr. H. A. Bygones (superintendent), F. G. Lockett, Dr. G. W. Mylka, T. McK. Robertson, Archdeacon Carey, Mayor Hoag, Abraham Shaw and F. Chown. At the present time, the hospital receives only $1,000 a year from the council. The sum of $2,500 was asked. Consideration was promised by the warden.

On motion of Councillor Rutan, seconded by Councillor Cronk, the council accepted the resignation of Dr. William Spankie as inspector of public schools for South Frontenac with deep regret. The resolution stated that Dr. Spankie had given faithful service to the county for the past twenty-six years; that he had been a true friend and wise counsellor, and that the people of Frontenac had cause to be thankful that they had such a capable school inspector during so many years.

The presentation of an interim report by the Sydenham high school building committee resurrected a question that has been the wall of the new wing last winter. A couple of the councillors seemed to think that the architect was to blame, while others took an emphatic negative position. Unsatisfactory mixing of mortar was suggested by one councillor. Dealing with the result alone, Councillor Stoney thought that the fall of the wall had come at a most opportune time. It was indeed lucky for the county that the collapse occurred when it did, and not when the building was in use and pupils' lives endangered. The opinion of Councillor Donaldson, was that it was a good thing the contractor got into financial difficulties when he did and stopped work, if he had not the job would have cost the county far more. The next lowest tender was $2,500 more.

On motion of Councillors Kennedy and Stoney, Power & Sons, architects, were requested to furnish council on Friday with a report upon the progress of the extension to the Sydenham high school.

Appointment of Inspector. The council met again in the evening to fill the vacancy in the South Frontenac public school inspectorship. After convening, the council adjourned for a short time to get into caucus and ballot on the candidates. The vote on the first two or three ballots stood: S. A. Truscott, 8; F. E. J. Corkill, 8; T. M. Henry, 2. The final result was—Truscott, 10; Corkill, 8.

The council then resumed its session, and on motion of councillor Hamilton, seconded by Councillor Franklin, S. A. Truscott was unanimously appointed to the inspectorship, his duties to begin on the first of January next. Mr. Truscott addressed the council, thanking it for the honor it had conferred upon him, and assuring it that it would have no cause to regret its action in placing him in the position for which he had been chosen.

Further discussion took place on the Sydenham high school wing, for which more money is required, and it was finally decided that the whole council would drive out to the school on Friday morning and inspect the new building. Adjournment was made until two o'clock Friday afternoon.

Dined the Council. S. A. Truscott, who was appointed inspector of schools for the county of Frontenac, gave a dinner to the county council on Thursday night at the Iroquois hotel. About thirty sat down to the impromptu affair. W. B. Black, M.P.P., of Addington, was toast master.

After the toast to "The King," "The County Council" was responded to by Warden Godkin and ex-Warden W. J. Franklin. The toast master then proposed the health of the new inspector, Mr. Truscott, and Thomas Maxwell replied. The toast to the Ladies, proposed by the toast master, was answered in a most graceful manner by F. E. Callaghan and D. W. Cronk, of Olden.

The inspector-elect is a native of the township of Loughboro, the son of Samuel Truscott, and nephew of ex-County Councillors John and Charles Truscott. He was educated at Sydenham high school and at Queen's University where he graduated as Master of Arts in 1904, taking honors in mathematics.

A ST. NICHOLAS SALE BY THE LADIES OF SYDENHAM STREET CHURCH.

It Was Succeeded in the Evening by a Congregational Social—Both Events Were Largely Attended.

The Women's Auxiliary of Sydenham street Methodist church, held a delightful tea and sale in the Sunday school hall on Thursday afternoon commencing at 3.30 o'clock. For weeks past the ladies have been making articles to be sold. Most of the articles offered for sale were very suitable as Christmas gifts and numerous ladies took this opportunity of obtaining gifts.

The hall was beautifully decorated with colored crepe paper. St. Nicholas' robes were staked in the centre of the hall and looked beautiful. It was something out of the ordinary, all the articles offered for sale were hanging on the lines. The committee was: Mrs. T. W. Neal (convenor), Mrs. W. Mitchell, Mrs. J. T. Best, Mrs. (Mrs.) W. Winstett, Mrs. C. Taylor, Miss Saele Anglin, Miss J. Kidd, Miss Mabel Richardson, Miss D. Oldrieve, Miss Elsie Gowdy and Miss F. Cunningham.

The work-table was in charge of Mrs. T. F. Harrison and Miss W. Skinner, assisted by Mrs. Oldrieve, Mrs. J. Lockett, Mrs. F. Chown, Mrs. Day, Mrs. G. Y. Chown and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

The home-made table did a rushing business and was in charge of Mrs. F. Chown (convenor) assisted by Mrs. D. Cays, Mrs. J. G. Eitinger, Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. L. Shaw, Mrs. Eva Richardson, Miss Mary Anglin, Miss Ida Smith, Miss P. Oldrieve, Mrs. J. N. Scott.

The tea-table was also one of the attractions and was in charge of Mrs. McCreath, Mrs. H. E. Flynn, Mrs. George Richardson and Mrs. J. Cunningham, assisted by a number of the young ladies.

Congregational Gathering. The St. Nicholas sale evolved into a congregational gathering in the Bible school hall in the evening. The members of Pastor W. T. Neal's flock were welcomed by a reception committee, of which A. Shaw was chairman, and a pleasant time spent socially. The ladies, assisted by young men and Boy Scouts, passed refreshments.

About 7.45 o'clock, the evening's programme was commenced, Dr. A. P. Chown presiding, short timely addresses were delivered, interspersed with music and recitations. George Smith gave, very acceptably, Charles Service's (the poet of the Yukon). "The Cremation of Sam McGee." Miss Irene Hoag and Harold Aggrove sang solos in a pleasing manner.

T. F. Harrison summed up the church, its past, present and future, what it is, and its purpose. Touching on social conditions, he outlined fields of work in all its agencies. He said he believed that the average church member was only "making a mark" that not alone in Sydenham street, but in the church at large, the burden of the work is left on a few. He appealed for workers in all branches of activity, especially in the Bible school. Sydenham street church has the third largest congregation in the Montreal conference, and the largest Bible school in that conference.

Elmer Davis, representing the Finance committee, placed the present financial position of the congregation before the gathering, a matter of information. Rev. T. W. Neal followed with an inspiring address.

FARM BOOKKEEPING. Two Important Points That Should be Considered.

Farmers' Bulletin 511 of the United States Department of Agriculture contains some interesting facts and recommendations in connection with bookkeeping on the farm. "That there are over six million farms in that country, which utilize land, labor, and capital as means of income making," gives the author the opportunity to discuss the subject of farm bookkeeping in an accurate and systematic account of his farm management the same as the business man or the railroad magnate. This bulletin is not an attempt to outline a system of bookkeeping for the farmer. It is rather a series of suggestions which are applicable to accounts on the farm. It is believed that any farmer who studies this bulletin sufficiently to grasp these principles will be able to devise a system suited to his particular needs.

Two important points must be considered in an attempt at farm bookkeeping. What does it cost to produce farm products? By selling at market prices what profit is made on them? "The problem of the farmer is to meet conditions on his own farm in a way which will give him the greatest net returns for his labor and the use of his capital. He should receive interest on his capital as well as wages and his labor, but owing to the lack of proper records few farmers know what wages they actually receive. There is reason to believe that the majority of farmers are really living on the interest of their investments rather than on the profits of their farms."

These suggestions are offered: (1) Consider as one unit all that may be termed real estate, as land, farm buildings, fences, ditches, etc., which the farm is rented or owned by the owner; (2) Do not consider that the farmer or his family receive anything for their labor unless they are paid in cash the same as hired labor. If there is a surplus at the end of the year, it is their compensation. If the farm is not strictly cash, with items not strictly cash, (3) Farm produce used by the household should not be credited to the farm in the cash account along with the produce sold but should be taken care of separately.

Man Who Assisted Murderer Has Sentence Shortened. Hamilton, Nov. 22.—Word was received here that Monteith Trapnell, the seaman attendant, convicted of aiding the escape of "Gunner" Boie of London, has been released from the Dominion penitentiary, in a statement that the Canadian methods furnish a concrete example of what can be accomplished in the line of conservation.

They point out that in connection with canalization, the Dominion government has disposed of hydraulic rights by lease, and coincident with the canal construction there is going forward the creation of power bays, the construction of power races and power houses for the utilization of many thousands of horse-power created. Private capital is doing all the development, under lease for twenty-one years, with a renewable clause for an additional forty-two years.

PROSECUTING THE WAR WITH RENEWED VIGOR.

The camp is situated at the side of a railway embankment thirty feet in height. A large open space like a village green stretches away for some distance. This is surrounded by better class houses two or three stories high, built in European style, for San Stefano is the summer resort of many of the more wealthy foreign residents of Constantinople.

Two Ottoman soldiers were standing on guard at the entrance to the camp, but they never made a motion. Their duty was to prevent those within the cordon from escaping and not to hinder other people from entering.

A nauseating picture was witnessed at the side of the railroad. The bodies which had been thrown from trains lay as they had fallen. Some had struck on top of the embankment. Others had rolled part of the way down. Some had reached the bottom. Some of the corpses lay stiffly alone. Others were in groups of three or four.

Sickening Sights. Around a one-storey stable at the foot of the embankment was a group of sixty dead and dying lying close together, apparently for warmth, on the slopes of a manure pile, which the sick men had found softer than the hard ground. One man on top of the pile was digging with his fingers a sort of trough in which to lie. The trough soon became his grave.

The visitors came near one victim attempted to crawl across the road to the crowded manure heap, but failed and fell in the roadway. Others lying around raised their heads and cried in the hearing of the attendants that they were given no bread or water.

Walking half way across the field the visitors passed dead and dying men sometimes at intervals of a yard, sometimes from twenty to thirty yards apart. A group of tents stood in the centre where four or five Turkish soldiers, wearing the arm piece of the Red Crescent hospital service, stood on guard. Inside the sick and dead lay in groups. The doctor on duty counted twenty-two patients in one tent, while double that number lay just outside, sheltered from the wind to leeward of the canvas. Some of the stricken men found difficulty in getting into the Moslem position for prayer looking toward the east. One praying victim was so weak that he could not replace his blanket around his head when the wind blew it off.

The Red Crescent attendants made no attempt to assist any of these suffering soldiers, not even placing staves, which were plentiful, under their heads, to permit them to lie easier.

Valley of the Shadow. London, Nov. 22.—Oshmond Bartlett, correspondent of the Telegraph, tells of the cholera scenes around Tchatalja. As there were no medical arrangements the victims were simply thrown out to die. Then the dead body was hastily covered with a thin layer of earth.

"These ghastly mounds," he says, "litter the whole country; there is no escaping them. But these horrible scenes in the villages pale in significance as compared with the horrors of Hademkeul, where the remains of the defeated army finally lay. These men, who lived for ten days on green corn or scraps of offal picked up on the march, yielded the greatest number of victims. The valley in which Hademkeul lies, viewed from the hills, is the valley of the shadow of death."

No Conference in Sight. London, Nov. 22.—There has been much talk of a European conference, as soon as hostilities cease for the discussion of international questions arising out of the war. Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, however, announced yesterday in the House of Commons that the question whether a conference should or should not be held had not been definitely considered by the European powers.

Albania's Autonomy. London, Nov. 22.—The Balkan allies have definitely abandoned the idea of the partition of Albania, according to a Sofia despatch to the Daily Mail. They will consent to Albanian autonomy and an autonomous administration will be set up by stages with the aid of the Balkan States.

Greek Outrages at Saloniki. London, Nov. 22.—A Constantinople despatch to the Jewish Chronicle says that the Greek soldiers at Saloniki sacked the Jewish quarter, ransacking and destroying the synagogues and attacking the women. Terror and desolation prevailed.

CREW NEARLY PERISHED. For Days Storm-tossed Off Vancouver Island. Vancouver, Nov. 22.—Five days and nights without sleep, three days without water to drink, wet to the skin during the whole of that period on a helpless, waterlogged, dismantled schooner, and then when the men were crowded into the only remaining small boat, with huge seas carrying them into the rugged shores of Vancouver Island, the welcome smoke of a Canadian fisheries cutter appeared.

This was the experience of the crew of one of the American schooners, E. K. Wood. The schooner lies an abandoned wreck on Vancouver Island. She had a cargo of lumber out of Bellingham, Wash., bound for San Pedro, Cal.
