CANADA'S NAVAL SCHEME.

The great mystery with which the naval scheme of the Borden government has been shrouded has at last disappeared. The manner in which Canada is to aid the mother country, and exhibit its loyalty, is described in a naval bill of a preface and four short paragraphs. There is to be a contribution of $35,000,000, to be put into battleships of the most modern type. These are to be built in England, equipped and manned there, are to be a part of the British navy and under the direction of its admiralty, and will be commissioned for service in Canada only as its circumstances may require.

As some compensation for the loss of labour in Canada, and the use of its capital, and for the abandonment of the policy to which the Borden party was at the time committed, wholly and unreservedly, it is said that our government will be asked to build small cruisers, oil-tank vessels and other necessary craft, and this country will be expected to assist in establishing the shipyards at which this work can be done.

THE NOTE FROM BRITAIN.

The main feature of the Borden scheme, and the presumed reason for the volte face of the premier and his colleagues on this question, is the memorandum which the British government supplied at the request of the Canadian government. Something of the kind was very necessary for two reasons. The premier had invited the co-operation of the nationalists in the last election, with the understanding that the people would be considered before there would be any further expenditure upon the navy.
 Mr. Borden did not openly repudiate his stand upon the navy; he did not withdraw the defence he made of a Canadian navy while in England in 1909; he did not say he repented of his support of the Laurier Naval Act. He accepted the support of the nationalists, knowing that they were using language, (veiled treason), that he could not endorse, and he rewarded them for the aid they gave him in Quebec by calling three of them to his cabinet.

THE PROCESS OF CHANGE.

Then the time for changing came.
 Four of the ministers went abroad.
 They do not say that they were troubled about the navy and wanted to consult the admiralty, but the phrases are that they were worried very much. The German menace was not a new thing. It was talked of in England, and it may have given the admiralty some anxiety. The German menace, however, was not to be compared, so far as our ministers were concerned, with the nationalist menace. Our ministers found a reason for action in the "disclosures" which were made to them in England. Members of the British parliament have asked about these "disclosures" and Mr. Asquith has laid before the imperial house a copy of the memorandum which the Canadian government solicited. The memorandum does not reveal anything sensational.

SOOTHING THE NATIONALISTS.

To square himself with the nationalists—to appease them or rather to save them from shock and rebellion—there is the promise that the government naval scheme, when developed, will be submitted to the people.
 This may not be for two or three years. Meanwhile the nationalists will have lost their grip or cause of funds, and no more will be heard of the bogey, so much in evidence while a liberal government ruled, that the young French-Canadians would be forced into a conflict they did not want, that their precious blood would be wasted in the wars of Great Britain. Meanwhile the Hon. Mr.
 Melville, the war horse of the government, will have seen the wisdom, for the party's sake, of calming down. He will have ceased to see the awful yet-low peril at the Pacific coast.

ATTITUDE OF THE LIBERALS.

The Liberals will, of course, criticize the navy bill, and not so much the bill as the speech the premier has made in support of it. The speech is one long apology for his unwarrantable desertion of the naval scheme he applauded and approved, for his trucking with the nationalists, and performances that have been more political than patriotic. Let us hope that he will be reminded of this again and again, and let us hope that when the people realize all the facts, and have had time to reflect upon them, the Borden government will be welcome to all the comfort they can ed to have refused to spend $120,000 on a federal square and parade ground in London, because the schools under the mucky for prizes to cadets under the Strathcona Trust. Oh, there must be some mistake about this. Col.

 Hughes is not so boyish in his ideas as the report would suggest.

The Winnipeg Telegram attacked Rev. Dr. Gordon, because he supported the resolution of synod deploring the illegality, the irregularities and scandals of the Macdonald election.
 The synod resented this scurrilous abuse, and the Telegram accuses Dr.
 Gordon of using his position for political purposes. This is a kind of journalism for which Canada has no use in this year of grace.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

Just About It.
 London Advertiser.
 The minister of justice says it will be probably four years before the Ottawa government gets its permanent naval policy into shape. In other words, the government may give the country a policy about the time it could have had a navy.

 With 91,000 contributors to his campaign fund of $1,100,000, Woodrow Wilson stands far in advance of both Roosevelt and Taft in the matter of popular financial support in the presidential campaign. The money came from all sorts of people, in all parts of the United States. There was nothing like it ever before in a presidential campaign.

How Queen Mary Makes Coffee.
 The highest culinary authority in Paris, the chef of the Rothschilds, is responsible for the following recipe for making real cafe au lait.
 Here it is:
 "Take a cup of boiling milk, three-quarters filled, and spread over the top a piece of gauze filled with freshly ground coffee, as much as it as you can stand. Dip the piece of gauze with the coffee into the milk until it reaches the bottom of the cup.
 "Let it remain there while you cover the top of the cup. For the sinking of milk and coffee must be done by the steam of the milk."
 "After two minutes raise the gauze bag carefully so as not to spill any of the coffee, add sugar and you have the finest cup of milk coffee in the world."
 This indicates that, according to the highest authority, milk coffee must be made without the addition of water.

The same recipe was published some time ago by Admiral Fisher of the English navy. He is said to have given it to Princess Mary, who is now Queen Mary of England. He got it from a French chef named Auger.
