THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS BY ALMA MATER SOCIETY.

The Y.W.C.A. held a Sale on Saturday Afternoon—Prof. Morrison's Address—Sermon in Convocation Hall by Principal Smythe, of Montreal.

Grant Hall was the scene of a most successful college function Saturday from 3.30 to 6 p.m., when the Queen's Y.W.C.A. held its annual sale and tea. The members, prettily gowned in white, disposed of penmanship, cushions, home-made dainties, calendars, and candies, to many buyers. Coffee and refreshments were served to those present, and the wants of none were neglected. One of the special features of the afternoon was the Clam Pie booth. On the payment of a small fee a person was entitled to explore the interior of the pastry. Here many wonderful discoveries were made, by those who were daring enough to test the pie.

When it drew near the closing hour P. T. Pilkey was called upon to auction the few commodities that had not been sold. Thanks to his stentorian voice and compelling persuasiveness, he succeeded, with the assistance of J. C. Smith, in disposing of most of the stock. During the afternoon an excellent musical programme was provided by the Queen's orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Webb. The guests were received by Miss McIntosh, president of the society and Mrs. Prof. Laird.

The sum of ten cents was collected at the door and altogether some two hundred dollars was realized by the sale. The success of the undertaking is due to the following conveners and those who ably assisted on their committees: general convener, Miss E. Maude Brownlie; banner, Miss Millie Henderson.

For the convenience of our customers our store will be open until 9 o'clock in the evenings until Christmas.

Convocation Hall on Saturday night was the scene of the annual and regular meeting of the Alma Mater Society. At the annual meeting the reports of the retiring secretary and treasurer were read and adopted. The constitution of the society was amended in several particulars. The clause which required that the university crest should be of a size two inches by two inches was struck out, and the secretary of the athletic association had found it impossible to secure a crest of those dimensions. The size of the crest was therefore not specified in the amendment. An amendment was also made, requiring the secretary of each athletic club, and of the dramatic club to present a written report of his club's activities of the past year at the annual meeting of the Alma Mater Society. Certain other changes in the constitution were made necessary because of the changes in the university constitution. The new officers of the society were then installed, and President Watts and Secretary Sutherland relieved retiring Vice President McFavish and Secretary Pilgrim of their duties.

After the annual meeting had been adjourned, the regular meeting of the society was held. The recommendations of the Executive committee were adopted, as follows: That Prof. J. P. Macdonald be granted the sum of $15 for auditing the books of the treasurer of the A.M.S. That the sum of $50 be granted as an honorarium to the retiring secretary and $25 to John Baker janitor of the old Arts Building for the services he rendered the society during the past year; that the election bills be paid and that a grant of money be made to the Athletic committee to be used in securing suitable scenery for the championship association football team and their able manager, P. T. Pilkey; that the Theological society be granted the use of the Red Room in the new Arts Building for their annual dinner on January 20th.

The annual meeting of the Curling Club was then held, and after the secretary's report was read, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Prof. L. W. Gill; president, P. T. Pilkey; vice-president, J. M. Simpson; secretary, R. McConnell.

The following committee was appointed to choose a suitable design for a university pin and report on the subject: M. Omond (convener), J. Stitt, L. Stevenson, R. Harkness, W. Barrett.

The Track Club held its annual meeting. The secretary's report was read and the following officers were chosen for the coming season: Honorary president, Prof. Henderson; president, J. W. D. Farrell; vice-president, H. Lees; secretary, J. E. McKay; manager, W. Johnson; committee, W. G. Melville, L. J. Wilson, E. C. Spence, P. O'Connor, A. W. Truesdale and D. C. Matheson.

The Harrier Club elected these officers: Honorary president, Prof. J. Matheson; president, H. O. Kerr; vice-president, A. J. Wilson; secretary, H. J. Linneker; manager, J. W. D. Farrell; captain, W. J. Johnston; lieutenant, H. H. Lees; committee, H. J. Stewart (arts), M. Speers (science), J. W. Coulter (medicine).

A vote of thanks was tendered by the society to Vice-President R. M. MacFavish and the other members of the retiring executive, for the able and conscientious manner in which they transacted the business of the society during the past year.

President E. E. Watts conducted his first meeting in a most able manner. At the next meeting of the society the McClelland cup, emblematic of the inter-year faculty championship in association football at Queen's, will be presented to the winners, medicine 14. The team is to be banqueted by its year in the near future.

Prof. J. L. Morrison addressed his Bible class, Sunday morning, on the subject, "The Ideals, Social and Intellectual, of a University." He emphasized the need of peace, and a right proportion of things, in the college life. The realities of life needed to be taught. First things must be first. Dancing, cards and the like were right in their place, but they must not be given too large a place. Social unreality was the mood of to-day. What was needed was a deep earnestness to face the great problems and social questions of the day. A man must not live unto himself, but must have a passion for the rights of the people. Political purity depended largely upon the students. Politics were badly in need of college idealism. The church required better men and better leaders. Canada needed to take the kingdom of God in the right sense. College men could shape the Canada of the future. They must be the leaders in the work of raising the nation to higher ideals.

An eloquent and inspiring sermon was preached, on Sunday afternoon, by Principal Smythe, of Wesleyan College, Montreal, to the students in Convocation Hall. He took as his text I Corinthians xiii:9: "For we know in part and we prophesy in part," and spoke of the growing consciousness of the limitations of human knowledge. This was illustrated in all spheres of life. Many asked why God did not reveal his truths early in the history of mankind? Chloroform was not discovered until the middle of the nineteenth century. Had this discovery been made earlier it would have meant a great increase in the happiness of mankind, and the alleviation of much pain and suffering. The same question might also be asked in regard to religion. Few details are given in the Bible regarding the future state of men. The language describing it was the language of eastern imagery. Many of the most devout and scholarly persons differed in the interpretation of scripture. The results was many sects. But this diversity of belief was a good thing. The benefit of absolute uniformity of belief was very questionable. An instantaneous revelation of all knowledge would take away all the pleasure of mental discovery. God's object, in not revealing the whole truth to man, was to bring into existence an order which would become great through its efforts—great to overcome life by struggle. In spiritual life when greater knowledge was acquired, things would prove more satisfactory. Anyone who wished to do good, to rise to greater heights, and to serve his day and generation better, would, by taking his Bible and reading it carefully, learn how to live. Love was the great principle which taught how to serve God and man and how to obtain greater knowledge.

Examinations have commenced in medicine and will continue during the forepart of next week.

The Aesculapian Society held its regular meeting on Friday, at which reports of the various committees were received. The Dinner committee estimated an expense of seven hundred dollars for the medical dinner, which was ordered to be paid. The Election committee in its report stated the expense to be somewhat less than the other faculties and that three medical candidates had been successful, four in science and only three in the largest faculty, arts.

Dr. Mundell addressed the society on the subject of "Life Insurance," dealing mainly with the side with which a medical man was concerned. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by the members. As the society will probably not meet again until the new year another local doctor will be asked to address the society then.

Queen Street Young Men's Club. The election of officers of the Young Men's Club of Queen Street Methodist Church took place Sunday afternoon, and resulted as follows: Hon. presidents, Mrs. Squires, Rev. Mr. Roadhouse, Rev. U. I. Campbell; leader, Robert Walter Babcock, of Kingston; 1st vice pres., Fred Clow; 2nd vice president, George Joyner; secretary Hiram J. Sharman; assistant secretary, William Cockburn; treasurer, Allan Shea; chief usher, George Joyner; look-out committee, J. Phillip, R. J. McClelland, J. Bennett; Social committee, George Joyner, Frederick Clow, Melville Cook; Athletic committee, Kinnear Reid, Leslie Meek.

Wedded in Toronto. At the Metropolitan church, Toronto on November 6th, a very quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Armstrong. The contracting parties were Miss Flossie Babcock, Toronto, (formerly of Oshawa), and Sergt. Major Walter Babcock, of Kingston. The happy couple left on the 9.30 train for Kingston where they will reside, the groom having a permanent position there as guard in the Portenmouth penitentiary. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Babcock are very highly esteemed and have the best wishes of a host of friends.

The wagon was very heavily loaded and the driver was standing on the dashboard when by accident he fell off, alighting on the road on his back. Fortunately he escaped serious injury.

Lads Come to Penitentiary.

On Saturday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Arthur Jarvis arrived from Toronto with two boys, sentenced to penitentiary for robbery and shooting. One is nineteen years of age and the other fifteen. The latter is the youngest in the big prison at Portenmouth. Deputy Jarvis, when some one remarked that it was a shame for a lad like that to be sent to the penitentiary, remarked that it was the proper place for him. He held that he would not be contaminated in the prison, while he would contaminate others if sent to a reformatory. The fifteen-year-old lad cried like a child on his way down.
