TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure, can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent it becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50c. bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Others should give the child Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to take. Agent, G. W. Mahood.

REVIEW OF THE ELECTION

The municipal elections are over, and it is well because they were tending towards very regrettable differences of opinion. When the two men who became candidates for the mayorality announced their intention they made certain, so far as their personal pledges could do so, of one thing. They would appeal to the people non-politically. The one had already given evidence of his independence; the other said he had refused a party nomination and, like his confere, was fully building his prospects upon the favour with which his public service, non-politically, appealed to the people.

The Whig was asked where it stood, under the circumstances, and it said, at once, that the elimination of politics from the council would receive its support. With this understanding the campaign was begun. At several points, while it continued, it looked as if some persons were either misdirected or misguided, but the Whig continued the contest as it had been begun, and it has now no rash thoughts or statements to retract.

THE MAYOR-ELECT

The mayor-elect, Timothy J. Rigney, has been warmly congratulated upon his success. He had been longer in public life than Mr. Bibby, and given much of his time to the consideration of civic affairs. Personally nothing could be said against him. In public and private life he was most generous, and in the wards where he lived and laboured he was given unmistakable evidence of his popularity. He will make a good mayor, will carry himself as a gentleman, and will probably pursue his way, as the head of the council, without any indication of the strenuous time through which he has just passed.

Ex-Ald. Bailey has had many kind words in his defeat, and he deserves them. He certainly conducted an honourable and clean election. His connection with the council had been somewhat brief, only three years. In that time, however, he had given the city a great deal of his attention. Living in retirement from business, he was able to devote his time and talents to the city as no one else in his time could do; and he had reason to expect that the people would accept of his service for the larger sphere of usefulness for which he offered. That they have not been accepted will not disturb his peace of mind or interfere in any event with his usefulness as a citizen.

RELIGION AN ISSUE

One of the most unfortunate phases of the mayorality contest was the appeal to religion. This aspect of the case the Whig repudiated when referred to it on nomination day. It was hoped that a gentle reminder as to the unseemliness of the thing would keep it in check or in the background, and great was the surprise when a fly-leaf made its appearance on the eve of the election, and with the evident intention of influencing partisan feeling against one of the candidates. It was surely conceived in wickedness, and executed in venom. The other candidate took the very proper course of promptly disowning and repudiating it. That sort of campaigning, prompted by an animus or a bigotry of the most reprehensible type, must surely have received its quietus in the election. Instead of hurting the candidate against whose success it was published it did his cause good. It evoked resentment from electors who were unmoved or inactive until then, and it finally affected the result more than any one can tell.

Let us hope that never again will the hostility or bigotry of any one or faction find expression in the backs of this description.

THE COUNCIL-ELECT

Every one will rejoice over the re-election of Ald. Harrison, one of the most industrious and useful members of the council. Ald. Harrison made no personal appeal to the electors. He stood upon his splendid record, and he won out despite the powerful agencies, political and otherwise, that were used against him. The men who sought to compass his defeat, by the most extraordinary means, will take notice of him as a force that must be reckoned with later. Certainly his election, under the circumstances, is more remarkable than the success of the mayor.

The new members of St. Lawrence ward are young in experience as well as in years, and if they expect themselves the council should be the better of their presence.

Mr. Denney from Ontario ward serves the city as well in the council as he has in the school-board he will be a popular member.

In Rideau ward Mr. Bews made a remarkable run, and will join the other young men in the council in showing what young blood can do.

Generally the council, as reconstructed, should be equal to the new life which the city is taking on.

COMMISSION FOR UTILITIES

Now comes the test as to whether the council is disposed, like the mayor-elect, to pass the utilities over to a commission. The law of Ontario demands this commission when the city proposes to buy and sell power as it must so when it makes, or seeks to make, a contract with a Hydro-Electric company or commission. That contract must be sought this year as it is understood the present plant, with the recent additions, cannot meet the increasing demands beyond the fall. How the commission is to be constituted is another question. Perhaps it may be composed of the appointees of the council for the present. The city solicitor will advise upon this point. Later the people must elect the three or five men, and they must retire one at a time so as to secure the continuous service of men who are skilled in or devoted to the work. The action of the council in this matter will be studied with interest.

TO MAKE LIVING CHEAPER

The Trades and Labour Council of Toronto, is giving an evidence of its usefulness. Its mission is not to discuss wages only, or the relations that should exist between capital and labour. It deals with many social problems, and in a serious and suggestive way. For instance, last week it appointed a committee of seven to consider the fuel question. It is felt that by co-operation the workmen of the Queen City may be able to get a supply of coal next winter at a much lower rate than they are now obliged to pay. It is hoped they may succeed.

Then it was rumoured that many children of the poor were being sent to school hungry, and it has been creed that this must stop; that provision must be made, if necessary, for free foods, properly cooked, and that the furnishing of a modern school should include that of a kitchen and dining hall. In London, England, the school board feed the children, and, properly nourished, they make satisfactory progress with their studies.

The complaint against dental charges brought up a new issue. In the inspection of school children the school does its part when, through the physician or the nurse, the pupil is sent home from school for the treatment of the family physician. The teeth have to be cared for by dentists and as the only way of providing against charges the poor cannot pay the school board may appoint its own dentists.

All these matters have been considered by the Trades and Labour Council, and in such a practical way that one can see the advantage of their discussions. In Toronto this council is a live body, and it is certainly making its influence felt.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The people generally have no regard for the rickshaw men. Those who do things in the dark rank with conspirators.

Only one school election. The people have great confidence in the school board, though it now spends nearly as much of the people's money as the council.

Will the new council be able to conceive of some plan of getting rid of the stoves in the city hall? It is time they ceased to be the joke on every public occasion.

The Montreal Star thinks it possible that the Borden government may have to appeal to the Asquith government to curtail the power of the Canadian senate. The Star should be above that silly talk.

The fight in the municipal election was in Ontario ward. Why was such a desperate effort made to defeat Ald. Harrison? Is any body fearful lest he should develop too much in power and popularity? It looks that way.

The Asquith government has triumphed in its enforcement of the Insurance Act, and Lloyd-George is showing his magnanimity by declaring that he will be just and fair to the doctors who did their best to defeat him and his plans.
