BEEKEEPERS ORGANIZE

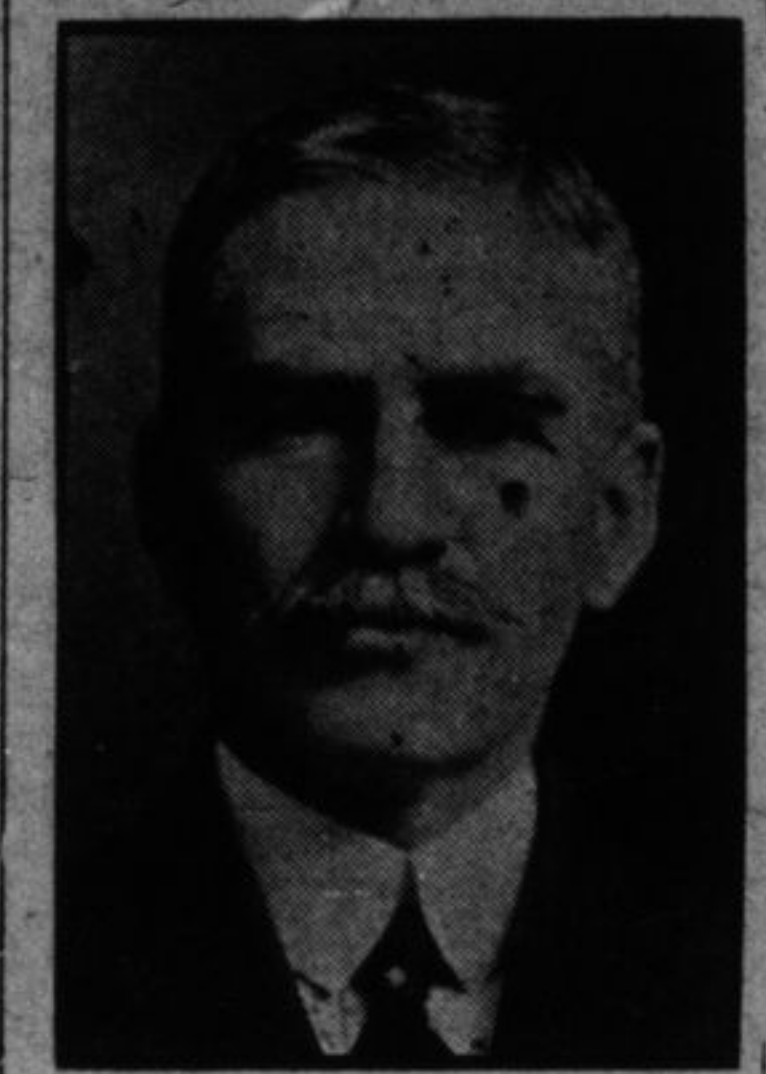

THEY ELECTED DR. A. P. CHOWN AS PRESIDENT.

Another Meeting to be Held in February for Further Organization and to Hear an Address.

At a meeting of the bee-keepers of the county held at the court house on Thursday afternoon, it was decided to form an association known as the Frontenac Beekeepers Association.

When the new president was nominated he stated that he did not think the county was doing the proper thing in putting him in such a position.

It was thought wise to elect Mr. Taggart to the position of secretary-treasurer as he has good opportunity to look after the business of such an organization.

DR. A. P. CHOWN. Elected president of the Frontenac Bee Association.

As an organization. This association will necessitate a board of directors. A representative of the association of the county of Hastings was present and brought before the gathering the great benefit that could be derived from a beekeepers' association.

The provincial government gives a grant of $3,000 for the whole province, which goes to show that such an amount cannot accomplish much good.

The next meeting will be called some time in February and the matter of arranging a programme was left in the hands of the president and the secretary.

CONDITIONS IN FRONTENAC.

Evidences of Distress and Ignorance in Some Quarters.

From time to time, evidences of unfortunate conditions in the county of Frontenac come to hand. It was stated at a recent meeting in the city that a girl, ten years of age, had come under the notice of a citizen travelling through the northern part of the county.

A Whig representative has been informed of a remarkable case of ignorance. A young man entered the lobby at the postoffice, some time ago, and purchased a two-cent stamp.

AN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Is Under Consideration by the Associated Charities.

At the executive meeting of the Associated Charities held on Thursday, the reports of the various charities were read, and among them the recommendation from the Poor Relief which was passed at their annual meeting, advising the establishment of an employment bureau.

The Associated Charities expressed its willingness to organize an employment bureau, but said it would require the co-operation of the employers of labor throughout the city to make the thing a success.

The secretary, Rev. A. E. Smart, stated that the charities had been doing a good deal of work along these lines for the past two years, as some of this work is inseparable from the work of charity.

"Banished to the Castle."

"Everything quiet" was the report from police headquarters on Friday morning, but one case was in court and that a Frede who had "fallen by the wayside," when he came to the city from one of the railroad construction camps. The magistrate fined the foreigner, who being financially embarrassed, will occupy quarters at the "Castle," for ten days.

Post Office Improvements.

With the completion of the post-office, and the re-arranging of the staff, Kingston will have a splendid mail service. Thomas M. Parkin, who has been a letter carrier for some years, was recommended for the position of foot collector for the city. His appointment has been made. The two new letter carriers commence duties on Monday morning.

Is Good Story Teller.

William Coe, the official stenographer, attending the dairymen's convention, is one of the best story tellers in the business. A very amusing anecdote was told upon him, and every time he has something real good. Mr. Coe has been "doing" the conventions for twenty years, and is well up in the dairymen's business. At Thursday's session he delivered a fine address, reviewing the progress made by the association in the dairying trade.

Betrayed His Trust.

Michael McGraw was arrested at Deseronto and a charge of horse-stealing preferred against him. The accused, employed at John Ford's place in Tyendinaga township, took Mr. Ford's children to school, using a horse attached to a cutter. As McGraw did not return, Mr. Ford telephoned to several places, giving a description of McGraw and the outfit he had. The result was he was apprehended at Deseronto. The accused had only been in Mr. Ford's employ for a short period.

The bell itself weighs some 4,350 pounds twice as heavy as the city hall bell which only weighs 2,035 pounds. The Kingston foundry has the contract for placing the bell and it is expected to have it in working order by Sunday. On Friday the men were busy engaged in placing it in the stand; by Saturday afternoon the work should be completed.

Alfafa in Frontenac.

At the dairymen's convention, Henry Gleadowing, a strong advocate of the growing of alfafa, was talking up the subject, when he was asked a question by Joseph Cramer, well-known as the "cheese king" of Frontenac county.

"Tell me why we cannot grow alfafa in Frontenac county?" asked Mr. Cramer. Mr. Gleadowing, of course, not knowing the local conditions, made no reply.

Tete-Kearns Wedding.

The residence of Mrs. Thomas Kearns, in Westport, was the scene of a quiet and pretty wedding Tuesday morning when her daughter, Miss Rennie, was united in marriage to Arthur H. Tett, of Outlook, Sask., son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Tett, Newboro.

Rev. Dr. W. A. McKensie officiated and the contracting couple were unattended. Following the ceremony a repast was partaken after which Mr. and Mrs. Tett came here and this morning they left for Outlook where the groom is in business.

Mrs. Tett is popular in Westport and the immediate locality and this was attested to the array of presents of which she was the recipient.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER

THE HOLY SPIRIT AND MISSIONARY WORK

Was the Subject Dealt With in Thursday—Rev. S. J. M. Compton Was the Speaker.

The Holy Spirit and Missionary Work, as set forth in Acts 1, 1-9, and Ephesians 1:11-14, was the subject of the address at the meeting of the week of prayer on Thursday evening. A large number of people gathered in the Bible school of Sydenham Street Methodist church.

Rev. S. J. M. Compton, minister of St. Andrew's church, dealt with the subject outlined. He emphasized the necessity of all Christian workers, especially those engaged in home or foreign missionary work, being enthused and stimulated to their best efforts by the Holy Spirit.

The preacher held that a man might be a Christian worker, and yet not a missionary. The gift of the spirit made the difference. He advanced the thought of missionaries in all departments of life, but contended that they were but secondary to the position of the missionary of Jesus Christ. He exhorted his hearers to fulfil the conditions and accept the gift of the Holy Spirit.

Rev. W. K. Shortt will take the last subject of the week in Bethel church on Friday evening.

PEOPLE DO NOT UNDERSTAND LETTERS TO THE EDITOR. A Citizen Makes Suggestions About Civic Chairman. Kingston, Jan. 10.—(To the Editor) I would like to make a suggestion to the City Council of 1913 with reference to the appointment of chairman of civic committees. Let it appoint a new set of men to these positions, and give the younger element in the council a chance. The mayor will, of course, be chairman of Finance, and Ald. Kent is a fixture for Parks, but there are five other committees to be directed, and I would suggest the following: Ald. Hartley for Utilities; Ald. Liston, Board of Works; Ald. Peters, Property; Ald. Shaw, Fire and Light; Ald. Hoag, Industries. The foregoing slate, I think, would be most satisfactory. Let the older heads take a rest, and criticize if they desire.—CITIZEN.
