WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS. Many Unsuccessful - And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning. The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it can be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Here is her own statement. Paw Paw, Mich. - "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my female friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it." - Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan. If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has restored the health of thousands of suffering women. Why don't you try it?

COLLEGIATES WON FROM TRENTON BY 4 TO 3. In a Hard Game on Soft Ice - The Locals Were Much Lighter in Weight Than the Visitors.

The Collegiate Institute hockey team added another win in its run for junior O.H.A. honors, at the covered rink on Wednesday evening, by defeating Trenton by 4 to 3. Two all was the standing at half-time. As was expected with the return of the heavy going affected both teams, the puck was out of the question, both lines, especially the lighter local high school boys, kept up a speedy pace to the finish.

Judging from the score and the calibre of the Trentonites, some of the local fans wondered how K.C.I. pulled out a good win in Trenton. Principal Sitter's boys are essentially a fast ice aggregation. They have a snappy combination which, of course could not be exercised to any extent on the sticky surface. Failure to take advantage of scoring positions in the first half, especially, was obvious. The northern end of the ice was hard, and in the second half, when the locals were "in" in this direction, superior work was accomplished by the line. Their centring was better and the Trenton guardian of the net was called on several times for his best efforts. Once, in a precarious situation, Pringle, for that was his name, resorted to the "kneel act," and was penalized.

While not depreciating other players, "Jim" Stewart, at centre, was the "leading light" on Wednesday evening, being directly or indirectly responsible for the four points. Brown, on the cover point, is a good check, and, as seen in the intercollegiate games last season, has the rushing ability. With fast ice, the game on Friday night, when K.C.I. meet the Frontenacs, will be a good exhibition. Each team worked hard for its score. Trenton put up a consistent effort, and left confident of winning after it had held its own in the first half. Its players are good athletes, and, as a unit, had it over K.C.I. for weight. They realized the advantage on such ice, and did not bora into the net before shooting. Tripp, the rover, a fast little player, is probably the most effective member of the outfit. McGorman might also be said to figure with the "more brilliant." Tripp and McGorman were penalized, the former a number of times, for irregularities. Cooke chiefly "reciprocated" for K.C.I.

Trenton secured their first score on a pass of McGorman to Tripp and the game was delayed for five minutes by an injury to Hawley. J. Stuart made sure of K.C.I.'s initial tally. The rubber was again banged past Pringle from the scratch, Stuart repeating the trick on Cooke's pass. Hawley evaded the score before half-time, 2-2. As noted the locals had the better of the argument in the second period. J. Stuart soon placed Collegiate in the lead by scoring from a rush from his defence. Lapore was credited with the last point for Trenton. Full time, K.C.I., 4; Trenton, 3. The teams were: K.C.I. - Goal, C. Stuart; point, R. Stewart; cover point, Brownfield; rover, Cooke; centre, J. Stuart; right wing, Hinesock; left wing, Williams. Trenton - Goal, Pringle; point, Orset; cover point, McGorman; rover, Tripp; centre, Lamore; right wing, Hawley; left wing, Crawford. Referee - "Reg." Crawford, Frontenacs.

Game Under Protest. The game between the Collegiate Institute and Trenton, on Wednesday night, was played under protest. Pringle, the goal tender for the visitors, was not a certified O.H.A. player. He and Anderson, on left wing, replaced men who played in Trenton. To Play Varsity in Toronto. Frontenac seniors leave on a G. T.R. sleeper for Toronto on Friday night. They will play Varsity seniors at 3 p.m. Saturday. Which Will Win? The senior Frontenacs had no regular hockey practice on Wednesday. The heavy ice, cut up as it was after the Trenton-K.C.I. match, was not very inviting to the players and only a few turned up. Frontenac juniors are looking forward eagerly to a brush with the Collegiate on Friday night. There has been a great deal of speculation as to which team will win and many confident bets have been made by the friends of each team. Frontenacs have been keeping close tabs on the school-boys and think they have their measure, while the institute seven are sure they can do

Both teams are very popular with the local fans and the plucky Collegiate are selected by many on account of the balance of their team, as a sure thing. The big, strong defence and the light fast forward line ought to show big work. Frontenacs, on the other hand, have perhaps a stronger defence and a heavier forward line, and may count by their weight in reckoning the score. AT THE GRAND. To-night Robert Lorraine in "Man and Superman."

Among the few cities in the limited tour of Robert Lorraine and his London company of players, under the management of the Lichler company in "Man and Superman," Kingston has been included, and to-night the young English star will be seen at the Grand. During the seven years since Mr. Lorraine interrupted his American tour to present his brightest of all George Bernard Shaw's comedies in London, he has been recognized by the London critics as the most brilliant of England's young comedians. Indeed his wit and versatility put him on the same plane as the distinguished author of the play.

Mr. Lorraine has been especially fortunate in securing the services of such notable actors as Louisa Mason, Kayle Allen, William McVey, A. P. Hayton and Rockliffe Fellows, and with Elsie Kelly to play the role of Ann; Ethel Marryatt, as Mrs. Whitefield, and Marguerite Unett as Violet, the young lady who rests under the sun. These artists in his support, Mr. Lorraine has an array of talent that has scarcely if ever been equalled in presenting a modern comedy. "Little Women."

A stage version of "Little Women," which has been made by Marian de Forest, magazine writer and dramatic critic of the Buffalo Express, will be produced by William A. Brady, and be the attraction at the Grand on Saturday, Jan. 18th, matinee and night. "Little Women," the play, is in reality "Little Women" the book, made into a character comedy in four acts and two scenes, which tell the familiar story of the March girls, Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy, and all those concerned in the development of the story; Laurie, handsome, debonaire; the professor; Mr. and Mrs. March; old Hannah, who grumbles so much that no one else has a chance; old Mr. Laurence, and Aunt March, the crochety family scold. Furthermore, the story of "Little Women" is really the story of Louisa M. Alcott and her three sisters. Miss Alcott is the original of Jo; Meg is Anna Alcott, her older sister; Beth is Elizabeth Alcott, whose death in childhood cast a heavy shadow over the lives of her remaining children; and the story of her artistic hopes and dreams is true to life, just as is the account of Jo's endeavors to win fame and fortune through the efforts of her pen, a dream that she lived to see come true in most abundant measure.

MAN DESTROYS BOTH EYES. Undergoes Operation at Watertown Sisters' Hospital. Carthage, N.Y., Jan. 16. - Blind for life, Roy Baxter, twenty-four, of Carthage, is at the Sisters' Hospital, Watertown, after having both eyes removed by Drs. Calkins and Farmer, in an effort to save his life. The young man attempted to commit suicide at his home last night. Baxter used a revolver to accomplish the desired end. The bullet pierced both eyes and then forced its way out. The right eyeball was entered and the nerve of the left eye was also clipped by the missile. Dr. Calkins made the statement to-day that the chances were even on the man's ultimate recovery.

Widow's Bridal Garb. Not very long ago there was much restriction of color about the bridal dress of a widow, but this wanting year has seen many changes in that respect. A very handsome and charming widow bride wore palest blue, with hat to match, and many plumes of the same soft hue. Another wore gold color, and looked fascinating with a silk embroidered tunic to match it in hue. Her black velvet hat was crowned with gold and yellow feathers. A short while ago the widow of a well-known man wore matching with on the occasion of her second marriage. The gown was charming, the long trained skirt bordered with dark brown fur, and some beautiful antique Brussels lace trimmed the corsage and formed mesh ends. To complete the harmony of the tulle the brown velvet hat exactly matched her sable stole. There is really no reason that the bridal toilet of widows should not show almost any color, except perhaps white and very light cream, and, of course, black.

New Selection for R.C.H.A. Band. Those interested in the excellent concert of the R.C.H.A. band in the Grand Opera House, will be pleased to know that the request blanks passed around at the last concert have had the effect of bringing to light a long forgotten but very pretty little work of Schubert's. The piece is called, "O Weine Nicht," and is said to be one of that great writer's minor compositions. It was brought from Germany by W. A. Besh, who, while ill in bed in the Hotel Dieu, wrote out and harmonized the only copy that Kingston is known to possess. This manuscript is owned by O. V. Bartels, Alfred street, who loaned it for the next concert to Bandmaster Light.

Judge Price's Good Suggestion. Judge Price stated at the hearing of the Dog Lake bridge case at the court-house on Wednesday afternoon, that he did not altogether approve of the present system for the keep of the county bridges. At the present time, the County Council assumes the responsibility of looking after these bridges and the collect fifty per cent. of the cost from the Township Councils. Judge Price suggested that the Township Councils take the responsibility and then collect half the cost from the County Council. It would be better in every respect, as the bridges would receive better attention.

Richardson, Kingston, and James Playfair, Midland, two directors of the R. & O. company, gave the "street" the chance to again discuss the probable changes in the directorate of this company, due to the change in the personnel controlling it.
