LIBERALS OF BRITAIN THE BOARD OF HEALTH

FACE COMING SESSION WITH GREAT CONFIDENCE.

Reforms Becoming Better Understood—The Only Snag is the Suffragette Problem—Home Secretary McKenna Criticized.

Special cable.
London, March 1.—When the commons assemble next week for a short, strenuous session, it is admitted by independent observers that the liberal government will be in a strong position, with the exception of two features, the Welsh disestablishment bill and the suffragette problem. Premier Asquith and his cabinet face the session with a high degree of confidence, in fact a greater confidence than shown by any liberal government since Gladstone's time.

As the various reforms come to be better understood, Lloyd-George's policies are more popular. There is not so much opposition to stamp-duties as there was three months ago. Various social reforms are outliving their early antagonism and becoming party assets.

The great thorn in the government's side is the militant suffragette problem. Home Secretary McKenna is still releasing women who refuse to eat and wear prison clothes. It is rumored here that this leniency is more likely to cause a split in the government than anything else.

THE WORLD'S NEWS.

SAVE LIFE AFTER SHOCK.

Clothing of the Victim Acts as Insulator.

In dealing with persons suffering from electric shock, if the victim remains in contact with the circuit his body must not be touched by the rescuer, but the latter may pull him out of contact by hauling on the clothing, or he may take off his own coat, insert his hands in the sleeves and then handle the victim with little or no risk.

Almost any article of clothing or material may be used, provided it is dry and of moderate thickness. Dr. Morton points out that death from electric shock is only an apparent death at first, and that there is practically always a time during which it is possible to resuscitate the victim by artificial respiration.—The Lancet.

FORTUNE FROM WASTE WOOD.

Utilize Resinous Wood That is Now Discarded.

Washington, D.C., March 1.—The possibility of more thoroughly utilizing the enormous quantities of waste resinous wood produced in the lumber industry has been disclosed by an investigation just completed by the bureau of chemistry.

The annual waste, it is estimated, is not less than 8,000,000 cords. This can be manufactured into paper pulp, turpentine, rosin oils, pine oils, wood alcohol and other products to a value of nearly $300,000,000.

The March Century.

The March Century contains many special features both in text and illustration. Robert Hichens' travel series on the Balkan peninsula begins in that number, and is illustrated in color by Jules Guerin, who has done similar duty in previous travel series by Mr. Hichens written for the Century. Joseph Pennell's new series of lithographs also begins in the March number, with six views of the capitol at Washington. Mr. Hichens' article also has two Pennell pictures.

DISCUSSED GARBAGE AND WATER QUESTIONS.

Will Try and Remedy the Cause of Complaint—The Question of Milk Delivery To Be Discussed Later.

The Board of Health on Friday afternoon discussed the garbage system, the water supply and the delivery of milk. In attendance were: Mayor T. J. Rigney, (chairman); H. McBratney B. Blackhall and the medical health officer, Dr. A. R. B. Williamson.

The following communications were received and dealt with: George Quail, re sewer on Mack street, the city engineer will be asked to report at next meeting as to the advisability of the same.

Mr. Greer, for new sewer on College street, no action.

J. McIntyre, asking payment of $8.75 for coal used while his building was under quarantine. Under the advice of city solicitor, it was decided to notify the claimant that city was not liable for the acid amount.

For some time there has been great dissatisfaction throughout the city, about the collection of garbage. The board thought the only thing it could do at present was to furnish the inspector and the police with a better system of dealing with the complaints that arise. The collectors object on many occasions to take the garbage as so many citizens put glass and tin cans in it.

One of the members was under the impression that a system should be adopted the same as in the larger cities, where the pails are all put out in the front street. Although this plan met with approval, it was thought that if a closer tab were kept, the difficulty would be overcome.

The board also took up the question of chlorine in the city water. It was thought wise to ask the manager of civic utilities to report each month as to how much chlorine was being used in the water. Mr. Blackhall was of the impression that it would be a wise plan to place a machine in the waterworks to distribute this acid in the water.

When asked the condition of the intake pipe, Mayor Rigney stated that the diver told him the pipe was in as good condition as the day it was put down.

The medical health officer reported the health of the citizens to be excellent for the past six weeks. Dr. W. T. Connell reported the ice that is being cut to be good.

Mr. Blackhall also brought up the question of the milk supply of the city. He was of the impression that milk should be delivered in cans or bottles. This matter will be taken up at a later meeting.

"McFADDEN'S FLATS."

There Are Other Plays But None So Popular.

This year, that best of all roaring musical farce spectacles, "McFadden's Flats," comes to the Grand to-night, with everything re-arranged, sparkling and rejuvenated. The management has replaced everything heretofore used with entirely new up-to-date material and the consequence is a brand new and thoroughly finished farce comedy, spectacular review of the latest fads and funny things of the day.

"McFadden's Flats" has a brilliant and prettily costumed chorus of youthful maidens assisting in the attractively arranged ensembles and the modern popular music leaves nothing to be desired in a musical way. The specialties are the best that ever appeared in any musical farce comedy. A wealth of money has been expended on "McFadden's Flats" this season to costume it beyond the fondest dreams of the indulgent public.

"Freckles" Coming.

The dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's "Freckles," has proved that there is no end of success to good, clean, moral plays. It is to the credit of A. L. Delamater, he of the "Beverly of Granstark," and other successful plays, who first saw the possibilities of Mrs. Porter's work, and now it stands as one of the substantial successes of the past decade of theatrical history.

Mr. Delamater has given "Freckles" a perfect stage investiture, and there will be found nothing wanting in the matter of scenery, accessories or cast; it is up to the required standard of a Delamater production, and that should be sufficient. It will be seen at the Grand on Saturday, March 8th. Bargain matinee and night.

As a love story, it is full of real sentiment.

STOCK JUDGING CLASSES.

Horses, and Sheep Were Considered on Friday.

The classes in stock judging at the Amnorce, held by J. G. Taggart, under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute of Frontenac, were continued on Friday morning and afternoon.

In the morning a class of light road horses were before the meeting, and the class listened to a very interesting lecture given by Duncan Brown, of Ottawa, on the merits and demerits of horses in this class. After the lecture Mr. Taggart called for individuals from the audience to classify the horses present as they saw fit. This was done, and afterwards Mr. Brown went over the horses and placed them, giving his reasons for each placing.

In the afternoon, the sheep were on the floor, and Mr. Taggart spoke on the sheep and classified them. After the sheep, the heavydraft horses were brought before the class, and a very instructive address followed from Mr. Brown, in which he pursued the same plan as in the morning. The individual placing of the horses brought in some interesting discussions in which many valuable points were touched upon.

It had been intended to have a class of artillery horses before the institute, but as there were very few there interested in this class, the meeting was adjourned.
