Mr. Morgan's Successor. New York American. J. P. Morgan's health, despite the cheerful daily assurances, is causing deep-seated concern in financial circles.

The advice which Sydney Smith gave to Lord Murray on the subject of diet was probably sound. "If you wish for anything like happiness in the fifth act of life," he wrote, "eat and drink about one-half of what you could eat and drink. Did I ever tell you my calculations about eating and drinking? Having ascertained the weight of what I could live upon, so as to preserve health and strength, and what I'd live upon, I found that between 10 and 70 years of age, I had eaten and drunk 44 horse wagon loads of meat and drink more than would have preserved me in life and health!

The value of this amount of nourishment I considered to be worth £7,000 sterling. It occurred to me that I must, by my voracity, have starved to death, fully 100 persons. This is a frightful calculation, but irresistibly true."—London Chronicle.

"Up" in Any Case. Mrs. Langtry, in an interview in New York, urged gay clothes for American men—sky blue trousers, red velvet coats, golden waistcoats and so forth—though she admitted that the "rehab boys" or "trick" hats were as gay as she could wish and required no change.

"Gay clothes," said Mrs. Langtry, "encourage gay thoughts, and by gay thoughts I mean wholesome, cheerful thoughts. I am a wife and I urge every girl to say 'No' to the dissipated man who would marry her."

Mrs. Langtry smiled and added: "The man a girl is obliged to stand up for before marriage she will have to sit up for afterward."

What a Record! Saskatchewan Phoenix. Sixteen years ago Harriet Nugent, a little girl, three years old, was run over by a trolley car in New York and had to have her leg amputated. Four years later a dilatory court awarded her $5,000 damages. The verdict was set aside under conditions that monopolistic concerns so well know how to manipulate. A day or two ago, justice apparently tore the bandage off her eyes, got busy and now Miss Nugent gets her $5,000 plus $6,000 interest. During all these years the crippled girl has been supported by a sister who works in a department store. Sixteen years to do justice to a permanently crippled girl! What a record for a civilized country!

In choosing hair brushes use cold water and a little soda. This will not soften the bristles or make them velvety.

FINIS CORONAT OPUS.

By J. E. Harle. Grim groups of unexploded despair, Where countless things hold sway; and rare The puny hand of man.

Where glittering crystals, blizzard blown, The road that leads to Death have shewn. Since toil on earth began.

A realm, where partial victory won By man, is but a task begun, A toil that breaks the soul,

When do or die, is man's one creed, And fearless heart, his one great need, To win the mighty goal.

To ye who gave to earth the best, That ever mortal man possessed, A life; your life, your all, Whose bones 'neath icy mountains lay,

And o'er whose tomb mad natures play, And sunless sky your pall, To you, brave Scott, of mighty name

And you, grand Oates, of deathless fame, And all your comrades brave, We bare our hearts, and ever sing, Oh! Death, where is thy mighty sting? Thy victory, oh! grave!

Heart-breaking, soul-revolting task, Where mighty icy mountains back, In ceaseless solitudes, Where tears and laughter, close akin, And grief and humor born a twin, In melancholy broods.

Where far away as eye may dwell, A mighty vast an icy hell, Man's mightiest task improves, And heavy death wanders glad, and heavy on its near.

And Time is measured not by years, And only Nature moves. Take off your cloaks of hideous cant, And here and now our best implant, And no true gift deersy.

And may we live, enriched in soul, Like those who died, yet reached their goal, So may we nobly die.

President Taft's Veto.

Chicago Daily News. General solicitation will be felt by the American public because of President Taft's veto of the bill that was intended to establish a literacy test for immigrants.

The arguments presented to him against this measure were in many cases unanswerable. The worth of a man cannot be accurately judged by his possession of book learning or his lack of it.

Not honest ignorance due to lack of opportunity to learn, but moral obliquity and physical incompetence are the defects that should suffice to exclude foreign applicants.

"CASCARETS" MAKE YOU FEEL GREAT

A 10 Cent Box Will Keep You LIVER, STOMACH AND BOWELS Clean, Pure and Fresh for Months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels, or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters form a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10c. box from your druggist means your liver clear, stomach sweet and your bowels and bowels clean and regular for months.

THE SASH AT THE SIDE A SPRING FEATURE.

Tired of the sash at the back the French courtesiers are now knitting or tying sashes at the side of the costume; and various materials beside the conventional ribbon are used for these new sashes.

BREWER'S MILLS WEDDING.

Miss Lulu Todd Married to William S. Anglin. Brewer's Mills, Feb. 27.—On the evening of Feb. 26th a pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Thomas Todd, Brewer's Mills, when his daughter, Miss Lulu, was united in matrimony to William S. Anglin, of Batterssea, Rev. Seelye E. Harrington, B.A., of Pittsburg, officiating.

The bride, who was very prettily gowned, was given away by her father, while her sister, Miss Olive played the wedding march. The ceremony over, all sat down to a sumptuous repast, the dining room being beautifully decorated. After a most enjoyable evening, the bridal party drove to Batterssea where a delightful and well-furnished home awaits them. The bride was one of the most popular ladies of the community, and her many friends wish her every happiness and prosperity in her new sphere.

Princess's Magic Wand. The Kaiser's daughter, the Princess Victoria Louise, while staying at the castle of Rembrandt recently sent for ten little girls of a neighboring village, and formed them into a ring around her. With a wand held in her hand, the Princess put to the children a series of questions.

At the close of the catechisation, the Kaiserin, who was standing by, spoke up thus: "Now comes punishment for all who have answered wrongly," and the Princess laughingly dragged forward one of the girls, made her hold out her hand, and—whack! down came the stick upon the tightly stretched little palm.

But instead of pain, the culprit felt something hard left behind in her hand—a stick of chocolate. There was an outcry at once to the effect that all the replies had been erroneous, and the wand, which had been hollowed and equipped for the occasion, continued to deal out its benevolent chastisement until the chocolate stuffing was exhausted.

The Kaiser laughingly bestowed on his daughter the title of the "Willage Governess," in commemoration of the incident.

An Old Chum.

The conductor of a western freight train saw a tramp stealing a ride on one of the forward cars. He told a brakeman in the caboose to go up and put the man off at the first stop. When the brakeman approached the tramp the latter waved a big revolver and told him to get away.

"Did you get rid of him?" the conductor asked when the train was under motion again. "I hadn't the heart," was the reply. "He turned out to be an old school friend of mine."

"I'll take care of him," said the conductor, as he started over the tops of the cars. When the train had started the brakeman came and said: "Well, is he off?"

"No; he turned out to be an old school friend of mine, too," replied the conductor.

Rubbing It In.

Mayor Stewart, at an insurance men's banquet in Saginaw, told an insurance story. "A septuagenarian," he began, "said one evening at dinner to his fair young wife:

"I'm getting, I have just insured my life in your favor for $100,000. 'Oh, you duck!' the beautiful girl cried, and, rising and passing round the table, she kissed her husband lightly on his bald head.

"Darling," he said, taking her slim white hand, 'is there anything else I can do for you?'"

"Nothing on earth," she answered; and then, with a little silvery laugh, she added, "Nothing in this world. Nothing under heaven."

For a cinder in the eye, roll soft paper up like a lampbrush and wet the tip. The cinder will adhere to it by rubbing the well eye.

Russell-Knight "28" Touring Model . . . $3250 Russell-Knight "28" Roadster Model . . . $3200 Russell-Knight Seven Passenger . . . $3500 F.O.M. West Toronto.

The man about to purchase a car may read this phrase and wonder precisely what is meant by it. Let us tell you and in the telling, see if we cannot offer some good suggestions.

There are probably half a dozen first-class cars whose specifications and equipment read alike, and at first sight alike, and upon the first demonstration perform equally well. How, then, is one to choose a car? Well, in the first place, all those apparently equal cars represent unequal values.

You couldn't select two of them selling for the same price which cost approximately the same figure to manufacture. There are no two of them that are built from precisely the same grade of raw materials worked up by men of equal skill, and which, under test, will live up to a given standard for an equal period of time.

It is also important to know whether the company manufactures its own parts or merely assembles them. You don't want to have your car tied up for a month or so waiting for a part to be imported.

It is an actual fact that Russell-Knight cars are the only cars that are designed and manufactured in Canada. It is also a fact that no money is spared to make every part and feature of the Russell-Knight as perfect as it is possible for human ingenuity and the most modern machinery to produce.

We set a standard for every unit—and despite cost make every unit live up to that standard.

In conclusion we ask that, before purchasing your 1913 car, you make comparison of the Russell-Knight "28" with any other car in its class. If you will do this we are satisfied to abide by the result of your judgment, feeling assured that you must inevitably purchase from us.

A descriptive catalogue will be mailed, or a demonstration will be arranged upon request to the nearest branch or agent. RUSSELL MOTOR CAR CO. Limited Head Office and Factory: West Toronto.

TELLS ABOUT VARIOUS SUGARS. An English Gentleman. Keeping Dead Ancestors. There is Ignorance About Things to Eat. Nothing more heroic, and nothing more characteristically English, could be recorded than the remark of Captain Oates, of the Scott expedition, when he went to his death in the hope that thereby his companions might live. Crippled and weak, leaning listlessly on his companions, he left them to the purpose of losing himself in the storm. Such acts may be less common than we think among the men of every race. But the last words of Captain Oates, "I'm going outside and may be some time," reveal that peculiarly self-possessed and nonchalant heroism which an English officer and gentleman exhibits almost as a matter of course. Cool, apparently unemotional, such a man goes to certain death as if it were all a part of the day's work. Nor does he even think of his act as heroic. There have been hundreds of heroes of this type in the story of the British Empire. Providence Journal.
