

DISCONTENT GENERAL OVER WHITNEY'S FAILURE

To Bring in a Workmen's Compensation Bill

TESTING TIME HERE

SAYS THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF LABOR PARTY.

And It is Up To Sir James Whitney And His Government To Do Something For The Workmen—Liberal Policy is For Better Compensation.

Toronto, April 5.—"We were simply astounded to hear Sir James Whitney say there was practically no likelihood of a Workmen's Compensation Bill being passed this session," declared a prominent labor leader. "Since the prime minister's announcement I have heard a number of workmen talking with great interest and animation about the subject, and without an exception they condemn Whitney for the threatened delay. It was in 1908 that the legislation was first promised and here in 1913 with nothing done in the house and, according to the premier, nothing to be done until next year."

From every source come similar stories of discontent. This week the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, through its legislative committee, scored the government for its delay and the current issue of the Industrial Banner, (the official labor paper) declares that the "testing time" has come and that "it's up to Sir James Whitney and his government." Allan Studholme, labor member for East Hamilton, and N. W. Rowell, liberal leader, have both expressed their willingness, their anxiety, to have the session continued until an adequate compensation bill is brought in, considered fully and made law. They recognize that the matter is a vital one for the workmen of the whole province. It is no mere theory. The lack of a workmen's compensation act is causing trouble and hardship to men and their wives and families to an extent not appreciated by the general public.

Read What James J. Hill Says About Women Shoppers

Every woman tries to get the best value for her money. That is natural and proper, but the indiscriminate hunt for bargain spells trouble. "The tendency of the average woman," says James J. Hill, "is to buy everything as cheaply as possible. That is the worst kind of economy. It is difficult to convince a housewife of this fact; but when she once realizes it she is on the true road to making money. The same principle that governs a railway in buying steel rails ought to govern the housewife in her purchase of beefsteak—not how cheap, but how good."

"Not how cheap, but how good for the price." Read the advertisements of the merchants who advertise in THE WHIG with that in mind and your purchases will give every satisfaction.

The best is the cheapest.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL REIGN SUPREME

In Both Houses—Told That the Tariff Bill is in Jeopardy.

Washington, April 5.—President Wilson has started to canvass the membership of the United States senate to see what chance there is for free sugar and free wool in the administration tariff bill which is to be jammed through the house at the extra session of congress. Senators Simmons, of North Carolina; Hoke Smith, of Georgia; and Stone, of Missouri, with whom the president has had frequent conferences, were again at the White House and gave the president the latest information as to the chances for the passage of a bill containing free sugar and free wool. The senators informed the president that at least seven members of the democratic party in the senate would vote against any provision for free sugar. They said that these seven members might even go so far as to vote against the entire tariff bill if that were the only way in which they could express their disapproval of a clause which would mean ruin to the sugar industry of their states. If the democrats should lose seven votes on the tariff bill it would probably mean the failure of the whole programme unless enough progressive republicans could be induced to join forces with the democrats and make up for the defections.

JAMES C. DAHLGREN
COMMISSIONER OF MARRIAGES

A SECRET INVENTION THAT WILL PROTECT THE BRITISH NAVY FROM AERIAL ATTACK—IT IS FOR BRITAIN ONLY.

London, April 5.—The London Standard says that by a jealously guarded secret invention, the British navy may, it is claimed, be protected from an aerial attack. The inventor is Arthur Jenkins, an Englishman, who says he believes the discovery will banish the fear of aircraft dropping bombs on warships. He has been in communication with Winston Churchill on the subject.

The admiralty experts tested the invention, and, he alleged, were convinced of its epoch-making qualities. He was an Englishman all through, and the invention was for British ships only. The other powers are anxious to get the secret. Secret service men on behalf of the German and Russian governments approached him, once asking him to name his own price.

Two were killed and eleven seriously injured when the B. O. Sfer, running sixty miles an hour, plunged into an open switch, at midnight, and crashed into the station. The train, after leaving the track, turned on its side.

If your money is bringing you in less than six per cent, it is not invested to its best advantage. We can sell you safe, high-grade bonds and stocks which will bring you in six per cent. and better. Howard S. Folger, 44 Clarence street.
