

Father Vaughan's New Book.

SOCIALISM

From the CHRISTIAN STANDPOINT. Ten Conferences

by Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan.

We reprint the following quotation from the author's preface: "It is at the earnest and repeated request of very many non-Catholics, as well as Catholics who heard them, that I am venturing to publish these Conferences on Socialism from the Standpoint of Christianity."

"These Conferences do not pretend to be exhaustive treatises on the subject with which they deal. On the contrary, they are meant to open up vistas of thought, while they themselves deal rather with the larger principles of the question, than enter fully into the scholastic and economic difficulties to which they give rise."

UNION MEETING HELD COLLINS BAY WEDDING

OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES OF THE CITY.

In Bethel Church Wednesday Evening—Prof. Cook, of the Congregational College, Montreal, Was the Speaker.

At Bethel church on Friday evening a union prayer meeting was held at the First, Bethel and Calvary congregational churches. A good attendance was present to hear the call of Prof. E. A. Cook, of the Congregational Theological College, Montreal, for men for the ministry. Prof. Cook laid the responsibility of finding and bringing out the suitable men for the work of the ministry on the people of the church, the parents of the children, and their friends.

He showed in a very simple way how a man who would make a minister might be discovered and insisted on the duty of the parents and of the congregation. He said that for evident reasons the old preaching was found ineffectual and endeavored to locate the cause. Now when the wish to live and get rich is the great one with the common people, they have become very practical. A man seeks riches because he desires pleasure, power and health. Let him have the riches. In what way is he going to try and promote investment. The qualities of a promoter should be first that he be progressive and industrious. The promoter of Christ's kingdom requires the same energy and diligence in the same way. He must have the riches of Christ's gift within himself. In closing the speaker made a strong appeal for support in prayer and for the work of the college. He also gave a short review of what the college was doing and reported that the attendance was larger than ever before.

SERMONS OUT OF CHURCH.

Short Practical Talks On Practical Subjects.

REV. BYRON H. STAUFFER.

The Whig has secured another exclusive feature, a series of sermons on practical themes by Rev. Byron H. Stauffer, pastor of Bond Street Congregational church, Toronto. The first "Laying Out To-morrow's Work" will appear on Saturday, on page 9. Rev. Mr. Stauffer has the journalist's grip of things, having in his early days covered all assignments from our reporter to telegraph editor. He writes concisely and to the point, is a close student of problems that interest the masses, and in his "Sermons Out of Church" deals with some of these with telling effect.

TRICKED SOME MERCHANTS.

Ordered Liquor, And Got a Little For Himself.

On Wednesday a man, who is said to be quite an ordinary-looking individual, nicely fooled some local merchants. He called at three different liquor stores and ordered at each ten gallons of whiskey for a certain yacht that was supposed to be moored at Swift's wharf. The understanding was "C.O.D." to a Capt. Crawford. Then he entered a hardware store and ordered a quantity of rope and pulleys for delivery to this yacht.

The delivery wagons of the hardware merchant and two of the liquor stores arrived at the wharf on Wednesday with the orders. However, one of the latter took the precaution to enquire if the yacht was in. Early on Thursday morning the other consignment of booze arrived. Of course, the supposed yacht was nowhere to be found and most of those concerned appreciated the joke. The man responsible for the affair had an aim in view. He was endeavoring to extract a free drink from the dealers. At each place he asked if they would give him a bottle of whiskey in advance, as Capt. Crawford would settle for the whole at the wharf.

Polock's Leg Broken.

A Polock, engaged on the railroad construction near Clarendon, was the victim of an accident on Wednesday. He, with a number of men, were working in the cut when, without warning, a large stone fell on his leg, breaking it. He was brought to the city on Wednesday afternoon over the Canadian Pacific railway. S. S. Corbett's ambulance removed him to the general hospital.

Prof. Taylor, of Queen's, left on his summer vacation trip on Wednesday.

MISS EMMA MAY RANKIN WAS THE BRIDE.

And Peter Greenwood, of Toronto, the Groom—Prof. Laird, of Kingston, Officiated at the Happy Event on Wednesday.

A pretty house wedding took place at the home of Mrs. George F. Clarke, of Collins Bay, Ont., on Wednesday, 23rd inst., at 10 a.m., when her sister, Emma May Rankin, was united in matrimony to Peter Greenwood, of Toronto, formerly of Montreal.

The ceremony was performed by Prof. Laird, of Kingston. The drawing-room was beautifully decorated, the corner in which the bride stood being a solid mass of green. The winsome young bride looked very charming as she entered the room leaning on the arm of her brother-in-law, George F. Clarke, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. She wore a suit of cream chiffon and cord the coat opening over a blouse of cream chamoisee satin with a yoke of Carrickmacross lace, and lapels trimmed with pearl sequin buttons and French knots. A white picture hat, faced with black velvet, with a white plume which fell gracefully across the crown and was caught under the rim completed the costume. She carried a shower bouquet of cream roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by Miss Harriett Workman, who also looked charming in a suit of pink chamoisee satin draped with flowered nixon with head edging, and a large picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

Edmund Greenwood, of Montreal, acted as groomsmen. The wedding party was very much pleased with the production of the comedy, "The Rainbow." Henry Miller, Canada's leading actor, headed the company, which was strong in every role. There is a decided merit to the comedy. If there was not, Henry Miller would not be consulted with it. Hence when this actor is announced, one can count not only upon witnessing a star, but upon seeing a good play.

The acting of every role was of the finished kind, and naturalness was in evidence. Mr. Miller was delightful throughout. Particularly good was Louise Chesser Hale as "Betsy Sumner." Ruth Chatterton as "Cynthia," the daughter of "Neil Sumner" (Henry Miller), acted with girlish charm. The stage settings were among the most chaste ever seen at the Grand.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Henry Miller in "The Rainbow" on Wednesday Evening.

The large audience at the Grand last evening was very much pleased with the production of the comedy, "The Rainbow." Henry Miller, Canada's leading actor, headed the company, which was strong in every role. There is a decided merit to the comedy. If there was not, Henry Miller would not be consulted with it. Hence when this actor is announced, one can count not only upon witnessing a star, but upon seeing a good play.

"Seven Days."

The most brilliant comedy success of recent years will be the attraction at the Grand on Saturday, April 26th matinee and night, when "Seven Days" will be presented with a notable English cast headed by Miss Eva Unsell. "Seven Days" is a three-act farce comedy by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood. The dialogue is sparkling and witty and touches of real sentiment and romance are cleverly introduced during the action of the play. The English cast is headed by Miss Eva Unsell, the charming comedienne, and the production is handsomely staged and mounted.

He Is Much Alive.

In the issue of the Whig of April 21st, was an account of the death of William Kilpatrick, blacksmith, Westport. "There is some mistake," writes Mr. Kilpatrick, "as I am the man referred to, and I am very much alive." The paragraph was clipped from a district exchange.

Brought Coyote Skins.

Percy Detlor, formerly of Arden, but now of the western provinces, is in the city on a visit. He is showing some "disable coyote skins which he secured in the west." He says that the animals are very thick in that part of the country.

QUITE LIVELY BLAZE

IN CARRIAGE SHOP OF W. G. FROST, QUEEN STREET.

Damage Was Done To Contents, Estimated at $2,500. With $500 Damage to Building—Automobile Caught Fire From Heat From a Lamp, and Was Destroyed—Storage Escaped Damage.

Fire, which broke out about ten minutes of eight o'clock, on Wednesday night, in the carriage shop of W. G. Frost, 299 Queen street, did about $2,500 damage to the stock, and $500 to the building. The building is insured.

It was one of the most stubborn fires the firemen had to work at for some time; their work prevented what at first looked as if it would be a serious blaze. Next to the workshop there is a storage, where furniture is put away, for about seventy-five families, and if this had caught fire, it would have been a very serious matter. Luckily, however, the flames were kept away, and there are many people breathing somewhat easier today than when the fire started on Wednesday night. The furniture was not disturbed, and people who had furniture stored here can rest easy.

All day to-day, Mr. Frost had a very busy time, answering telephone calls about the fire. A great many had the idea that the fire was in the storage. The fire-proof roof, so the goods were given the best of care by Mr. Frost. Between the workshop and the storage there is a stone wall, and this, too, was the means of keeping back the fire.

The fire started in the workshop. Mr. Frost had occasion to be doing some work around an automobile, which required a small lamp. The heat from the lamp set fire to a piece of celluloid on the back of the car, and in an instant there was a fire. Thinking that it would be but a trifling affair, Mr. Frost tried to smother out the blaze with his coat, but it was useless. The car was soon a mass of flames. Immediately a telephone call was sent to the firemen, and they arrived in a few minutes.

The firemen used three streams, two from Queen street and one from Colborne street, and in a very short time had the fire under control. Mr. Frost was greatly pleased with the way the fire was handled, and spectators stated that a very quick check was given to what they believed would be a bad fire.

The automobile is almost a total wreck. It is a Ford car, and is owned by J. E. Fry, of Napanee. Two buggies were also destroyed and a coal oil wagon slightly damaged. Several buggies were taken out and escaped damage.
