FOR SAFETY ON SEA

RESULT OF THE GERMAN EM-PEROR'S SUGGESTION.

International Conference to be Held in London—It Will Probably Lead to Adoption of Uniform Code of Regulations.

London, May 2.—As a result of the suggestion of the German emperor, some months ago, an important international conference is to be held in London, probably in September, to which all the shipping interests on both sides of the Atlantic will be invited. The conference will deliberate upon questions pertaining to the greater safety of life and property at sea with a view to the adoption of a uniform code of regulations.

The life-saving rules which were framed by the Board of Trade directly after the Titanic disaster, and which came into force on March 1st, will, it is expected, be amended to some extent when the boats and davits committee presents its final report. An interchange of opinion on the subject is now taking place between the different governments concerned.

Other measures, notably the equipment of ice observation vessels and the diversion of North Atlantic liners further south, have already been adopted with a view to safer navigation. On July 1st next a new radio-telegraphic agreement will take effect throughout the world. Among other things it provides for a constant wireless watch on ocean-going passenger steamers and the interruption of long distance messages for three minutes at the end of every quarter of an hour at times when it is likely distress calls might otherwise not be heard.

THE OLD RED SCHOOL HOUSE.

Verses Written By Arthur C. Hart, of Oates.

Beside the quiet country road it stands;
Its red walls gleaming in the morning sun,
Within is heard the sound of busy hands,
And hum of many lessons just begun.

The teachers voice comes through the open door,
Helping his willing class to work and win;
Or gently, sternly, scolding three or four,
Who, loitering late, come softly gliding in.

An air of rustic sense pervades the place,
And shines out clearly from a score of eyes,
But here and there a laughing bright-eyed face,
Makes known where fun and sport-ive spirit lies.

Thus, day by day and year by year,
The same,
Though faces change and old ones disappear,
The building stands, aspiring not to fame,
Contented with its rural-toned career.

O, little building, standing there alone,
Beside the road that oft my feet have trod,
Your memory in my heart has deep-ly grown,
And 'er will flourish in its greenest sod.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Lithuanian Landlord Accused of Killing a Relative.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, May 2.—An extraordinary sensation was caused by the arrest of Baron John Bisping, one of the wealthiest landlords of Lithuania, on the charge of murdering Prince Ladislav Drucki Lubeczki, a close relative by marriage, whose body was found pierced with two bullet wounds, on April 22nd, in the park adjoining his residence at Terzin, near Warsaw.

Prince Ladislav Drucki Lubeczki, who was a well-known Polish nobleman, and president of the automobile club, of Warsaw, left his house on April 22nd with Baron Bisping with the intention of accompanying him to the railway station. As the prince did not return a search was made and his body was then found in the park with his carriage and horses standing near by.

The arrest of Baron Bisping followed on his evidence at the inquest, which the police allege was contradictory in regard to the last moments of the two men spent together.

Baron John Bisping married a Princess Radziwill, daughter of Count Andrew Zamoyaki and Princess Caroline De Bourgon.

Prince Ladislav was a grandson of the last Polish minister of finance.

ADmits to Polygamy.

Thorpe's Statement Breaks Silence in Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City, May 2.—John T. Thorpe, while he was being examined as to his fitness to act as a juror in a murder case, said:

"I have lived in polygamy many years and still do so." When he was asked to tell where he lived Thorpe gave two addresses and then explained that he had families living at both houses.

Thorpe said he married his second wife before the manifesto prohibiting plural marriages was issued by Lorenzo Snow, late president of the Mormon church, and that he believed he was doing right in continuing to live in polygamy.

The county attorney later said the case had been called to his attention, and that he would begin an investigation at once. This is the first admission by anyone of the practice of polygamy that has been made here for many years.

With steel now laid to within forty miles west of Biggar on the Biggar-Calgary line of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, and with good prospects of the opening of this line between Biggar and Saskatchewan before the end of the current year, the grain growers in the district affected are looking forward to an easy movement on their 1913 crop.

AN AMERICAN SEIZED.

Placed Under Arrest by Order of Huerta Government.

Mexico City, May 2.—An American, William B. Wofford, foreman of the Santa Rosa plantation near Ojiltlan, in Oaxaca, has been seized by what was at first thought to be a newly organized band of rebels from Southern Vera Cruz.

The American ambassador was informed of the capture of Wofford and made representations to the foreign office. An investigation followed and the foreign office explained that the commander of the band, Manuel Alvarado, was not a rebel, and that his men were irregulars of the government. The further statement was made that Wofford was placed under arrest on the charge of having accepted bad treatment to his field hands.

Wofford has been held incommunicado, and the ambassador has requested the government to withdraw the incommunicado order and hasten the investigation.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should wherever they obtain eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from an all round body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up on a miserable existence of lean meats and fruits, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or fruit product which contains a moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a half teaspoonful of Bismarck's Magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly, and that Magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, it thus removes the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining. It does more than could possibly be done by any drug medicine. As a physician I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary; but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little Bismarck's Magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the Bismarck's Magnesia as directed above and see if I'm not right.

SAILORMAN'S SPRING.

All is Activity Along the Lakes When Navigation Opens.

Escorted by two puffing and panting little tugs, a mighty steel leviathan, one of the stately fresh-water passenger steamers, is swung from its winter moorings, amid much shouting of orders from anxious mates, sharp-whistled signals, handling of lines and to the landlubber's eye, confusion in general. Underneath the apparent chaos, however, there is a system. Slowly but surely the big boat swings majestically around—with the tugs snorting like terriers at the end of a leash. Up on the bridge the captain, spick and span in his gold and braid, grasps the whistle cord, a cloud of steam issues from the big whistle, a deep, resonant roar echoes over the river, answered by shrill blasts from the assembled sterns.

Navigation has opened on the Inland Waterways; at every port on the lakes vessels are casting off cable and line, Government buoys have been placed in position, life-saving stations are open, and at night light-house and lightship cast over the darkened water guiding beams of yellow light. All winter long in ice-locked harbor, and snow-swept wharf the vast fleets of inland boats have been tugged solemnly to anchor and line, apparently forgotten by the busy world around them. Came a time, not long ago, when the geese started their northward flight; when every day the sun approached nearer and nearer the line, and from cities near and far, from sleepy little villages, and isolated rural districts, dunnage bag in hand, the sailors began to return.

Spring was nearly here, and a hint of growing things in the air; from up at Mackinac and the Soo, from Duluth and Port Arthur, reports of ice conditions became daily more favorable, and it was time to fit out the transports of the lakes for that reddest of red letter days on the mariner's calendar, the opening of navigation. The engineers arrived first, donned overalls and canvas gloves, and descended into the bowels of the ship where, like old Vulcan himself, they hammered, sweated, and did all manner of strange technical things as they overhauled and repaired the big engines that had slept for three long months. Day after day the hold of the vessel resounded to the blow of the sledge and all manner of metallic sounds, intermingled with an occasional hearty oath, for the crew of the after end were aboard, and the whole riverfront rejoiced accordingly.

A week or so later the mates and the boys of the forward end came straggling along, kessled and suitless and "key" into convenient bunks, and began to make sojourn. Now, sojourn is washing powder and hot water, and it's great stuff to scrub with. Everywhere they made the stuff, in bath-tubs, caldron, in fact anything that would hold it, and they carried it off in pails, grabbed up brooms and scrub brushes, and attacked with grim determination the layers of dirt and soot that had accumulated on deck and cabin during the winter months. A good deal of the whitework happens either with malicious intention or otherwise to have been placed everhead, and to apply a brush or broom to such an elevated position means that the wielder will receive more of the soapy water than the whitework, as a general rule. Sojourn has a most annoying habit of trickling down a groomed and ready for another season's work, on the scattered reaches of the Inland Seas.—Charles G. Crellin in Canadian Courier.

A Tall Story.

Mr. Flucker's splendid Great Dane dog committed suicide on Tuesday evening. His owner had been away for some time and the dog got very lonesome, and frequently during the afternoon howled mournfully. On the evening in question he went to the station and stood with his head over one of the rails, and howled in front of the incoming train. He did this deliberately, knowing that he would be killed, because he had been taken on the cars many times, and knew enough to get off the track. The wheels of the locomotive severed the head from the body. This was a magnificent specimen of his breed, and although a very powerful brute, he did not molest other dogs. He was at home at the Hotel Canada, where every one made a pet of him. Of course, Buck was pedigreed, and a regular patrician.—Lislead Speaker.

The following warrants were issued: Commissioners, 15; hon. scoutmasters, 6; lady scoutmasters, 1; chaplains, 4; scoutmasters, 66; assistant scoutmasters, 50; and five instructors.

An Advanced Move.

The Hamilton Board of Control has decided that woman's help is invaluable in relief work. Which is to say it is worth, exactly, the handsome sum of $600 in salary. The same will be drawn by a qualified nurse, Miss Leabell Ramsey, formerly of the Health Department, and now newly appointed assistant of the local relief officer, Mc. McMenemy. Office work is included in the position.

Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money back guarantee. There does a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.
