A MEMORIAL SERVICE

IN ST. GEORGE'S FOR THE TWO DEAD CADETS.

Of the Royal Military College—Staff and Cadets Attended—Canon Starr Officiated—Dean Bidwell Gave Address.

At nine o'clock on Saturday morning, the memorial service for the two young cadets of the Royal Military College, J. W. Logie and A. I. Smith, of Hamilton, who were drowned when crossing from Garder Island to Point Frederick, on Friday afternoon, May 2nd, and whose bodies have never been recovered, was conducted in St. George's cathedral.

The cadets of all denominations paraded from the college to the cathedral, in charge of Major C. N. Perreau, the staff adjutant. Col. J. H. V. Crowe, the commandant, and the other members of the staff attended, the cadets, citizens and friends of the deceased's families occupying the body of the church.

Col. W. A. Logie, of Hamilton, father of the late Cadet Logie, and Senator Smith, of Winona, uncle of Cadet Smith, and Mr. Dempsey, of Hamilton, were present, representing the families at the service.

Major the Rev. Canon G. L. Starr, the Anglican chaplain of the garrison, conducted the burial service, and Dean E. J. Bidwell delivered a short address.

Members of the boys' and men's choir of the cathedral were present, R. F. Harvey presiding at the organ. The cadets' gallery was draped in purple. The hymns sung were "Bread Life is Here Our Portion," "On the Resurrection Morning," and "Jesus Lives, Thy Terrors Now Can No Longer Death Appal Us." "The Dead March in Saul" was played at the conclusion of the service. Major Starr read the lesson from I Corinthians xv, and said the solemn prayers for the dead.

"Go thy way, thy son liveth," Christ's words, Dean Bidwell chose as the basis of the very impressive address he delivered. To the central fact of the resurrection from the dead, upon which the faith of the church is founded, he directed the attention of those present, and one minds of the sorrowing members of the two families at home. The striking down of Cadets Logie and Smith, in the full bloom of youth, who are now just hidden beyond the veil, the dean said, from one point of view, was a test of Christian faith.

For those he calls away in youth, God had a special purpose. They will find a fuller scope for work above. God never wastes material. To the cadets he spoke, reminding that their comrades were not gone, but working out a greater purpose for God in another universe.

"Go thy way, thy son liveth," concluded the dean. "That is the message of the Christ and of the church, and that is the message I extend to the sorrowing families this morning."
