TOWN OF GANANOQUE

DEATH OF MRS. FRANK MCGIVERN, AGED FORTY.

A Fine Maskinonge Landed—Citizens' Band Concert—Coal Sells in Gananoque At Seven Dollars a Ton.

Gananoque, June 27.—At the family residence, Garden street, on Tuesday last, Elizabeth Ann McCarthy, wife of Frank McGivern, passed peacefully away, after an illness of some considerable duration, in the fortieth year of her age.

The second of the Citizens' band's series of open air concerts was held at the town park on Thursday evening, and, as usual, drew out a very large attendance.

Frank Dolan, who received the contract recently for the construction of the cement walk from the station to the swing bridge, started a gang of men at work on the job Thursday morning.

Frank Peck, Gordon Hinton and Harry Harding had the good fortune to strike a fine maskinonge a few miles west of the town on Wednesday afternoon, which, after a keen struggle, they landed.

Miss Lottie Root, who has been ill for several months, has so far recovered as to resume her duties at the Central drug and book store.

The local coal dealers have given notice of a drop in the price of coal for immediate delivery, from $2.50 to $2 a ton.

Miss Swanson, of Jamestown, N.Y., is spending a short time with friends in town. Charles A. Watt, for several years past secretary-treasurer of the Skinner company, limited, has accepted the position of sales agent for the new merger known as the Steel Products of Canada, limited, and will sever his connection with the former firm about the middle of July and enter on his new duties early in August.

Miss Portia Lloyd has taken a position on the office staff of the Thousand Islands Railway company, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Miss Sadie Meggs. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, of Buffalo, N.Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. X. Belnois, King street. Miss Phoebe Lewis and Miss Leila Gibson, pupils of St. Agnes' school, Belleville, are home to spend their mid-summer vacation at their homes in town. Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner left, this week, for an extended trip through the western provinces. Mrs. R. Ramshaw and family have returned from a visit with friends in Hamilton, and will spend a few weeks in town with Mrs. Ramshaw's mother, Mrs. John Hagg, Princess street, before leaving for their home in Winnipeg.

A YOUNG SMOKER.

Edward Herbert, of Windsor, Nova Scotia is Attracting Attention.

By what curious freak of Nature is a youngster of three able to smoke big, fat, black cigars and enjoy them as much as if he were eating delicious chocolate? That is the question which is puzzling Canadian smokers just now in regard to Edward Herbert, the three-year-old son of a Canadian fisherman who lives near Windsor, Nova Scotia.

"Young Ted is a 'corker,'" says his father. "He started his smoking habits twelve months ago by taking a pull on my pipe, and he seemed to enjoy it, too, although I smoke plug tobacco of the strongest kind. Didn't it trouble his 'Little Mary'? Not a bit, and, although we tried to break him of the habit by punishing him, he would have his smoke if he could get half a chance. And when his mother took him with her to the hotel where she worked, he would purloin any pipes he saw lying about, take them into a dark corner, and smoke them."

"We made a final effort to cure him by giving him a big black cigar, and a pull on it, and he made the slightest difference, so we have given up trying to cure him as a bad job. Now we let him have a cigar when he wants one, and it is really a comical sight to see him sitting in an arm-chair with his arms crossed, and a big weed in his mouth, and pulling at it for all he is worth and listening to the conversation."

Edward is only a baby in size, thought, and action, but to him a big black cigar has more attractions than a gaudy red car. He will lay aside his toys at any time of the day to smoke, and the strength of that smoke has no terrors for that infantile stomach. Color and shape cut a figure, however, as Edward is partial to cigars with a bright-colored band.

The doctors say that the cigars Edward smokes are strong enough to upset a full-grown man, but they don't seem to trouble Edward, who is very much alive and kicking, and whose greatest punishment is to have his cigar taken away from him when he has been naughty.—London Tit-Bits.

Hadn't Been Fixed.

Sam Charters, the Brampton editor who sits in the Ontario Legislature for Peel County, is the first Conservative who has done so for a long time. That the father of the Ontario Telephone Act knows so well the people's need is undoubtedly due to the fact that he seldom misses a chance to travel through his own county and meet his constituents. Just before the last election he was canvassing in a municipality in his riding where the local leaders decided that in several cases a personal call on the candidate was necessary. So Sam, accompanied by the local chairman, started on the rounds.

"In this family that we're going to call on now there are three sons and the father, and they're a slippery bunch," said the chairman during the course of the forenoon. "I haven't much use for them myself. They never voted our way. But the other crowd has always had to buy them before they got them."

Nothing daunted, Sam led the way to the home of the doubtful voters. Father and sons all declared that "like as not" they would vote for Mr. Charters. Any declaration more positive than that they would not make. Finally, to find out, if possible, exactly how they stood, Mr. Charters said, "Well, you won't vote for the Jones crowd anyway, will you?"

Jones was the local chairman of the opposing party. "No," declared the father with emphasis. "He hasn't got us them potatoes yet."

Sharks.

Within the past few weeks one of Toronto's prominent financial institutions closed its doors; its manager has been sent to board in Kingston; its doughty president has taken at last to the tall timbers; and other officials have dropped out of sight—added to all this Professor Coleman, of the University of Toronto, persists in informing Toronto people that their city was once the "Home of Fishes."

The geologist who, for some time, has been investigating the rock formations in the Scarborough Heights locality, well-known to scientists the world over, on the east side of Toronto, talks familiarly of life in Toronto half a million years ago. The climate was sunny in those days. Deer, beetles, mammoths, mastodons, and shellfish were the corporation. Beetles were the Four Hundred. A mighty torrent, like Niagara, rushed from the Upper Lakes into Lake Ontario, which was sixty feet higher than it is now.

Dr. Coleman expresses his opinion that America has gone one-third of the way to another ice age—and he is not criticising the "Sins of Society." It is 40,000 years since Toronto was under ice before.

Governor Hall of New Orleans, La., sealed the fate of the twenty-round scheduled fight between "Jack" Britton and Charles White, at the Western Athletic Club on July 4th. That affair has been advertised over the country as a twenty-round prize fight, the governor said. "It is nothing more than a twenty-round knock-down and drag-out prize fight, and directly in violation of law. It will take place in isolation of law. It will be at ten rounds."
