MISSION CONFERENCES
OF THE VARIOUS COLLEGES
HELD IN GRANT HALL

The Reception on Friday Afternoon—Prof. W. G. Jordan Spoke in the Evening on the Enlargement of the Missionary Idea.

The Students' Missionary conference opened on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, with a reception and luncheon in Grant hall. The college caterers, Messrs. Reid and Holbrook, had charge of the spread.

Prof. Coleman, dean of the faculty of education, presided, and called upon Principal Gordon to say grace. After luncheon, Dean Coleman called the gathering to order, after which Principal Gordon, in a short and appropriate address, welcomed the delegates, pointing out the importance of missionary work, and expressing the hope that the conference would result in much good.

A. E. Corbett, B.A., of the Y. M. C. A., McGill university, replied to the address of welcome, on behalf of the delegates, after which an adjournment was made to Convocation hall, where the sessions of the conference were formally opened. Dean Coleman introduced Rev. J. M. Compton, pastor of St. Andrew's church, who took charge of the service. After the singing of a hymn, Rev. Mr. Compton offered prayer and gave the Scriptural reading.

Rev. Mr. Compton also addressed the conference on missionary work. He realized that this hour was the most important of the whole conference. He realized also just how important it was for him to give the delegates the right keynote at the start off. The one thought should be of the risen Christ, and the winning of souls for Him. The one supreme thought of each one attending the conference should be that his life be consecrated to the work of God. Had we awakened to the fact that there was a living Christ, Christ had the desire in His heart that all should work for His kingdom. The many opportunities for missionary work at home and abroad would come before the delegates. They would think just how wonderful it would be to have India and China won for Christ. Could we listen to the calls as they were presented, and not respond?

"The world's needs cannot be met by anybody. The world's needs can only be met by the men and women who are prepared. I believe there is more harm done by people who want to be busy, but who have no definite plan."

And what kind of missionaries are we to have? The only missionaries we can have are those called by Christ.

The speaker's address was a most inspiring one, and was listened to with keen interest throughout.

The afternoon session lasted but an hour, an adjournment being made at four o'clock, to give the registration and billeting committees time to do their work.

The following appeared on banners which decorated the platform at convocation hall:

"The resources of God are promised only to those who undertake the programme of God."

Friday Evening Session.
Grant Hall was well filled for the public meeting of the students' missionary conference, held on Friday evening. Dean Coleman presided, and the devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. Charles A. Webster, of Syria.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. W. G. Jordan, of Queen's University, who made special reference to the enlargement of the missionary idea, during his life.

REV. W. G. JORDAN, D.D.

In his opening remarks, he pointed out that he commenced to preach the gospel just about the time the great missionary, Dr. Livingstone died, and some time before the Salvation Army came into existence. He wished to speak about the change or the enlargement of the missionary idea in his time. There were people who criticized Dr. Livingstone, and thought that it would have been better if he had not gone so far in his exploration, but confining himself more to preaching the gospel. Livingstone was right, in following his own course the way he did, bringing in medical science and the enlargement of the missionary field. Missionary meetings in the olden days, attracted a larger attendance than in the present day. There was an element of curiosity and sensation which held full sway. It was a strange thing to see a missionary, and to see idols and other things brought from far-off lands.

The preaching from the pulpit was far different from that of today, in that it was more largely to the individual soul. There was a strong individualism, a mighty personal appeal. There was not a sufficient appeal to the soul of each hearer, showing his responsibility in the sight of God. Nowadays, we hear it more about the future, and just what it held out for the wifful sinner, who would not repent. In the olden days everything was made clear and definite. The speaker had read just recently, in a religious paper, a statement to the effect that social work commenced with the Salvation Army. From the standpoint of British history, this statement was absurd. The speaker knew this for a fact. He did not wish to reflect upon the work of the Salvation Army as it was doing splendid work. It had been stated that the 19th century was one for foreign missions; he would say that it was for home missions as well. We could not separate between the two.

At the close of Dr. Jordan's address the delegation leaders held a meeting to discuss conference plans.

Notes From Science Hall.
Things are very quiet in Science perhaps on account of the calm before the storm as the Vigilance committee held a meeting on Friday afternoon. The Science dinner committee appointed are: General convener, H. S. Baker; printing and programme, S. L. Burns, M. S. Shields, W. C. Miller, G. R. Robb; invitation, R. M. Calvin; financial, T. N. Simpson; refreshments, J. G. Corbett; decoration, E. R. Hepinstall; reception, J. K. W. Aird.

The executive of the Engineering Society held a meeting Friday afternoon to consider securing fittings for the Engineering Society office, the A.M.S. parade, securing speakers for the Engineering Society functions, printing a new constitution. Billing vacancies on the executive board, securing a typewriter as in medicine and for drawing up a penal code.

D. A. Sutherland will be grand marshal in the parade.

Canada Won First Prize.
Paul Gerlach, a German-American farmer, near Allan, Saskatchewan, on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, won a separator, valued at $1,250, at the International Dry Farming Exhibition, Tulsa, Oklahoma, for the best bushel of wheat. This was the first prize in open competition with farmers of the world. Mr. Gerlach's exhibit was of the Marquis variety and weighed seventy-one pounds to the bushel. The event is a good advertisement for Western Canada and demonstrates the wonderful richness of the valuable soil contiguous to the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Tea Room To Be Opened.
The opening of a tea room in the city, which will be welcome news to many people, is only another indication of the steady advancement of the city. The rooms, on the second floor at 338 King street, two doors north of the Bank of Toronto, are now being fitted out for this purpose, and will be ready for opening about November 14th. Mrs. Kavanagh, of 254 King street, is the proprietor, and this assures Kingstonians of an unexcelled service.

REV. W. A. CAMERON, B.A., TORONTO.

Rev. W. A. Cameron, B.A., is the pastor of Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto, one of the leading churches in this denomination. Although young in years he is old in experience. For some time as an under-graduate he led the McMaster university evangelistic band in several very successful tours through the province. He is rapidly making a name for himself as a popular preacher to the student body. His address in Grant Hall on Saturday evening will be "Our Missionary Obligations." He will, no doubt, make a strong appeal not only to the members of the conference but to the student body of Queen's and the citizens of Kingston in general.

Ask Your Doctor
Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S
MAY BE NO CONFERENCE

Between City and Company Experts Over Paving Block.

It is said that there may be no conference between T. H. Mather, of Syracuse, N.Y., the city's consulting engineer, and Prof. A. K. Kirkpatrick, representing the street railway company, with regard to the kind of block that should be used between the tracks and eighteen inches outside of them on Princess street. The street railway company is determined on the wood block, while Mr. Mather will not recommend this to the city.

Ten days ago, at a conference between a sub-committee of the Board of Works and street railway representatives, wood block was agreed upon. When Mr. Mather was told of the conference and its decision, the informed Aid, Fair, chairman of the Board of Works, said that he would not be responsible for the track construction, if wood block was used, as he claimed it would not hold when a T rail was used. He wants vitrified brick. Now, the Board of Works upholds its consulting engineer, who was engaged to assist City Engineer McClelland in preparing the plans and specifications for the street railway roadbed.

Thus the decision will rest with the chief engineer of construction of the Montreal Tramways company, who may advise that granite block be used, instead of wood blocks of vitrified brick. Granite would be much more expensive than the other two materials.

ILLS OF CHILDHOOD.
Every mother should be able to recognize the symptoms of the little ailments that attack her children. She should also be in a position to treat them properly. To do this she should keep a supply of Baby's Own Tablets in the house at all times. The Tablets never fail to be of help to little ones. Mothers who are anxious for the welfare of her little ones will receive free for the asking a valuable little book on the care of infants and young children. Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. G. L. Bonham, St. George, Ont., says: "I can recommend Baby's Own Tablets as a safe and sure medicine for little ones. I have raised four babies with their aid and would not be without them." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"The Dream Maiden."
"The Dream Maiden," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, November 13th, has been kindly treated by the critics on its short tour. It is a production which has not yet received the supposedly necessary indorsement of New York and consequently the only judgment available is that of the newspapers in the cities where it has played. In the largest of these—Columbus, Indianapolis and Louisville—it has been received with favor. The Louisville Courier-Journal says there is no doubt of the charm of its music nor the originality of the idea on which the plot is based. The leading role is taken by Audrey Maple, formerly of "The Firefly," Philip Simmons, English lyric tenor, is the leading man. Other leaders on the cast are Will Cameron, John Morgan, Suzanne Morgan and Emily Fitzroy.

The song hits of the operetta are: "Beautiful Visions of Dreamland," sung by Miss Maple; "A Man and a Maiden," a duet, and "Twilight Is the Time for Love." The comedy song is "Smith Is a Fine Old Name." The Smith family, by the way, has a big part in the plot.

Allen Lowe, who wrote "The Isle of Spice," and who is an old resident of Canada, has come ahead of the production so far to be assured that all the details are properly taken care of. Rincarnation and the law of heredity told in operetta style in a humorous semi-sarcastic vein and fitted with a most wonderful musical setting, the composition of the Hungarian waltz king, Bela Laszky. It is the big musical success of the present season and the wonderful harp soloist, Philip Savasta, is one of the noted instrumentalists who will be found in the orchestra of twenty, which is to interrupt the beautiful score.

Scenes From the Rockies.
A collection of water-colors from nature, many of them from Banff, Lake Louise and Glacier, the work of T. H. Wilkinson, are now on view. All invited to see them, at Kirkpatrick Art Gallery.

More than once the prodigal has returned for the sole purpose of "doing" the father. Etta Deland Robinson, literary and musical recital, Queen St. Meth. church S.S. hall, Tuesday evening.
