DEAN STARR PREACHED TO THE STUDENTS

Rev. Hugh Pedley, of Montreal, Was the Convocation Hall Preacher—Mission Services in Calvary Church.

Dean Starr preached to the students in St. George's cathedral, Sunday evening, on "The Evolution of a Thinker." This was the first in a series to be preached during the winter. The other speakers will be Bishop Farthing, of Montreal; Prof. Cosgrave and Cayley, of Toronto, and Archbishop Davidson, of Guelph.

Calvary Congregational Church. Special sermons were preached, yesterday, at Calvary Congregational church, by Rev. St. T. Butler, on behalf of the foreign missionary work of the Canadian Congregational Union.

At the men's brotherhood meeting in the afternoon, an intensely interesting address was given by Dr. T. B. Scott, of Ceylon, on "Economic Conditions in Ceylon."

At Convocation Hall. Rev. Hugh Pedley, of Montreal, was the speaker at the service held at Queen's University on Sunday afternoon. His sermon was one especially for the students, on "The Influence of Leadership," and was most inspiring.

Salvation Army Services. The services of the local Salvation Army were conducted by Brewer Brown, of Ottawa, the ex-boxer, a convert to the army. On behalf of one of the members of the local corps, Mr. Brown presented a flag to the band, so be known as the band flag.

At Sydenham Street Church. Every man should give some time every day or a certain time during the week to the work of God, if the work necessary in the mission fields and other spheres is to be done, was the statement of T. F. Harrison from the pulpit of Sydenham street Methodist church on Sunday morning. In telling of some of the things he had seen on his recent trip to the Orient, Mr. Harrison stated that China was looking for men who would not only give their money but themselves to evangelistic work. "You do not have to go to China to find the need of men," said he. The speaker made reference to certain men who had been members of the board of the Y.M.C.A. for twenty-five years because they have to keep the positions filled. The work of the poor is being left to a few, which was shown when only five turned out to the last meeting of the associated charities. Too much is being left to the preacher. Before closing his address Mr. Harrison made a glowing tribute to the work which Rev. Dr. John Dunlop, of a son of Kingston, is doing in Japan.

At Cooke's Church. In the absence of Rev. J. W. McIntosh, pastor of Cooke's Presbyterian church, Rev. D. N. Morden, B.A. of Ottawa, occupied the pulpit, and preached good sermons at both services. Mr. Morden, who is pastor of Erskine church, Ottawa, is well known in the city. He was pastor of Bethel Congregational church at one time.

At the morning service the choir rendered an anthem, and Miss Ada Rosevear sang a solo at the evening service.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh preached anniversary services in Ottawa on Sunday.

In Chalmers Church. Preaching from the text, "For Many Are Called But Few Are Chosen," in Chalmers church on Sunday evening, Rev. Dr. Macgillivray spoke forcibly upon the unfair conditions of wealth that prevail in the old country, where the greater portion of the land is owned by as many men as could be seated in Chalmers church. He did not wonder that socialism was gaining converts in large numbers. Only by sacrifice could the conditions be bettered.

Princess Street Methodist Church. On Sunday evening Princess street Methodist church was crowded to the doors when Rev. F. G. Robinson spoke on "The Sunday School as a Missionary Agency," and "The Essentials for Successful Bible Class." At 8.15 o'clock a sacred song recital was given by the choir, under the efficient leadership of Miss E. Wilder. The numbers were: "Amen, The Lord is in His Holy Temple," and "Hark, Hark, My Soul"; solo obbligato, "Jehovah's Praise"; "Sun of My Soul"; male quartette, "God So Loved the World"; duet, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee"; solo, "Beyond the Dawn"; solo, "Lead Thou Me On."

The soloists were Miss A. Timmerman and W. Mack. The duet was given by W. Mack and Miss Brebner, and the quartette by Messrs. W. Timmerman, W. Woods, F. Mack and W. Mack. It was a rich musical treat, and Miss Wilder and the choir received many congratulations at the close.

COULD HAVE SAVED LIFE

If He Had Had Pike Pole Or Some Other Appliance.

The great need for life-saving appliances around the city wharves was again emphasized in the drowning accident, which occurred, Saturday night, at Richardson's slip, when John Van Alstine lost his life.

Robert Cousins, night watchman at Richardson's elevator, in speaking to a Whig representative on Monday morning, stated that if he had had a ten-foot pike pole he believed that he would have been able to help the unfortunate man out of the water. When he first saw the man he was struggling, and afterwards heard him say, "I'm going, all right."

Mr. Cousins was not in a position to save the man, by swimming out to him, but he states that he called to three young fellows, whom he did not know, who happened to be passing at the time, to come and give assistance but that they did not do so.

WAS THE MEANS OF IDENTIFYING JAMES WORKMAN

Went Under Assumed Name When Arrested At Halleybury—Sentenced At Vancouver, B.C. To Five Years For Robbery.

Identified as a ticket-of-leave man, as a result of the finger print system, as carried on by the dominion police, led to the identity of James Workman, a big husky Irishman, who is now in Portsmouth penitentiary, to serve the balance of a term which was meted out to him in the west, for robbery, with violence. Inspector Parkinson of the dominion police, arrived in the city with Workman on Monday morning.

Workman was sentenced at Vancouver, B.C., on July 2nd, 1910, to serve five years in the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., for robbery, with violence. He was allowed out on parole, on October 24th, 1912. After being allowed out on parole, Workman reported, on one occasion to the chief of police at Vancouver. But nothing more was heard from him. In August last, a man giving the name of James White, was arrested at Halleybury, on a charge of larceny, and was sentenced to three months in Central prison.

While the prisoner was serving this sentence, the dominion police got busy, securing finger prints of the accused, with the result that he was identified as James Workman, who had violated his parole. He was taken in charge by Inspector Parkinson, after he had served his short sentence in Central prison, and brought on to Kingston. Workman was taken before Magistrate Farrell, Monday forenoon, and the necessary papers were made out for him to serve his time in the penitentiary.

The Late Sister Leonard.

The sisters of the House of Providence, were called upon on Saturday evening to mourn the loss of one of their oldest members, in the person of Sister Mary Leonard (Marie Gargan). The deceased was in her 71st year, having been born in Read, on March 25, 1843. She entered the Community of the Sisters of Charity on the 8th of September, 1866, and since that time devoted herself to the sick and suffering, not only in Kingston, but also in the surrounding country. She occupied several important positions in her order, being mistress of novices, local superior and general assistant. The funeral took place on Monday morning. Archbishop Spratt celebrated pontifical high mass. The remains were placed in the vault of St. Mary's cemetery.

Mariner Had Trouble.

A mariner on board the steamer Canadian, which arrived in port on Sunday morning, from Fort William, wanted to quit his job, but it appears that he had signed papers to make the trip from Fort William to Kingston and return, and thus he was bound to stay with the boat. It was stated that he would likely make the trip up the lake. His intention was to take the case before the police magistrate.

The Late Mrs. D. Fraser.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Donald Fraser took place from her husband's residence, 78 William street, Monday morning, at Cataract cemetery. The services were conducted by Pastor J. B. Perrin, I.B.S.A. Deceased's favorite hymn was sung, "There is an Eye That Never Sleeps." The pall-bearers were: E. Kelso, brother of deceased; M. Bird, D. J. Lemmon and John Lemmon. There were many floral offerings.
