

BECK WOULDN'T SERVE UNDER HON. W. J. HANNA

Toronto Telegram Tells of Cabinet Friction.

TORY RANK AND FILE

FAVOR HON. W. J. HANNA AS NEXT PREMIER.

Conservative Party Will Not Be Helped by Liberals Recalling at Coming Session the Proudfoot Charges Against Hanna.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—An interesting article on the possible successor of Sir James Whitney appears in the Toronto Telegram (conservative). The Telegram, in addition to being a great admirer of Sir James Whitney as premier, is an honest supporter of Mr. Beck. The article confirms what has already been frequently said that Mr. Beck would not serve under Mr. Hanna. Here is the article in full:

"There is as much debate as to who will succeed Sir James Whitney as premier, as there is concern over his illness. Who will it be? Is something everybody is asking and only a few dare answer."

"Among the rank and file of the party following the name of Hon. W. J. Hanna is favored, but others favor Hon. Adam Beck, and still others Hon. W. J. Hearst. Many of the best friends of the party shake their heads knowingly when Hon. W. J. Hanna is suggested. What would mean more than one cabinet break?"

"For a long time there has been friction in the cabinet and Hon. A. Beck has given it a wide berth for this reason. This, at least, is charged against the cabinet by Hon. Mr. Beck's friends who would like to see him succeed to the leadership of the party, because he has had sufficient strength to force the Ontario cabinet into action when it was most unwilling to go."

"The article of the last session of the legislature cannot be forgotten by even those charitably disposed towards Hon. W. J. Hanna, and rubbing it in during the coming session will not increase the glory of Hon. Mr. Hanna, while it will not help the party."

"The leadership is a matter for the party caucus, and while there is opposition to Hanna's strong feeling among the members that Hon. W. J. Hanna will be called into the leader's shoes as soon as they are vacant."

GREEK PREMIER AT ROME

Italian Press Warns His Country Against Errors of Bulgaria
Rome, Jan. 8.—The Greek Premier will arrive in Rome on Friday and after a brief stay will continue on to Paris and probably other European cities. It is the bearer of an autograph letter from King Constantine to King Victor Emmanuel. The Italian press while welcoming the visit, warns Greece which drew great advantage from the Balkan wars, not to repeat the mistakes of Bulgaria. The newspapers point out the purchases of the battleship Rio de Janeiro by Turkey, the assumption by Enver Bey of the portfolio of the Turkish ministry of war, and the aspirations of Ismet Pasha to lead the Albanians against the Greeks are indicative of the possibilities.

FOR WATER EMERGENCY Montreal May Lay Pipe in Lachine Canal Bed.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The minister of railways and canals, Hon. Frank Cochrane, has given his consent to the city of Montreal's proposition to lay a six-foot water pipe in the bed of Lachine canal to provide for an emergency supply.

The minister's decision was announced yesterday afternoon to Controller Godfrey, who has been handling the matter of the request. The minister consents to the laying of a six-foot pipe in Lachine canal at a point about 500 feet west of the Grand Trunk railway main line, to be used only in case of emergency. His consent, however, is subject to two resolutions: That the city assume full responsibility for any diminution in the flow of water due to the use of the pipe and affecting the mills along the canal; that the city also accept responsibility for any interruption of navigation as a result of suction by the pipe.

OPTLOOK FOR 1913

Canada Must Slacken Pace, Says Sir P. Taylor.
London, Jan. 8.—Among the opinions of leading financiers on the prospects for 1914, published in the Globe, is one contributed by Sir Frederick Taylor, who says that the pace which will be set in Canada will be moderate mainly, as in the past, by the volume of capital which London will supply. He considers there are certain influences at work as far as fresh money is concerned which will combine to diminish Canadian borrowings in 1914, the first being the increased enlightenment of the people of Canada to the fact that they must reduce commitments and also their financial demands owing to the fact that London's enthusiasm for Canada generally and Canadian investments is in a state of suspended animation synchronizing with a period of universal borrowing and excess demand over supply.

THERE'S STILL HOPE FOR A SETTLEMENT

It is Denied That the Home Rule Conference Has Failed.
London, Jan. 8.—"There is no truth in the suggestion of the Morning Post that the negotiations between Premier Asquith and the opposition leader, Andrew Bonar Law, in regard to the situation of the Irish province of Ulster, under home rule have broken down," says the Westminster Gazette. The newspaper, which is in the closest touch with the government adds: "There is indeed every reason for believing that the negotiations or conversations are being continued without any untoward incident, and that no adverse factor has arisen to interrupt them."

Need of a Lloyd George.

"Our dairy farmers must be relieved of the heavy interest charges they are paying under present conditions," continues Prof. Dean. "It is reported that the farmers of the province of Saskatchewan are paying twelve million dollars annually in interest, a debt equal to $25 for every man, woman and child. In Ontario farmers are paying interest on over $3,000,000 chattel mortgages alone. This is a millstone about the necks of our farmers that must be removed. Dairy farmers and all other farmers must be able to secure capital at reasonable rates if they are to drain their farms, repair old buildings, or build new ones, buy improved stock, and have modern conveniences in their homes. This is another of the problems our statesmen must grapple with. Surely we need a Lloyd George in Canada. I say this with all due respect to Canadian statesmen, who have not had the experience of those in Great Britain, and who, may I add, are lacking in the courage of a Thatcher."

IMPERIAL BURDENS LAID ON CHAMBERLAIN

The Manchester Guardian Says War Changed Temper of English People.
London, Jan. 8.—The Manchester Guardian, in reviewing Joseph Chamberlain's career, recalls that it was the South African war which profoundly changed the temper of the English people and inaugurated the final phase of Chamberlain's career. "When the empire was on the defensive," says the Guardian, "it was Chamberlain who looked after the means of defence and consolidation, and united all in a bond of tariff against the rest of the world. This was the first evidence of loss of confidence in English national energy and resource. The conceptionist movement, despondent and the triple entente were later evidences."

U. S. MAJOR-GEN. LEONARD WOOD

Chief staff of the army, has advised congress that should appropriate $2,000,000 for field guns and ammunition for the regular army and $2,000,000 for the militia.

Thursday, January Eighth.

Colonel, the Hon. Sam Hughes, Canada's minister of war, who celebrates his sixty-first birthday to-day, is one of the most conspicuous men of the day. Always in the limelight, he first gained notoriety by his attitudes in parliament under General Hutton when the latter was chief of staff of the Canadian militia. This led to his being retained in the first South African contingent, despite the wishes of the government. However, the Colonel was irrepresible and went to the front without the commission. Arrived at the scene of war he soon obtained employment in the intelligence department, organized a useful corps of bicycle scouts. Later he commanded a mounted brigade. Though his services were ridiculed at home, on account of the publication of some characteristic private letters, yet it only needed the commendation of Lord Milner to prove to his fellow-countrymen that Colonel Hughes had indeed distinguished himself.
