HEAVY EXPORTATION OF CATTLE NOT UNMIXED EVIL

So Declares an Expert—Little Prospect of Heavy Exports of Butter and Cheese to United States.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—An expert view of the effect of the new United States tariff, a view that the temporary drainage from this country of its best cattle will prove a highly beneficial rather than deterrent factor, has been expressed by J. A. Ruddick, Dominion dairy commissioner, who recently gave evidence before the Committee of Living Commissioners.

Mr. Ruddick's opinions would not make good reading for the United States cattle buyer. "The swarm of Yankee drovers," he states, "which overran some parts of Ontario and Quebec when the duty on cattle into the United States was removed was not an unmixed evil from the standpoint of the dairy industry. They are welcome to the worn-out and discredited cows which were picked up in rather large numbers. This is a better way for the progressive farmer to dispose of his unprofitable animals than to sell them to his own neighbor. The only regret we need to have over this export of cattle from the dairy point of view is for the Soung, untired heifers which unprecedented prices induced some farmers to part with, thinking perhaps it was too good a chance to lose. There need be no fear of lost opportunity in this matter. The price of cattle must rise high for some years to come if the law of supply and demand is to hold good.

Mr. Ruddick does not take a very serious view of the effect of the United States tariff. "Milk and cream," he says, "will probably be exported as long as the present tariff remains in force, especially as convenient shipping points, but there does not seem to be any immediate prospect of a large quantity of either cheese or butter being exported. In the present condition of the Canadian market a very small movement in that direction would boost prices to a prohibitive point. The circumstances are such that New Zealand and Australia are more likely to supply the demand than Canadian. Having a large surplus for export, both these countries must accept for their surplus the international value, which is lower than the ruling price promises to be in Canada."

Mr. Ruddick also gave some remarkable figures of the home consumption of dairy products, showing that, whereas the per capita consumption of Canadians was 800 pounds of milk, in 1912 it had risen to half a ton per head. On the other hand, the production of milk had not risen in anything like the same ratio, being 9,571,178,103 pounds in 1910, as compared with 8,866,834,000 pounds in 1900. The per capita consumption of butter in the ten years rose from 23.49 pounds to 27.88 pounds. This increase of consumption can be found in any one of the "great prosperity of the country and consequent increase in purchasing power and partly to the better quality of milk and its products in recent years." In the great growth of consumption can be found one reason for the advance in the cost of living.

HE STEPS ASIDE

Retires From Bank After Forty-One Years

Fielden, D. Crossley, for twenty-eight years connected with the Woodstock branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, for the last twenty years of which he has held the position of manager, will retire from the service at the end of the month. According to the regulations of the bank, members of the staff automatically retire when they reach the age of sixty years and as Mr. Crossley has just turned the sixtieth mark, he relinquishes his position and retires on the bank's pension fund. Mr. Crossley has been connected with the Bank of Commerce for some forty-one years.

Mr. Crossley is a brother of Mrs. Stewart, wife of Postmaster Stewart, of this city.

Sir Robert Bond, leader of the opposition in the Newfoundland legislature is to retire from public life.

MAY NOT REBUILD

The Napanea Opera House Burned Friday Night.

Napanea, Jan. 12.—About eleven o'clock Friday night a fire broke out in the Napanea Opera House, which was completely destroyed. The efforts of the firemen were directed towards preventing the destruction of the Briscoe House adjoining and their efforts were successful, although some damage resulted from water and smoke.

The fire originated in the ticket office and quickly spread to the adjoining film room of the Colonial theatre, and on to the inflammable nature of the film, the fire was a desperate one to fight. The firemen soon had eight streams of water playing on the burning building. The opera house and living rooms beneath were a total loss.

Several families living in the rooms beneath had to make a hurried exit and lost much of their belongings. The building was partially covered by insurance.

It is only a few years since the opera house was remodelled, and was in good condition. The loss is rather a serious one to the citizens as it is doubtful if the proprietor, John Mack, will rebuild.

WEDDED AT BARREFIELD

The Redden-Knapp Nuptials—Rev. A. Brown Officiated.

A charming event took place at "Hillside Homestead," Barrefield, when Miss Mae Knapp, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Knapp, Redden, was united in marriage to C. H. Redden. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alfred Brown, of Sydenham street Methodist church. The bride, who was given away by her father, was beautifully gowned in white chamoisee satin, train, with pearl trimmings, the skirt being draped to one side and caught with a nother of pearl ornament. She wore a Juliet cap with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern. The bride took her place beneath an arch formed by evergreens and flowers, while her brother, Frederick Knapp, played the wedding march. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Reesa Knapp, who was becomingly gowned in a soft pearl grey, with rose drapery, and carried a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Rev. Mr. Fairbairn, Portsmouth, was best man.

After the wedding ceremony the party adjourned to the dining-room where a sumptuous repast was served. The happy couple left amid congratulations, showers of rice and confetti, for Kingston, where they took the 12:25 train for Montreal. The bride travelled in a Copenhagen cloth, tailor-made, and blouse of Copenhagen velvet, and carried a bouquet of a handsome color and ostrich feathers. The bride received many useful and beautiful presents. On their return they will take up residence in Kingston.

TOO EASY A VICTORY

THE FRONTENAC JUNIORS DEFEATED PORT HOPE.

By a Score of 14 to 1—Capt. Rubie Millan Scored Six of the Frontenac Goals—The Locals are a Fine Team.

The junior Frontenacs strengthened their hold on the group championship on Monday evening, when they defeated Port Hope by a score of 14 to 1, at the covered rink. The score shows the class of hockey played by the local boys. At half-time Frontenacs had the game their way by 7 to 0.

The winners showed their superiority at every point of the game. The combination displayed by the Frontenac forward line certainly bewildered Port Hope. On several occasions the losers tried to play a combination game, but it was impossible. The back checking of the Frontenacs was excellent. The Millan brothers, "Rubie" and "Norman," are certainly "some" players. Derry and Cook, the wings, played great hockey. The defence, composed of Angell, Goddard and Mills, was not called upon to work very hard. Goddard and Mills, who are new men, have certainly earned their "spurs" in the two games in which they have taken part. Goddard plays a very cool game, while Angell is certainly the ear-marks of a good goal-tender.

The game was late in starting, due to something going wrong with the lighting system in the rink. It was about 8:25 o'clock when Referee Harry Burgoyne, of Toronto, sounded the bell for play.

After three minutes play "Rubie" Millan found the net for the first goal. Norman Millan scored the second after the game had been in progress for five minutes. After seven minutes on the ice, Derry slammed the third. Sixteen minutes had passed when Cook slipped in the fourth corner. During the four-minute minutes which remained of the first half, three more goals were added to the score by Derry, "Terry" Millan and "Rubie" Millan.

After the rest period both teams returned to the ice with renewed vigor. The teams had only been chasing the rubber for one minute when Derry planted the eighth goal. With the score standing 8 to 0, and Frontenacs with only five men on the ice, Hills, of Port Hope, pulled Mills out of the goal, and the visitors secured. Twelve minutes had passed when Captain "Rubie" Millan made the score 9 to 1.

At this point of the game Brown, of Port Hope, tried to retire as a result of a crack on the forehead which went off to even up. Goddard, who had been playing a steady game, recovered the puck in front of his own net and carried it the full length of the ice for a goal. This made the score 10 to 1.

During the fifteen minutes that remained of the first half, the score was 14 to 1. "Rubie" lauded three out of the four. One was scored on a pass from Goddard.

"Rubie" Millan was credited with 6 goals. Terry, Derry, Cook, 1, Goddard 1. The teams were:

"Julius Caesar"

Mr. Faversham has provided a scenic investiture, for "Julius Caesar" that is authoritative and archaeological. Not only the scenery itself but the costumes also were designed by Tadema. From the designs of Tadema the scenery was actually painted by the celebrated English artist, Joseph Harker, who is responsible for the colorful scenery in "Kismet." So detailed was Mr. Harker that every detail of the production should reflect the actual glories of Rome that he insisted upon devoting six months to research work and investigation before he would go ahead with the painting. The fact that the designs by Tadema which he had to work from were considered absolutely authoritative by the highest experts in the British Museum. As a matter of record it may be noted, that Mr. Harker during his six months' investigation could not find a single point in which Alma Tadema's designs were at fault. So every spectator who attends "Julius Caesar" may feel that the vivid, spectacular settings are portraying Rome as it really was in all its pomp and splendor, with no erroneous interpretations on the part of a fanciful scenic artist. Mr. Faversham and his all-star cast will present "Julius Caesar" at the Grand on Thursday, January 15th.

The Secret of Good Digestion

In perfect health, with regular and healthful action of the liver and kidneys, you need not know there is such a thing as digestion or indigestion. Unfortunately, however, modern life is artificial, and not many people avoid suffering more or less from troubles of this nature.

The great secret lies in keeping the liver and kidneys in health and vigor, for then the food is passed quickly along the alimentary canal. The digestive portions being assimilated in the blood stream and the poisoned waste materials are passed out of the body.

When the liver and kidneys get wrong you will obtain relief more promptly and effectively by using Dr. Chamberlain's Kidney-Liver Pills. If chronic indigestion is the action of these filtering and excretory organs, to persons who have thought only of the stomach as being the offending organ this may seem strange, but any competent physician will tell you this is correct.

PRISON REFORM

It Should be Helpful to Convicts in Canada.

Montreal Mail.

Before the Prison Reform Commission at Kingston, a guard of the penitentiary there was forced to admit that he had appropriated five out of twenty dollars given to him for transmission to a prisoner. This is but one of a number of startling revelations which have been made in connection with the investigation at Kingston.

In recent years, there has become apparent considerable dissatisfaction with the incarceration of human beings as a punishment for crime. The virtue of such incarceration as an influence for reformation is being questioned. Discussion arises whether or not the conditions of a prison are such that the prisoner's self-respect and spirit are consumed, and if the state, or society, is justified in trying any human being in a soul-destroying atmosphere.

Something of a sensation has been caused of late by the publication of a series of articles by Julian Hawthorne, the American journalist and a son of Nathaniel Hawthorne, who was for some months a prisoner in the Atlanta, Georgia, state penitentiary. In these vivid writings, Mr. Hawthorne pours out the very soul of the neglected and forgotten human outcast of the prison cell. One reads his story, a tale of actual experience, to marvel that such incidents as he relates could take place under cover of a modern system of justice and in the glow of modern enlightenment.

It seems to be losing some of the self-righteous indignation with which we once bounded men into prison. We are beginning to speculate as to the possibility of making greater progress in prison reform than we have yet made. We have begun to have misgivings as to the wisdom of our punitive system, as we have seen the wives of incarcerated men left without means of livelihood, and have watched men come out of prison after lengthy terms of confinement wasted in body, perplexed in spirit, and embittered and broken in revenge. Is the punishment, reform or revenge? Certainly, it is not reform; certainly it should not partake of the nature of revenge.

The investigation now going on at Kingston will be well worth while if it gives us a better idea of what our prisons are doing. We know they are not reforming; we want to know how they are punishing. That, it is our duty to find out. And the sooner we find it out, the better will be the health of the nation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rev. D. Laing Appeals on Behalf of the Unemployed.

Kingston, Jan. 13.—(To the Editor): In the excellent report, given in last evening's Whig, of the first meeting of the City Council for 1914, I notice that a communication was presented by the officers of "The Associated Charities," not from "The Children's Aid," asking the council to find some way of providing employment for the many men in need and out of work. Now we are confident that our excellent mayor and council will give this matter their favorable and careful attention. May I, however, be permitted, on behalf of the unemployed, to suggest the importance of dealing with this matter specifically and with a will to find a solution of the problem. The need is urgent, and many of the men with families dependent, are worthy men.

It was reported to a meeting of the Associated Charities last week, that thirty men had appeared to the officers of "The Poor Relief," asking for work. We were assured that many of these men were good men and true, and sincerely desirous of obtaining work, that they might provide for themselves and families, and preserve their own self-respect, and spirit of independence. "The Poor Relief Society" can and will do much to help the needy and helpless. There are aged persons, dependent widows, and others in circumstances which call for the charitable consideration of the "Relief Society." This society will do all within its power to help the needy, but it cannot cope with the demands of the present need, unless work is provided for the many men at present in enforced idleness.

I sincerely trust that our city fathers may be seized with a realization of the importance of dealing with this matter both speedily and resolutely. D. LAING.

JOHN SAUVE CAME BACK

And the Magistrate Gave Him Two Months in Jail.

John Saue (Baptiste) came back. Magistrate Farrell said that he would give a few days ago, when he was up for drunkenness, and for this reason his worship said "au revoir" to John's "good-bye." As a result of his "come back," he will now spend two months in the jail. The understanding was that if the accused did not remain on Gaspe Island, he would be returned in again. "Well," said the magistrate to Saue, "I see that you are back again."

Saue had nothing to say. Even his usual flow of tears were withheld. He took his sentence with awful silence.

"You violated the little agreement we had," the court said, "so now you must go to jail." Saue was under the impression that the magistrate had given him three months, and before leaving the court room he asked the court so as to make sure.

Poor John would not hurt anyone. His greatest enemy is himself, for he will not leave liquor alone. He has only been out of jail a couple of weeks.

POLICE AFTER CITIZENS

Who Do Not Shovel Off the Sidewalks.

Get busy with the snow shovel. The police are on the tracks of citizens who refuse to shovel snow. There is a by-law which says that snow must be removed six hours after a storm, and all day Monday and Tuesday, a constable of constables were busy making the rounds to see that citizens complied with the law. Quite a number were given the necessary notice to remove the snow, but it is stated that on the whole the conditions are very good, and a great improvement over last winter.

"SABRE RULÉ" PARAMOUNT

Book the Civil Law in the Kaiser's Country.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—"Sabre Rulé" remains paramount over the civil law in Germany. That is the essence of the historic triumph which the army achieved over the people at St. Quentin when a court-martial of 14 British division unconditionally acquitted Col. Von Reuter and Lieutenant in cowardly citizens of Zabern in submission in November last.

To emphasize the completeness of military victory the court of appeal at Strasbourg army corps reversed the conviction of Baron Von Forstner, the "boy" lieutenant, who was responsible for the entire conviction, and quashed his sentence of forty-three days imprisonment, which was dictated by the court-martial on December 10th.

The two verdicts, which have caused a sensation all over the empire, are destined to reverberate for months to come. They wash the army's scutcheon "angel clean" and place the blame exclusively on the shoulders of the rebel populace and the important civil authorities of Alsace-Lorraine.

Emperor William for several years past has joined the day laborers in swing and splitting wood on the imperial estate surrounding the Sans Souci Palace. He was advised by his physicians to take a course of manual labor.

Roy McGiffen, of the Toronto hockey team, was suspended for a week and fined $50 for rough play in the Ottawa-Toronto game.

Parham, Jan. 10.—A number of men are cutting cord wood. Mr. Clement and family, Long Lake, have moved into J. C. Hartman's cement house. School is progressing nicely under the able management of Mr. Davison, teacher. The opening of the Anglican church will take place in February. Visitors: Mr. and Mrs. A. Charlton and family attended the wedding of their son at Crofton on Wednesday last. Percy, Jack Fish, spent a few days at W. E. Clow's. D. Goodfield is visiting his sister in Albany, Y. Mrs. G. W. Killins spent a few days in Kingston this week. Miss Jessie Clow teacher at Glendowie, on the week-end at home. Mr. W. N. B. Topping at H. Drew's, Long Lake, on Saturday. Miss Cora Wagar, Warville is visiting Mrs. J. Wagar. On Monday, January 5th the municipal election was held in the I. O. O. F. Hall. The following were elected: Reeve, C. M. McKnight; councillors, T. Howes, T. Peters, P. Dwyer, and A. Wagar.

Ernest Cook of Tibury East, returning from his honeymoon, was arrested on complaint of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Norin, who says his score falsify to the age of his bride, 60 is 14. Religious differences are said to exist.

It is understood that Emerson Watworth, K.C., will be elevated to a judgeship in succession to Judge Longan, of the York county trio. The rivers of Switzerland are rising rapidly owing to the thaw, and there is much danger from avalanches.
