WOE ENGULFS JAPAN

ERUPTIONS AND FAMINE EXACT A HEAVY TOLL

All Nature Seems in Revolt in Kingdom of Mikado — Countless Dead Lie Beneath Lava — Tokio Filled With Clouds of Dust and Sand.

Tokio, Japan, Jan. 16.—The Island of Knausiu is covered with a thick layer of ashes and many corpses, whose number will probably never be known, lie beneath the lava from the volcano of Sakura-Jima, on the small islet of Sakura, and in the crumbling town of Kagoshima, while many others were drowned in trying to escape from the scene of eruption, earthquake and tidal waves, according to official reports.

All nature seems in revolt, for to the upheavals in the south is added the famine in the north and an eruption of Yariyagatake, which threw a cloud of ashes over Matsumoto, while over Tokio itself swept miniature cyclones filling the city with clouds of dust and sand and creating the belief that the capital was feeling some of the effects of the distant eruptions.

A feeling of relief prevailed when the wind died down and the impression spread that the worst was over when prominent scientists said that the breaking out of the volcanoes had served as vent for an acute subterranean activity and perhaps saved the country from even more disastrous earth shocks.

Dispatches showed that animals and birds to the south of Satsuma were suffering from abnormal uneasiness. At Kumamoto, north of Kagoshima, over 1,000 refugees have arrived and the authorities are faced with the difficulty of housing and feeding the sufferers from the disaster, the whole tragedy of which has not yet been told.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

Prison Labor Not Local Issue But Federal.

W. J. Driscoll, corresponding secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, has forwarded to G. M. Macdonnell, chairman of the Prison Reform Commission, the following letter, as the decision of the council on the matter of prison labor:

"In regards to your communication re prison labor, at our meeting last night, with the information that the commission seemed to be in favor of E. Walters and Secretary P. M. Draper, of the Trades Congress of Canada, give their views on the question, and, as they have the authority by virtue as executive members of the congress which is the legislative body for the organized workers of the dominion.

"As this is a question which affects the whole of the workers of Canada, organized and unorganized, we believe it is only proper that the matter should be left in the hands of the proper authorities, having regard to the Congress of Canada, under which the Kingston Trades and Labor Council is chartered."

The council also asked the publication of the following communication received by it from Mr. Macdonnell in regard to a recent letter received by him from W. H. Godwin:

Dear Sir,—In regard to Mr. Godwin's letter referring to prison labor, Mr. Godwin had no intention of speaking for the Trades and Labor Union. I understood him simply to be speaking as a working man, and if his letter bears any other interpretation, it is not his fault. The Prison Commission has been considering the question of employment of prisoners and the matters which seem to be practical and which alone have been considered are making of mail bags, government furniture, soldiers' clothes, and boots and shoes for government use. I do not think that anything else has been considered or spoken of. The matter we have in mind is, to distribute the prison labor in a variety of subjects as not to interfere with labor outside.—Yours truly, (Signed), G. M. Macdonnell.

Announcement.

Provision has been made by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to conduct through the agency of the district representative an agricultural course in Sydenham high school. This course begins on January 19th and continues for six weeks. It is intended for boys and young men who are still on the farm and who intend to make agriculture their life-work. The benefits derived from this course, are very obvious from the circulars distributed through the county and as this is the first course to be conducted in this county it is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance to show their appreciation of the efforts of the Ontario Department of Agriculture to uplift and advance the agricultural interests of Frontenac county.

Be sure and arrange, if possible, to have your sons take advantage of the course. For further information apply to P. Sine or C. Main, Sydenham.

The Whig and W. J. Keeley, Sr.

The first man to place money on the counter of the business office of the Whig, when the new building was opened some twenty years ago, came in on Thursday to repeat the trick. In fact, he comes in smiling every year, and, clutching a roll of bills in his hand, approaches the counter and asks: "Is this the Whig office?" Then he pays his subscription and departs in peace. We refer to that genial gentleman, known and beloved by nearly everybody in town—W. J. Keeley, sr. The Whig extends to this friend, who has remained faithful and constant for longer years than he would care to have on mention, only very best wishes that the year just opened may bring him every joy and abundant prosperity.

FORTUNE IN AN "AD."

Woman Seeking Boarders May Be Heir.

Burlington, N.J., Jan. 16.—Mrs. Beatrice Gordon, a widow, was forced last month to advertise in a local newspaper for boarders in order that she might support her family and continue to send her two little sons to school. Chance threw the newspaper carrying the advertisement into the hands of a Burlington man now in the west. Glancing over the home paper his eye caught her name in the advertisement. He was searching the legal columns of a western paper at about the same time. In a corner was an advertisement inserted by Pierce & Pierce, a law firm of Homesville, Neb., asking for information regarding a "Mrs. Beatrice Gordon, of Pennsylvania or New Jersey."

He called the attention of the law firm to the advertisement. Thus it came about that Mrs. Gordon received a letter from the Nebraska lawyers suggesting that she was the long sought heir of a portion of the estate of Sarah Jane Sparks, a wealthy widow who died last year in Nebraska, leaving properties valued at several hundred thousand dollars.
