PART OF YOUNG MEN THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

IN COMBAT AGAINST FORCES OF EVIL.

The Subject of Bishop Farthing's Address Before the Men's Club of St. George's Cathedral on Tuesday Evening.

Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, formerly dean of the diocese of Ontario, and rector of St. George's cathedral, and always appreciated in Kingston, was listened to with interest and edification by the men's club of the cathedral parish on Tuesday evening. It was on the occasion of an opening banquet of the recently revived club, at which nearly 200 were present.

Bishop Farthing was given a hearty welcome, for the company even "struck up" "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" when his lordship rose to his feet.

Dr. Farthing dwelt for a short space on his genuine delight to again be back with his Kingston friends, and then launched into the burden of his speech which dealt with the part of the young churchman in the combat against the forces of evil in the world. In a somewhat conversational manner Bishop Farthing spoke on many aspects of this. One of the most helpful things in church life in Canada is the interest and subsequent activity of the men in relation to its welfare. Speaking of his own diocese particularly, although the same holds true in others, he said that frequently the men at evening service and early communion particularly outnumber the women in attendance.

"I do rejoice," added he, "to see that the men are awakening to their part in the work of the church."

He endorsed, in the main, the objects of such a men's club as St. George's, but advised guarding against the interests becoming selfish, and recommended the club being given some definite work to do. He agreed with the social aim, but if that was all, it would be fatal. "Get your men enthusiastic in some work for the church, and the fellow men," said he.

The place of the clergy in the church she also touched upon and discouraged the thought that they are in themselves the church. As a bishop his personal share in it, as he pointed out, was similar to the layman's. Said he: "The benefits of the church are just as much yours as mine, and the welfare of the church is just as much a matter of concern to you as me."

There are many and varied forces which confront the church of Christ today, the bishop realized. But the greatest of these he declared was the cold, chilly indifference of the nominal Christians in our land. This he believed was obvious to all who considered the situation. Back of this difference he placed the greed for money.

In this warfare his lordship was reminded of the central aim of the church—worship. In service the laity must not lose sight of this.

Bishop Farthing touched but the fringe of the question of church union. The fight must be one by united effort. This would never be realized by a tearing down of the faith, a compromise of the truth. There was no need of a new creed, but of a new disposition and realization, a broader vision of the spirit of Christ.

"The visions of the church," interjected he, "are the weaknesses of the church, and the second thing I fear is the impotency of the church." He advocated the creation of an atmosphere of fellowship and love among churchmen.

"You and I," said the speaker, concluding, "must be more loyal and live the true Christian life," the standard of which he set as Jesus Christ.

In the absence of the president, A. W. Wheatley, and the first vice-president, Capt. P. E. Prudeaux occupied the chair, and he and Dean Starr outlined the aims of the men's club and plans for a room in the parish hall and monthly meetings. With the men coming closer into touch with one another the influence of this on the congregation, as well as the opportunity of the clergy in this respect, were emphasized.

In a complimentary and earnest manner Bishop Farthing moved a vote of thanks to Bishop Farthing. The resolution, which was unanimously carried, had found a ready seconder in R. Elston Burns. His lordship of Kingston enlarged briefly on what the previous speaker had said.

During the evening entertaining vocal numbers were well received from C. S. R. Harvey, J. Cousins and G. H. Gillespie. R. R. F. Harvey was accompanist, while L. Marchand played the piano during the dinner.

Sergeant Major Kerrison, of the R. M.C., and young ladies of the A.Y. P.A., who provided and served the menu were thanked. The curate, Rev. Mr. Bourne, was one of those to whom is attributed credit.

THE ARTS SOCIETY DEPRECIATES FRESHMAN'S RUSHES

Prof. Mitchell Laments Overdrawn Sense of Modesty in Women's Dress — Dean Coleman Addresses Those Who Will Teach in West.

The Art's society met on Tuesday afternoon. Some members deprecated the annual freshmen's rushes as at present carried on, and a committee was appointed to see if some form of contest could be introduced which would eliminate the disagreeable features.

Prof. G. W. Mitchell presented the Mitchell Shield to Arts '14, winners of the Arts inter-year rugby championship. Prof. Mitchell gave a brief address which was decidedly interesting. He mentioned the desirability of the foreign element on the teaching staffs of our universities, especially in the foreign language departments, and then took up the question of women's dress, deploring the overdrawn sense of modesty which characterizes people to-day.

On Monday afternoon Dean Coleman gave the first of a series of lectures for the benefit of the students who intend teaching in the west during the coming summer, and who have not the advantage of a regular course in education. Judging by the size of the audience, which filled the large English room to capacity, Queen's will be well represented in the schools of Saskatchewan this summer.

Principal Gordon was present and briefly addressed the gathering on the duties, opportunities and responsibilities of those in charge of the pioneer schools.

A number of students who have already taught in the west brought up difficulties they had met with, and these will be dealt with at subsequent lectures. The meetings will consist largely of discussions, and should prove very helpful to the student teachers.

ONTARIO TANKARD GAMES

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy

It's true, the season is here, with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses are grandmother's remedy but that has long ago been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most world-famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of cod's liver, without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts health color in your cheeks.

N. G. Cliff, of Opelika, Ala., says: "Last summer I was all run-down, no strength, no appetite. I took Vinol and was greatly benefited by its use, as I soon felt strong and well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not.
