THE HUMANE SOCIETY
HELD ITS ANNUAL MEETING IN ST. GEORGE'S HALL
On Monday Evening a Programme was Given, in Which Some of the School Children Took Part.

The annual meeting of the Kingston Humane Society was held on Monday evening in St. George's hall. A good-sized crowd was entertained to a delightful concert which preceded the business meeting. Various speakers included Mayor Shaw, Rev. S. J. M. Compton, Dr. T. B. Scott (of Ceylon), Rev. J. W. McIntosh, and W. H. N. Gill, Regiopolis College, gave very interesting addresses, which made a good impression upon the "Band of Mercy" supporters organized throughout the city in the different schools. In addition songs and recitations were rendered by the pupils of Catarqui, Central, Frontenac, Louise, Macdonald and Sydenham schools. Monday night was to have represented Victoria school was unable to do so on account of illness.

Miss A. M. Machar, who has been doing splendid work along the lines of creating a spirit of kindness to dumb animals among the school children, and at various times throughout the term she pays visits to the schools and gives talks to the pupils. The movement is known as the "Band of Mercy," which already has a large number of adherents.

Mayor Shaw was chairman of the evening. He impressed upon the audience the value of the humane society, and asked what would this city be like if it did not have this organization.

Rev. Mr. Compton aroused the children to a keen interest, and told them to be watchful to do their part in connection with this good work. He asked them to keep their eyes open, and if they saw any animal ill-using an animal to report that person to a member of the humane society, and in so doing they will aid wonderfully in the society's work.

Rev. T. B. Scott, of Ceylon, gave a very pleasing address. He said that when a person dies in Ceylon natives think that his soul is born into some animal. For this reason the animals are treated with much kindness and to injure one is considered a crime.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh was pleased to see the children so ably take their part. He strongly commended the importance of this "Band of Mercy" movement.

Mr. Gill, of Regiopolis College, also heartily endorsed the good work and hoped it would be continued by the pupils to the succeeding generations.

The business meeting which followed was brief. The report was read by J. R. C. Dobbs and showed the society to be in a fairly good condition. The following were chosen as a board of directors for the year: Lieut.-Col. J. Massie, Prof. F. O. Willhoff, Col. H. G. Ogilvie, W. H. N. Gill, Miss M. Betts.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. J. H. V. Crowe, who, when she was in the city, did such good work. She was chosen as an honorary member of the society. W. F. Nickle, M.P., and Dr. A. E. Ross, M.P.P., were chosen as honorary presidents.

PROF. MORISON'S LECTURE

To the Collegiate Students on "Elizabethan Seamen."

J. L. Morison, M.A., professor of history in Queen's University, favored the collegiate students on Monday night, with a thoroughly interesting illustrated address on "Elizabethan Seamen." He told how men were led to the new world by three differing motives. Marco Polo's descriptions of the wealth of Cathay and Zipangu had set men's brains on fire and don't of British seamen risked their all to find the way to China, Davis, Frobisher and others by the north-west coast. In spite of disaster and tragedy which overtook many of these men, the torch was handed on, and the unbroken chain of Arctic explorers extends from that day to this, when we still thrill with the story of Capt. Scott's adventures. Others, chief among them Sir Walter Raleigh, desired to find a great English empire, to rival Spain, Holland, Portugal and Drake, fearless pirates, who braved the deep and the Spaniard, and brought gold and jewels home to their queen. Their wonderful voyages are fascinating, and their fight with the Armada, one of England's greatest victories.

It was in the time of Henry VIII and Elizabeth that the foundation of Britain's naval power was laid. The lantern slides showed the warships of that time and this, and the men who commanded them.

A vote of thanks was moved by Kenneth Taylor and seconded by Miss Janet Saunders, and heartily applauded by the students.

Sand Hill Church Event

On Monday evening, the choir of the First Baptist church was present at the annual tea meeting and entertainment at the Sand Hill Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Storer, pastor, acted as chairman. The following contributed: Choruses by the choir, instrumental selections by Clara Smith, J. Gibson, and S. A. Salsbury; solos, Mrs. T. J. Turner, Miss Maribel Brethwaite, Clara Smith, H. Tidwell, Mrs. T. J. Turner and Miss Maribel Smith, Miss Sharpe, of Glenburnie, also favored with a solo. The receipts amounted to $125.

ALD. FAIR CHAIRMAN
Of the Bureau of Industry and Information.

On Monday afternoon the Bureau of Industry and Information organized for the year. Ald. W. J. Fair was elected chairman. He and the other members of the civic industries committee—Ald. J. S. R. McCann and A. W. Richardson—were present. Robert Meek, J. M. Campbell and W. H. Hyde, the president and members of the Board of Trade, which, with the aldermen, constitutes the bureau, were also in attendance.

A number of matters were discussed. The most important was a resolution passed requesting the Civic Utilities commission to ask the Hydro-Electric commission if it is prepared to supply power to Kingston, and, if so, when. The meeting was held in the Board of Trade rooms.

The body of Mrs. Baker, Detroit, was found embedded head downward in solid ice in River St. Clair. "Spear-mint gum," 50c. box. Gilson's.
