cent of the aggregate. To remedy this latter condition, the township council should appoint truant officers and see that they do their duty. To secure more county teachers, inspector recommended the consolidation of many of the schools. For instance in Kingston township there are fifteen public schools, and the total salaries paid teachers is $7,324.82. The average attendance is 265. If these fifteen could be consolidated into three or, four schools, with eight or nine teachers, over $2,000 would be saved and better results would be obtained. Then again, there should be more continuation schools in Frontenac. The inspector suggested that these be established at Joyceville or Cushen-dall; at Sharbot Lake, and perhaps at Verona and Cataraqui. He would re-It pays to buy now. Such a school in Pittsburg would draw pupils of that township who are at present going to Gananoque high school, and for whose maintenance the county last year was called upon Inspector Truscott stated that there were 101 teachers in south Frontenac, whom thirty-five had model certificates and thirty-four only temporary certificates. Ninety of the 101 were female teachers. The salaries paid were: For second class teachers, $500 to $800; third class, $300 to $635; temporary, $265 to $5.25.

As to the school buildings, the spector noted that the most serious fefect was with regard to ventilation. This was a matter that should be

But on this occasion Reid and Hambrook, caterers, served supper in Ontario hall. The dance proramme was a little more lengthy, the strains of "Home Sweet Home" and the "King," resounding at two o'clock on Wednesday morning. The invitations had been limited, which guarded against overcrowding. The 250 young people present, many of whom were from out-of-town, enjoyed a capital time on the splendid floor surface for twenty-seven numbers, all waltzes and two-steps. The ban had been placed on the "freak" dances, and no "tango" artists, etc., were counten-

Leicester Lodge, No. 33, S.O.E.B.S., met on January 26th to observe past president night, and spent one of the most enjoyable times ever held in their lodge rooms. This followed after the business part of the evening had been concluded. The various offices were filled by past presidents and a warm welcome was extended the visiting members of Cambria Lodge, No. 134, of Gananoque, which numbered eighteen members. They drove up from that place to pay a fraternal visit to the Kingston lodge and help to carry out the duties of past president night. The programme in connection with the pleasing event in-cluded songs by Bros. Andrews, Ayers, Deemer, Jackson, Leach, Ford, Robertson, Perry, Kittley, Knowler; recitations by Messrs. Hawley, Holling. Myles; piano solo by Mr. Nott. The programme was concluded with a grand parade of the musical club of Cambria lodge, which proved to be classy affair, and was much enjoyed. William Dumbleton was presented with a past president's jewel, after the re-ceiving of which he responded in a few well chosen words. Mr. Dumbleton thanked the members for their remembrance and renewed his obligation of fidelity to the order. Refreshments were later served and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward for the manner in which they so tastefully had them served. The event closed by singing the national an-
