

FENIAN RAID VETERANS NOW NUMBER 33,000

About 15,000 Applications From Nova Scotia

AN ORDER WAS ISSUED

BY THE GOVERNOR OF THAT PROVINCE

Calling Out Militia in 1860, and Evidently Hon. Sam Hughes Did Not Know About This Little Matter.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—An extraordinary situation has developed over the $100 bonuses which Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes decided he would pay to the Fenian raid veterans for which he had legislation enacted. Ten thousand Canadians took up arms against the invaders, and as the event occurred over forty years ago a large proportion of the veterans have died. When Col. Hughes decided that the best way to satisfy the claims of the survivors was to pay them $100, he thought there would be only a few hundred left. He did not know, however, that the then governor of Nova Scotia had issued an order calling out the men and the militia of that province to the defence of that part of Canada. Such an order was not issued in any other province, and so in Nova Scotia there were many thousands under arms who never went to the front. None the less, however, they are entitled to the bounty in virtue of the order of the governor of the province. About 15,000 applications for the $100 have been received from Nova Scotia alone. The total applications to date are $2,000 and about 15,000 claimants have been paid, leaving 18,000 to be dealt with. Yet only 10,000 men went to the front.

THE WESLEYAN CLUB

Provided the Programme at the Gathering.

On Sunday afternoon the session of Sydenham St. Methodist church Bible school was conducted by the young men of the Wesleyan club one of the school's organizations. The vice-president was acting superintendent, and Messrs. E. Martin, E. Davis, G. and Messrs. Allen took part in the programme. Mr. Martin gave an illustrated talk on the work of Dr. Grenfell along the Labrador coast, in which he had been engaged for some years.

Two other features of the programme was the christening by Rev. Alfred Brown, of the young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Simpson, and the unveiling, by Mayor Shaw, of a portrait of Rev. Dr. John Dunlop, a "product" of the school, now holding a responsible position in Japan.

A NIGHT PROWLER

He Was Seen When Lady Raised Blind.

On Saturday morning at an early hour, Miss Jeanie Livingston, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Livingston, 455 Princess street was aroused from her slumbers by the sound of some one trying to get into the house. She got up to bed and went to the window. Upon raising the blind, she was surprised to find a man evidently trying to make his way into the house.

The night prowler had to climb up on the veranda before he was able to get up to the window. Several complaints have been heard about a night prowler in that neighborhood during the past week. One resident stated to the Whig that she was unable to sleep one night on account of some unknown person prowling around the yards in the vicinity of her house.

All Things Come to Him Who Works

Just think of that phrase a moment, Mr. Dealer. Then you might supplement it with this thought—that all things come more easily to the man who works intelligently. That means that when the manufacturer of a nationally distributed product comes into the newspapers of your town to make a market for your goods it is time for you to help. That is INTELLIGENT WORK. It is easier to sell goods with which the public is made acquainted through the newspapers. There is at least a natural curiosity to see them. Move with the tide, not against it. The going is easier. Show the goods. Use the newspapers and by all means use your counters and your windows to advantage. Merchandise along the line of demand, the sales will take care of themselves, and the manufacturer is going to have a warm spot in his heart for you. He is going to keep your town and your store in mind the next time he embarks on an educational campaign.

OF WHICH JESUS SPOKE

Foundations of Tower of Siloam, Palestine, Discovered

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 2.—News of the finding of the foundation of the Tower of Siloam was received by Rev. Dr. Max Hehlman, of the Episcopal Theological school, from a friend at Jerusalem, Saturday. This was the tower concerning which Jesus is quoted in Luke xiii, 4, as saying: "Those eighteen upon whom the tower of Siloam fell and slew them, think ye that they were sinners above all men that dwell in Jerusalem?"

The excavators, according to the message, have "discovered a long, well-out Greek inscription, which speaks of the presbyters and fathers with Simonides, laying the foundation of the synagogue, the baths and cisterns. These baths and the foundations of the synagogue are exposed. They have found the base of a circular tower which may well be that of the tower of Siloam, spoken of by Christ.

BYE-ELECTION BRIBERY

Charges in Manitoba Legislature Starts Warm Discussion.

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—There was a warm time in the Manitoba legislature when Opposition Leader Norris made a speech criticizing the budget statement and charged that the expenditure of a large sum of money in Manitoba was a by-election there was virtual bribery. This statement was hotly denied by Premier Roblin and L. L. Taylor, member for Gimli, and for a time the house was in disorder.

HISTORICAL PICTURE FOR BRANT PEOPLE

A Print of Chief Brant Sent To The Brant Historical Society

Brantford, Feb. 2.—So far as is known locally there is only one authentic portrait of Chief Joseph Brant in existence. That is a portrait painted by Stewart, in the possession of the Duke of Northumberland, the hereditary seat of the Duke of Northumberland. It was painted by Stewart in 1786 for the then Duke who had seen service with Chief Brant in 1776, and when Brant was in the old country he made a sitting.

Mrs. J. Y. Brown, through the kindness of Earl Grey, formerly governor-general of Canada, has received from the Duke of Northumberland a print especially taken for her of the oil painting, the only one which can be traced back to an authentic source.

The print, she said, will be handed over to the Brant historical society at the next meeting of that organization, while it has also been photographed so that other copies will be available. The hearty thanks of Mrs. J. Y. Brown has been extended to their grace the Duke of Northumberland and Earl Grey for their kindness.

SEEKS HIS DISMISSAL

School Inspector Defends Position Against Ratepayers.

Brookville, Feb. 2.—William Johnston, the veteran school inspector of one of the Leeds county districts, appeared before the Counties Council and defended his position against a largely signed petition from the ratepayers of the district asking for his dismissal on the grounds of old age and incapacity. He characterized the accusation of physical incapacity as a farce and cited that in his thirty-six years as an inspector he had experienced only one illness. As to the other charges, Inspector Johnston contended that he had simply carried out the rules and regulations laid down by the department of education which were so binding as to allow very little latitude in their interpretation. The council deferred action until the June session.

A PURER DEMOCRACY HAS MANY DANGERS

Such Is The Declaration of W. N. Taft Before an Ottawa Audience

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Never was such a reception given a guest as that extended to William Howard Taft, Ex-President of the U.S., and now professor in law at Yale University Saturday afternoon when he spoke on Canada and some of the most significant features in modern Canadian history. The feature of his address was his comment on the dangers, as he described it, threatening the representative form of government on the part of those who want to bring about what they term a purer form of democracy.

It was one of the most distinguished audiences that has ever assembled to greet a visitor to the city His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, and his staff were present. Premier Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of the supreme court, all the cabinet ministers, all the judges of the supreme court, Lord Chelmsford, of England, J. Norton Griffiths, M.P., in the British parliament, and prominent men in all walks of life were there. Mr. Taft was visibly affected by the demonstration he received.

Money Was Recovered
In the fire which occurred on Livingston street, on Friday night, it was reported that Mrs. Dawson had lost a watch and some jewelry, when goods were being removed from the house. It appears that the valuables were just misplaced, and not stolen. The police were notified to this effect.

CLOSER UNION

Between Anglican and Other Churches Advocated

TORONTO ARCHDEACON CONDEMNNS THE ISOLATION OF HIS CHURCH

Will It Be Exclusive or a Broad National Church?—Teaching of the Great Men of Past is Against Narrowness

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Archdeacon Coder, preaching at St. Paul's church yesterday morning upon the now famous Kikuyu case of British East Africa, made a powerful appeal for closer relations between the Anglican church and other Protestant denominations. "Is the Church of England compelled by her formularies to have no part with non-episcopal churches?" asked the speaker, and immediately replying to his own question he uttered an emphatic "No."

This exclusive and isolated position is an innovation in Anglican teaching and is derived from the Tractarian movement; it cannot be proved by scripture, by the history of the whole church, by the language of the prayer book itself, which, while amply asserting episcopacy as its own order dating from the apostolic times, never draws that ruthless inference against the church life of others. It is incapable of proof from the views and practices of our greatest church men after the reformation.

"Is the Church of England in her efforts towards reunion to seek such with the Roman Catholic and Greek churches or with the sister churches of the reformation?" asked Archdeacon Coder. "The first policy would be a reversal of our past history and would only lead to disappointment and failure. The latter policy is not only consistent with our history as a reformed church, but is right in itself and full of great promise. The process of reunion must be slow. Great patience must be exercised, and the path which we should follow is that which tends to closer relation with those great non-episcopal communions holding the fundamental truths embodied in our own book of common prayer, and churches which a pan-anglican synd has freely declared to have done manifold work at home and abroad."

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

PHILLIPS-ALBRIGHT WRESTLING MATCH TUESDAY NIGHT

James Bews to Referee — N. H. A. Scores Saturday Night — Belleville Won the Indoor Baseball Match.

Frank Phillips, who will wrestle Con. Albright, in the Ontario hall, on Thursday night, has been in training for the past week or so. He has been doing a lot of road work, and he is of the opinion that although he will have a hard match to defeat that he will win nevertheless.

Phillips has worked off five pounds since he started to train, having weighed 157 pounds at the start and at the present weighs 152 pounds, which is good proof of the way in which he has been training. It is altogether likely that Phillips will go to Montreal and meet some of the wrestlers in that locality. Montreal is at present turning out a number of good men, and Phillips, who has yet to be downed by a man of his own weight, says that it is altogether likely that he will take on some good men from Montreal if he is not defeated by Albright.

Great interest is being shown at the present in sporting circles, and many are the opinions with regard to the outcome of the match. James Bews, Queen's physical instructor, will act as referee. A better man could not have been secured, as Mr. Bews understands the art of wrestling thoroughly, being himself an instructor.

15th Take Group

By defeating the Kingston permanent officers in the armories at Belleville on Saturday night the officers of the 15th regiment of that city practically "cinched" the group. The visitors led a great part of the game, but "as per usual," had a disastrous bad inning in which the Belleville military men scored ten runs. The final score was thirty to twenty-two.

NEGLECT THEIR SONS IN RUSH FOR MONEY

Governor Arraigns Western Parents for Not Rearing Children More Carefully

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—"For all the money spent to improve our wheat, our cattle and our business industries, hardly a dollar is laid aside to assist the boy who has been handicapped for want of proper parental care," said Governor George H. Hodges, of Kansas, addressing a session of the South-Western Lumbermen's Association on the topic "Father and Son."

"Our country is money mad," he said. "In our efforts to accumulate wealth, we neglect the duties we owe our future citizens, the small boys." Governor Hodges read statistics from the Kansas Industrial School for Boys at Topeka, showing that of the 225 boys there 22 used intoxicating liquors, 108 used tobacco, 55 had drunk wine, and the parents of 75 had separated after domestic upheavals.

ITALIAN DEPORTED

On Tuesday, when he was released from the penitentiary, Salvatore Albanese, an Italian, about twenty-five years of age, was taken in charge by J. Devlin, immigration inspector, for deportation. The foreigner was handcuffed when taken to Montreal on the noon G.T.R. train, where he will be put on board steamer and sent back to "Sunny Italy." He is considered a dangerous man, and had finished a term of two years and a half at the provincial prison, for wounding with intent to kill. He landed in New York in 1910, and came on to Toronto, where he got into the scrap which resulted in his sentence.

REDUCTION IN DUTIES ON FARM IMPLEMENTS

The Government Is Likely To Make One

TO APPEASE THE WEST

AND STEM TIDE OF LIBERAL ARGUMENTS.

The Proposed Cut May Be 2 1/2 or 15 Per Cent. — There is no Prospect of a Complete Abolition of Duty.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—That the present session will see a reduction in the duties levied upon agricultural implements in a statement made by a conservative in close touch with the government, leaders. It has been known, of course, that some of the western members supporting the government have been pressing for action of this kind in the hope that such a move would lessen the strength of the tide in favour of liberalism in the western provinces, but heretofore it has been understood that Mr. Borden and his colleagues had remained unfavorable to a step which would not be well received by their eastern manufacturing friends. Now, however, it is stated that the government is quite likely to make a slight reduction, hoping in this way to help the conservative cause in the west, and being careful to have the reduction so slight that it will not seriously affect the profits of the implement makers.

One suggestion is that the reduction will be a cut of two and a half per cent, which would place the duty at the figures provided for by the reciprocity agreement. If the liberals made no movement in regard to a greater cut in the implement duty at the present session, the western conservatives would then be able to say farmers that the government had done as much for them in this regard as the Laurier administration had proposed to do.

There are others, however, who believe that the duty may be placed by who hold to this view take the ground that if the duty is to be reduced at all the government will undo the former liberal proposals, believing that only in this way can there be any political advantage from action in the matter.

No Abolition of Duty.
It may be taken for granted that under no circumstances will the government do more than make a comparatively small reduction in the existing duty on the duty on farm machinery will, however, not be met by the government, no matter what else may be done. The manufacturing interests to which the government is interested to have looked out for this.

Incidentally, it may be noted that W. F. Cookshutt, the conservative member for Brantford, would have had something to say last week against the reduction of the implement duty if it had not been for some of the western conservatives.

It may be taken for granted that under no circumstances will the government do more than make a comparatively small reduction in the existing duty on the duty on farm machinery will, however, not be met by the government, no matter what else may be done. The manufacturing interests to which the government is interested to have looked out for this.

As yet the liberal position on the question of the implement duty has not been formally declared this session, though several opposition members have voiced a demand for the complete abolition of the present tax. It may be expected, however, that when the budget comes down, the opposition will call for more than a slight cut. Events since 1911 have clearly demonstrated that the time has come for more vigorous action in respect to the duty on the farmers' machinery than seemed to be necessary when the reciprocity agreement was proposed, and the liberals are alive to the fact.

LIBERALS HAVE SCORED IN CHATEAUGUAY CASE

Montreal, Feb. 2.—Judge Charbonneau delivered judgment Saturday afternoon at Valleyfield on the first round of the liberal protest against the Chateauguay election on Oct. 11th, when James Morris, conservative, defeated Hon. Sidney Fisher, liberal ex-minister of agriculture. The judge's decision is a victory for the liberals.

Four liberals filed a petition on Nov. 17th, 1913, asking that the election be voided on the grounds of corruption alleged to have been practised by members of the conservative forces.

Counsel-in-Chief Mr. Morris filed preliminary objections to the petition in which it was argued that the petitioners were not properly qualified voters.

2. That the security for costs was not valid; and
2. That the security for costs was an alternative form.

It was on these preliminary objections by Mr. Morris that Judge Charbonneau passed judgment this afternoon. His lordship decided that none of them could be sustained, that the hearing on the merits of the allegations contained in the liberal petition will now take place.

WINTER TO BE SHORT.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—This is a bear day in Canada and a groggy hog day in the United States, but the observatory discredits the tradition of the shadow on Candlemas Day. The general opinion of the officials, here, is, notwithstanding what Mr. Bear does to-day, this will be a comparatively short winter, with an early spring.

CASTING DISCREDIT ON IRISH HOME RULE

Unionist Papers Are Pointing To The Situation In South Africa

London, Feb. 2.—"When home rule in South Africa has resulted so disastrously to British liberty, how can home rule in Ireland be more effective?" This is the tenor of the articles this morning in several unionist papers who are making most of the situation in South Africa to cast discredit on home rule for Ireland. It is stated in the Times to-day that England may yet have to send to South Africa more troops to assert imperial supremacy over the subordinate legislature of South Africa. Some imperialists declare that Governor-General Gladstone should be instructed to refuse sanction of government measures in South Africa, till British masses amend for the exiling of the labor leaders. The more moderate press, however, thinks the most the imperial parliament could do would be to pass a resolution of protest.
