

NAVAL STRENGTH WEAK IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

Britain Would Suffer In Case Of War

THIS IS THE OPINION

OF MILITARY CORRESPONDENT OF LONDON TIMES

Says That in Event of War Between England and Triple Alliance, Command of Mediterranean Would Likely Pass Into Hands of Germany's Allies.

London, Feb. 4.—The command of the Mediterranean in case of war between England and the triple alliance seems likely to pass to Germany's allies.

This is the grave conclusion of which the military correspondent of the Times (Colonel Remington) arrives, after a searching and detailed examination of the facts.

According to admiralty figures, Great Britain's average surplus for the Mediterranean in 1913-14, after allowing for the necessary force for the North Sea, will be only seven dreadnoughts. Yet Italy will have eight ready in 1916, and ten in 1917, and Austria will have at least four.

The peril to which the seat of the empire and diplomacy and the route for half Great Britain's food supplies and raw materials would be thus exposed will be vigorously pressed upon the ministry during the coming session of the British parliament.

The unionists contend that the cabinet must keep the pledges given to Canada and the other dominions and to the British people that the empire's naval strength in the Mediterranean shall be maintained, even though Canada failed in her promise aid.

The minimum demanded is a one-power standard force in the Mediterranean. Otherwise, the unionists maintain British diplomacy will be endangered, and the British Islands will stand in constant peril of starvation, if not invasion.

LOCATED THE HULK

OF THE STEAMER JAMES S. CARRUTHERS

London, Ont., Feb. 4.—What may be the hulk of the James S. Carruthers, the ill-fated freighter which went down with all hands on Lake Huron in a terrific storm that swept lakes early in November, carrying death and destruction in its wake, has been located north by north-east of Alpena by several fishermen of that town.

Change Cup Dates

London, Feb. 4.—Goderich citizens it is learned, are making every effort to have the government locate a big military training camp there permanently rather than in London. Leading militiamen will try to have the training season changed from June to October in order to get the farmers' sons and hired farm help, unavailable in the rush of the spring work.

Two Can Push Harder than One

That is literally true when both are pushing in the same direction.

It clearly states the case regarding the new idea of co-operative work between dealer and manufacturer for the pushing of goods advertised in the newspapers.

In this case both are pushing in the same direction towards increased sales and better service to the consumer.

It is the most practical merchandizing idea that has been suggested in half a century and is another evidence of the great power peculiar to the newspapers of this country as a sales producing agency.

Advertisers long ago realized that the newspapers were the surest and most efficient advertising medium.

DYING MAN'S QUEST

Tries to Find Father of the Boy He Adopted.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—Writing from his death-bed in Pendeen, Cornwall, England, John Dennis, suffering from an incurable disease contracted in South Africa's diamond fields, implores Chief of Police Campbell to locate a one-time miner, now believed to be practising as an attorney in this city.

This letter, feebly scrawled, tells a story described by the chief as the most pathetic he has read in all his police experience.

Dennis, and one Duncan Graham, for whom the police inquest, were fellow miners in South Africa some twelve years ago. Both men were married and living close together, a strong friendship grew up between them. Graham "struck it rich" and while success was almost withheld in his grasp his young wife died in giving birth to a son. Graham started for Canada, leaving the baby in charge of Dennis, who promised to care for it as his own son. Soon Dennis' wife also died, and Dennis wandered forth from the mines, to settle down in Pendeen.

Now he fears that the son of his friend will be sent to the workhouse, as he has nothing to leave him. The boy is now ten years of age, strong and healthy.

BOUGHT KNIGHTHOOD ON INSTALMENT PLAN

Purchaser Died Before He Made Final Payment Into The Party Funds

London, Feb. 4.—The sensational statements made by Sir George Kekewich on Oct. 30th to the effect that there was a regular system by which honours were sold by tariff to political and other favorites have been corroborated by D. A. Thomas, ex-M.P. for Merthyr and for Cardiff, and one of the largest coal operators in South Wales.

Speaking in London, Mr. Thomas said that of ten men who had changed their politics since 1906 he was the only one who had not received either office, honor or title. One recipient had agreed to pay for his knighthood in three instalments, but unfortunately for the party fund he died after he had paid only one instalment. He instructed the case of a whole family in which the father, mother, brother, sisters, even the dog and cat, had changed their politics. Two peacages went to that family.

FRANCE'S GREAT PROBLEM

Ancient Foundling Hospital Scheme May Be Revived.

Paris, Feb. 4.—The chamber of deputies is discussing a law for the re-establishment of foundling hospitals, where babies will be received by the state and cared for without any questions being put to their parents, as the only means of reducing infant mortality due to crime. The system advocated is that which was in practice before 1865, in accordance with which a mother who wished to part with her child went to a local institution, rang a bell and placed the infant on a shelf attached to a revolving door which opened and closed again. No formality was required. It is supposed that the temptation to kidnap illegitimate children would thus be removed.

SLUMP IN THE WEST

Visitor Says Land Can Be Purchased Cheap Now.

That there has been a great slump in the west, and that land can be purchased there at a very cheap price, is the statement of C. H. Nelson, of Acme, Alberta, who is spending a few days in the city.

Speaking to the Whig Mr. Nelson said that now was a most opportune time for a person to buy land in the west if he had money to spare, as it could be purchased very cheap.

The reason for the slump, was that a few days in the city. Speaking to the Whig Mr. Nelson said that now was a most opportune time for a person to buy land in the west if he had money to spare, as it could be purchased very cheap.

SEX HYGIENE STIRS VILLAGE.

Children Withdrawn From School—Teacher to Resign.

London, Feb. 4.—The village of Drolfield, in Derbyshire, is in a ferment over the teaching of sex hygiene. It is alleged that Miss Outram, who has been headmistress of the local school for 21 years, explaining the origin of birth to certain girls who were leaving the school to go out into the world. This statement shocked the village, and Miss Outram's dismissal was earnestly urged. The local school managers forwarded the request for the dismissal to the county education committee, which has replied that it does not see its way to ask Miss Outram to resign. This has so incensed the villagers that they are withdrawing their children from the school. The School Teachers' union is handling the case on behalf of Miss Outram, with the knowledge that other teachers have been permitted to refer to the subject with elder girls. Miss Outram declares that she did not touch upon sexual matters, but admits that she might have done so if the circumstances required. She has expressed her regret over the incident to the county authority and now declines to discuss the subject in any way.

MINER LOST HIS LIFE AFTER FINDING FORTUNE

Pathetic Romance Ends in Wilderness of Alaska—Sister Gets News

Duluth, Feb. 4.—A romance made pathetic by a lonely death on a trail in the wilderness of Alaska was revealed in a telegram received by Mrs. I. H. Haslam, of this city. The telegram was sent from Candle, Alaska, where the body of William H. Meyers, her brother, was found. Beyond the statement of the death no particulars were given. Meyers was a placer miner, and had extensive holdings in gold and coal mines about Candle and White Horse Pass. For fifteen years he operated in Alaska, where he met Miss L. B. Hayes, a Kentucky girl, who went in to teach school. Meyers planned to emerge from the wilderness Christmas and marry the young teacher. The girl is thought to be in Seattle.

Relative plans to have the body brought out to the place of his birth, Prince Edward Island, when navigation opens in the spring. The telegram stated that Meyers was frozen to death. His last letter said he had found a fortune.

AVIATOR DROPPED 3,000 FEET

Kept His Nerve and Glided Safely to Earth.

New York, Feb. 4.—While Charles O. Niles, a youthful Rochester, N.Y., aviator, was making a flight upside down at an altitude of about 3,000 feet over the Hempstead Plains of Long Island, the gasoline in the engine of his monoplane gave out. Tail first, the machine dropped quickly. Niles remained calm, however, and with dexterity partly righted the monoplane and made a safe landing after a series of spiral dives.

WOMEN MAKE VAIN PLEA

President Refuses to Take Stand on Suffrage

Washington, Feb. 4.—President Wilson gave no encouragement to a delegation of 300 working women who marched on the White House with a brass band and flying colors to ask his support for a constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

Twenty-five of the women were received by the president, and five in short speeches presented their argument. The president reiterated that as leader of the democratic party he was limited only to recommending those things on which the party had made up its mind.

DENY CANNIBALISM AMONG THE RED MEN

Ottawa Believes The Story is Repetition of Insane Squaw's Chatter

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—That there have been many reports of cannibalism among the Indians of the far north is denied by Duncan Campbell Scott, superintendent of Indians. Several months ago the department received a cable from England stating that an Indian woman, apparently demented, was at Sandicham insisting on seeing the king. She claimed that her people were being starved by the government of Canada, and that as a result cannibalism was being practiced. Mr. Scott, on behalf of the minister of the interior, cabled a reply that the woman must be insane, and that no reports had reached Ottawa of cannibalism. Nothing further was heard of the matter. That is the only rumor that has reached Ottawa in recent years of such practices in the far north. Mr. Scott reports that this is an exceptionally good winter for the red man, and that, although there is some hardship, the Indians as a whole are well off.

STILL UNREPRESENTED

Sydenham Ward is Not Yet Represented on Board of Education

Sydenham ward is still without a representative on the Board of Education. At the general elections in January, there was no candidate in the field, and as a result a special date had to be set for nomination. Wednesday noon was set for the nominations, but the deputy returning officer, W. J. Towers, received no nominations, and as a result the clerk will have to name another date, when a third attempt will be made to select a trustee for this ward.

Bereaved By Death

Mrs. L. W. Gill, "Hazeldeh," has been bereaved by the death of her mother, Mrs. James Morey, Milford, Mass., who died on Tuesday, after an illness of a few weeks. Her husband, Mr. Morey, passed away on the 24th of November last. Mrs. Gill will be tendered the sympathy of many friends.

PEOPLE AWAIT

Asquith's Offer Of Concessions To Ulster

SPEECH OF PREMIER

WILL BE CROWNING EFFORT OF HIS LIFE

The Government Will Offer Liberal Concessions, But It Will Not Assent to the Demand for Exclusion.

London, Feb. 4.—There is much speculation concerning the important declaration which Premier Asquith will make on Ulster during the opening debate of parliament on Tuesday of next week.

Among the concessions that he will offer are imperial retention of customs excise and post office, and that Ulster may have a vote on the educational and financial legislation affecting that province. Further provisions will safeguard Ulster's rights in regard to judiciary, marriage, religion and police.

He may offer to consider amendments providing for the retention of the judiciary police under the imperial control for a period of years. Ulster will be guaranteed a most liberal measure of home rule within home rule, but the government will not assent to a demand for exclusion.

It is generally expected that Asquith's speech on this occasion will be the crowning effort of his life.

MAINE ENGINEERS

Delegates Welcomed by Mayor Shaw and Ald. Harrison

At the Wednesday morning session of the National Association of Marine Engineers, the visiting delegates were given a warm welcome by Mayor Abraham Shaw and Ald. T. F. Harrison. Both expressed their pleasure at having the association hold its meeting in Kingston and hoped that their stay would be most beneficial.

There will be no session of the association tonight. The visitors will be the guests of the local council, at their annual ball in the city hall. Thursday afternoon the visitors will be given a drive around the city.

ASKS MILITIA CORPS

IF THEY SHOULD PREFER PETAWAWA TO BARRIEFIELD

Proposed to Take the Infantry of the Third Division Away From the Old Heights Beyond Fort Henry

In military circles it is said that the commanding officers of infantry units of the division are being queried as to whether the officers, N.C.O.'s and men of their commands would favor the proposal to take the regiment to Petawawa for the annual two weeks' training period this summer instead of Barriefield. This would also likely include the local company of Canadian Army Service Corps and the H Field Ambulance, of Ottawa, which was here last June.

This is the first time the proposal has been made. It is understood there is a suggestion to form a composite brigade of the city corps of the second, third and fourth divisions also to train at Petawawa for a brief period.

Doubtless the officers and men of the corps concerned will be heard from soon enough on this matter. It is a safe bet that the 16th, 40th, 42nd, 45th, 47th, 49th and 59th regiments prefer Barriefield rather than a tiresome stay at Petawawa. Two years ago the 14th regiment and some of the other city corps "did" five days at Barriefield. But last year the "trek" was the substitute, and generally speaking, the officers and men enjoyed the instruction, though it was no "child's play." The members of the Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston regiments entertain considerable pride in participating in the first scheme of the kind carried out in Canada.

At the present time all the mounted troops of the division train at Petawawa and the idea is likely to have all the branches of the service there at once.

TORIES CANNOT GIVE DECISION ON TARIFF

Until Hon. W. T. White Recovers on Revision is Likely to Be The Answer

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—The conservatives will hold another full caucus at an early date to consider the question of tariff and other announcements to be made in the coming budget speech. Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, is expected to be present at the next one, his absence from that office to-day preventing any definite decision being reached on the main tariff issues.

To-day the corridors are full of small groups chatting about the question. The general impression prevails that when a caucus vote has been taken, it will find a great majority in government ranks favoring no revision in the tariff during the present session at least.

STRICKEN WHILE DRIVING

Very Sudden Death of Elijah Burke, Oso Station.

Death came with terrible suddenness on Saturday last, to Elijah Burke, about fifty years of age, prominent farmer living near Oso Station. He was driving near his home, with a neighbor, Mrs. Trickey, Mrs. Trickey noticed that he appeared to have lost a grip on the lines, and on making an investigation, found that he had suffered an attack of heart trouble. He was rushed to his home, but only lived a short time.

Deceased was one of the best known farmers in that section of the country and general regret was expressed at his sudden death. He had lived near Oso Station for many years.

The late Mr. Burke is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters, Russell, of Biggar, Sask., Ross and Reginald, at home, and Miss Helene, also at home. He was an Orangeman, and a member of the Anglican church. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon.

A MESSENGER BOY

Heiress Secretly Weds Telegraph Boy—Dying She Leaves Him $200,000

Durham, N.C., Feb. 4.—Sylvanus Gray has just come into a legacy of $200,000 through the death of his wife, who was Miss Lula Johnson, of Lynchburg, Va.

There was a romance in Gray's marriage to Miss Johnson that has just been made known. Gray six months ago was employed as messenger boy by the Western Union Telegraph company. He was delivering a message to Miss Johnson, who was visiting friends here. It was love at first sight. A secret marriage followed and the girl returned to her Virginia home. Dying, she left all her property to her messenger boy husband.

ENTERTAINMENT AT COOKE'S

By the Members of the Young Men's Class

A large audience gathered in the school room of Cooke's church on Tuesday evening, to enjoy the humorous entertainment provided by the members of the young men's class. The program proved very entertaining and varied. Poetess McArthur sang two Scotch songs after the style of "Harry" Lauder, and received vigorous, encores. E. J. Jackson read "The Cremation of Sam McGee," and McStrower sang "The Village Blacksmith," both being greatly enjoyed.

This constituted the first part of the program. The second part was a mock trial which occasioned exceptional merriment. Fing Wing, a Celestial (W. H. Sim), was charged with undermining industrial conditions in Canada, witnesses against him being Jacob Schneider (J. Dunlop), Simon Simple, (W. F. Paynter) and Kitty Maloney, (E. M. Filson), the judge, (J. K. McLaughlin) held all parties under strict control, and with the aid of a capable clerk (W. J. McNabb) and two eloquent lawyers, H. P. Workman and G. Anderson) not to particularize sheriff, constables, and a full jury panel, justice was administered with due ceremonial, and with a good deal of wit and humor. During the jury's absence for deliberation the waiting officials and witnesses beguiled the time with songs too well delivered to be regarded as strictly impromptu. Here as throughout the whole trial, Miss Maloney captivated the hearts of everybody. The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to about $40.

THE WEST PASSED OVER

Winnipeg, Feb. 4.—Regarding the omission of the Canadian west in Lord Strathcona's will, an editorial in the Winnipeg Telegram says to-day: "It will not escape notice that the Canadian west which has been the foundation to Strathcona's fortunes, and opened the way to his public career, which made his name famous, is quite passed over in Lord Strathcona's public benefactions as announced in his will."

One of the city policemen secured a lunch for him, paying for it out of his own pocket. The foreigner will do his best to land a job. Four other unfortunates stayed at the police station over night.

HON. DR. REID ADMITS CHARGES. ANENT "ALERT"

Promises An Investigation Into The Matter

A SERIOUS SCANDAL

FOR THE CUSTOMS MINISTER TO LOOK INTO.

The Exploits of the Alert Put Those of the Minnie M. Into the Shade—Those Responsible to be Dealt With.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—"It will now be fitting for the minister of customs and his party to endeavor to transfer the vocabulary of invective which they have for years devoted to the exploits of the Arctic and the Minnie M., and apply it in all its forcefulness to the 1914 exploits of the Borden government steamer Alert."

declared E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, in concluding the parliamentary revelations which yesterday followed W. F. Carroll's charges of last week.

Mr. Macdonald summarized the facts in the first of a series of revelations which opposition members propose to bring before the house.

The revenue steamer Alert had been taken off her route, sent into waters in which she had no business, and where there was no possibility of smuggling operations, where she had been loaded with whiskey and other intoxicating liquors in direct violation of the provincial prohibition act, and became the private yacht of the conservative organizer and the conservative candidate in the pending by-election at Victoria, Nova Scotia, to convey them on a political mission and entertain their friends and enlist supporters.

Mr. Carroll paraded his demand for some explanation or report from the government when the customs commissioners were under consideration last night. When the matter was before the house last week, Hon. Dr. Reid, minister of customs, was declared by his colleague, Hon. Mr. Hazen, to be the minister responsible for the operations of the Alert in her official capacity, and the former promised to look into the matter. As no report had been forthcoming, the Cape Breton man, reinforced by A. K. Maclean, of Halifax, renewed his charges and demanded the results of the minister's inquiry, if such had really been made.

Minister's Tacit Admission

Hon. Dr. Reid tacitly admitted that the vessel had been employed in the manner charged. He said the Alert had no doubt been there upon her regular business, and had simply taken off her route, sent into waters on board as passengers. As to the conveyance of the liquors the minister said he had to take the word of his officials on the spot. He would, however, "look into it."

Mr. Maclean said that was not definite enough. What did the minister propose to do as a result of the very serious scandal?

Mr. Macdonald demanded an unequivocal answer, and in response to his series of definite demands Hon. Dr. Reid promised to hold a full investigation, to look up the records of official work of the steamer since December 1st last, and to "deal with and discipline the men responsible without gloves."

TO MEET ON BRIDGE OVER NIAGARA RIVER

Incident in Connection With Celebration of One Hundred Years of Peace

London, Feb. 4.—Premier Asquith, Viscount Bryce and a dozen other notables of Britain and the United States, this afternoon, met at the Mansion house to discuss plans for celebrating the centenary of a hundred years of peace between the Anglo-Saxon nations.

It is quite probable that of the interesting and impressive incidents of the celebration will be the meeting between the governor-general of Canada and President Wilson, on one of the big bridges which span the Niagara river. It was in that locality where fighting in the war between the United States and Britain, a hundred years ago, was severest.
