DENIED THEFT CHARGE

BUT PLEADED GUILTY TO A CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

Case of Michael Kelly Adjudged for Three Days — Cap Stolen From Local Hotel — Fine Imposed on Citizen Using Indecent Language.

When Michael Kelly appeared before Magistrate Farrell, Wednesday morning, he pleaded guilty to being drunk, but stoutly denied a second charge lodged against him, that of stealing a Persian lamb cap, the property of Joseph McGrath. The latter went to a local hotel, for supper, on Tuesday evening, and when he came out of the dining room he found that some person had purloined his cap. He had left his coat and cap on a rack just outside of a dining room. The coat was not touched.

One witness, who was called, stated that he saw Kelly with the cap in his hand, but he could not swear that he left the hotel with it. The magistrate remanded Kelly on this charge for three days, in order that the case might be further investigated.

William Moodnauff explained to the magistrate why he had disobeyed a summons, on Tuesday. He said that his wife has told him that she would go down to the court and see if it was necessary for him to come down and then notify him. He was under the impression that his wife would have the case settled. He was working and just as soon as he learned that he was wanted he walked to the police station and gave himself up.

The charge against Moodnauff was that of using indecent language to his wife and daughters. He pleaded guilty, stating that he did not remember anything about it. The magistrate asked the accused if he would go on the "prohibited list," and he consented, stating that he guessed that drinking had been the cause of all his trouble. The magistrate thereupon imposed a fine of $5 and costs, with the understanding being that Moodnauff would place himself on the list.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Heard Lecture by C. M. Barbeau About Canada's Indians

The Kingston Historical Society assembled in the mathematics room of the new arts building, Queen's University, on Tuesday evening, and was treated to a very delightful address by C. M. Barbeau, who is connected with the government bureau of anthropology. Mr. Barbeau has had a wide experience among Canada's Indian tribes, and was able to tell the good sized audience many legends, myths, etc., that the Indians even to-day adhere to as their forefathers did in centuries past. In addition to explaining many of the legends, Mr. Barbeau sang some of the old Indian songs. These songs have no words but are a jumble of sounds. As Mr. Barbeau said they would not appeal much to our refined method of singing, but nevertheless the Indians take the greatest pleasure in them.

The speaker minutely described the once powerful Iroquois tribe, which was comprised of five nations which are now scattered far and wide throughout Canada and the United States. Mr. Barbeau, on his rounds, has made a thorough study of the different types of Indians and took numerous photographs which he had thrown on the screen. While some of these were very unattractive in appearance, the speaker had nothing but the highest praise to offer in their behalf with regard to intelligence. The Indians on the whole are a very superstitious race, and some of the old customs to which they still cling enables Mr. Barbeau to carry out his work of securing and preserving them as a relic for the government. There can be no doubt about it but that the government is doing a wise thing in preserving these relics.

TWENTY-TWO BELOW ZERO

Was How the Thermometer Stood on Wednesday

"Hop along sister Mary, hop along and similar remarks were passed from one to another as citizens hurried to work and business on Wednesday morning. On Tuesday afternoon, the cold began to strengthen until early on Wednesday morning the mercury in the thermometers in the city and district fell to the region of 25 degrees below zero. Dr. A. P. Knight reported the official register to be 21 1-2 degrees below.

People did not waste much time on the streets to-day. It was the second coldest spell of the season. About eight o'clock in the morning the thermometer at the police station registered 24 below. Garden Island experienced the cold to the extent of 24 or 25 below, and at 6.30 a.m. 24 degrees below was reported at Portsmouth.

The Whig called up a resident of Erie, who reported 22 below, though the piercing wind was felt worse than when a short time ago the mercury fell even lower.

Did Not Parade

The intense cold prevented the Minstrels from parading, the band instruments quickly freezing. The band, however, gave a concert in front of the Grand Opera House during the afternoon.

MAN LIVES IN A CAVE

ON THE NORTH SHORE OF LOUGHBORO LAKE

His Mind Was Affected Through An Accident — Will be Examined and Placed in an Asylum.

Mr. Plummer, of Vancouver, is visiting Captain and Mrs. Maurice Plummer, Johnston streets.

The Whig was informed on Thursday that there is a man who lives in a cave on the north shore of Loughboro Lake near Perth road. From all accounts it appears as though his brain was affected as the result of a severe injury which he received while lumbering in the states, where he went about three years ago. While engaged in cutting down trees, one day he had the misfortune to be struck upon the head. He was later taken to his home at the north shore of Loughboro Lake, where he lived with his parents for a while, but later wandered into the woods where he has been living for several months. His relatives cannot find out how he obtains food for a living. They say that it hangs down his back so long that it hangs down his back. The father of the man who is pretty well advanced in years, has become feeble and is afraid to have the man about, so he has notified the authorities who are going to send two specialists to the place and examine the man and have him placed in an asylum. For a while the relatives were unable to locate the wandering son, but one day recently, a brother happened to be going through the woods and noticed him in a cave.
