The Charity Ball, which the different chapters of the Daughters of the Empire held, in the city hall last night was a decided success both socially and financially. Both patronesses and stewards who were on the different committees, have every reason to be proud of the success of their efforts. The platform, which was arranged with comfortable chairs and cushions for those who did not care to dance.

Bridge tables were provided in Ontario Hall and here also at 11.30 a delicious buffet supper was served. The patronesses were Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, who is regent handsomely gowned in black velvet; Mrs. Walter Macneil, who wore a gray chapeau veiled in grey nylon; Mrs. James Hamilton, whose gown was black satin with jet trimmings; Mrs. W. F. Nickle, wearing pale blue satin with tuile of blue nylon; Mrs. A. E. Ross in cream satin, Mrs. Maurice Plummer, and Mrs. A. P. Chown. The stewards, who were indefatigable, included Messrs. W. W. Nelks spent the week-end in Toronto. Miss Goldie Cranston, of Arriprior, is visiting her cousin, Mr. Badgley, in Montreal. Mrs. C. W. Drury, of Montreal, is now the guest of Mrs. J. N. S. Leslie, Emily street. Mrs. Stephen Howard, formerly Miss Edith Drury, is leaving Montreal with her husband and family to reside in Halifax. Mrs. Robert O'Hara, King street, went to Toronto for a week or two. Mr. and Mrs. W. Cannon are home again, after spending a month in Bath, the guest of Mrs. Gunn's sister, Miss Hawley.

The Misses MacIntyre returned home yesterday after visiting Mr. Donald MacIntyre in Toronto for a few days. Mrs. R. T. J. Colman, Miss Shaw, Miss MacKintley and Miss Eileen Wright, returned home on Saturday, after spending the week in Toronto famous the world over. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug-store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Lesson VII.
February 15, 1914.
Luke 11: 37-51.

CHRIST'S HATRED OF SHAMS.
(THE STORY)

The inventive genius shown in the creation of the Pharisaic system of things to be omitted and things to be done surpasses belief. It produced in the last degree. That they could ever have refined themselves into absurd seems incredible. The chief occupation of the ecclesiastics of that day was the making of new ceremonies or explaining and enforcing the same already in existence. The whole system was utterly useless. The very men who were so busy building and repairing it knew this, but their feet on binding burdens on others which they themselves would not touch. One so divinely full of human sympathy as Jesus was could not needs attack it. Being past reformation, nothing short of abolition sufficed. The homely phrase, "Actions speak louder than words," indicated Jesus' method. In a conspicuous manner, before a considerable number of people, he at the house of a Pharisee, he deliberately omitted one of the most venerable before a meal. The observance of this custom created a sensation. There was an ominous murmur rising to positive protest. He served Jesus for a text. He took the outside of a cup or plate if filth was left inside. Ceremonial was an external matter like rubbing the exterior of a vessel. Ritual might be observed or omitted—more honored in the breach, if it did not represent something of other hand, was essentially an inward matter—a right condition of the heart—righteousness. He who had that might do or omit the ceremonial. The Master now proceeds to paint the portrait of the Pharisee whose chief business it is to maintain the system of ceremony. He is absurdly busy about infinitesimal matters, such as the tilting of garden herbs, while he passes by the essential matters which a correct judgment would infallibly indicate. He is destitute of that which is all-inclusive, namely, a sincere love of God.

The Master adds another stroke to the portrait when he describes the Pharisee's vanity. He climbs to highest seats in synagogues or prays at street corners. His dominating motive is to be seen and have praise of men. Jesus gives Pharisaic ecclesiasticism its death thrust that day. Then he writes its epitaph in a single word—"Hypocrisy." He begins the enunciation of the people from a galling yoke. But at the same time, by His reference to the long line of martyrs, He plainly indicates His consciousness of the price He must needs pay to set the people free. The shadow of the cross fell on Jesus' path that day.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN

Winston Churchill's "Inside the Cup" is a powerful, merciless arraignment of present-day Pharisaism—a truthful expose of its futility and hypocrisy. At the same time the book is constructive—showing what the church should be doing in the way of social service. It even indicates a practical outline of procedure. "The outside of the cup" in Jesus' discourse is the part which can be most readily seen. Concern for the shadow and neglect of the substance. It is the substitution of the trivial for the essential—garden herbs in place of judgment, mercy, love and truth.

The genuineness of Jesus' social disposition does not admit of question. He accepted all invitations. He adorned and beautified with his presence all the functions of home and society. We must believe that his downright and sincere moral earnestness in this instance freed him from the imputation of discourtesy to his host. In the original, his language was (i. e., "fools"; literally, "thoughtless ones"). Religious ceremonial is like a ladder. Its appropriate use is to enable one to climb to communion with God. The ceremonialist is one who just runs up and down the ladder, making show of his dexterity. It is an insane procedure. It feeds vanity, leads nowhere, brings contempt on religion. At superficial glance the words "Give alms and all things are clean," seem a poultice for a plutocrat. But the very reverse is true. It is as if Jesus said, "Clean all rapine from the cup, and put a ministering love in its place and all is clean inside and out."

Miss Marion Leslie, William street, is expected home from Ottawa on Friday. Dr. George Hanson, of Montreal, was the guest of Principal Gordon and Miss Gordon during his stay in town. Miss Helen Kirkpatrick, who has been Miss Macaulay's guest, left on Monday for St. John, N.B., and will sail from there for the old country. Miss Hora, King street went to Napanee on Monday. Mrs. Carlos Kirkgard and Miss Gwendeth Merrick have returned from Hamilton, where they were the guests of their brother, Mr. Gordon Merrick, over the week-end. Mr. Edward Wood left, on Tuesday, for New York.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Will Surely Bring Relief—Don't Suffer.
Rheumatism, which perhaps causes more suffering than any other disease, depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and the joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain.
This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.
Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.
Get Hood's to-day. Sold by all druggists.
