THIRTY DOLLAR FINE
WAS IMPOSED ON WILLIAM YOUNG, OF STORRINGTON

Found Guilty of Assaulting and Biting Finger of John Banks — Latter's Finger Was Amputated.

William Young, of the township of Storrington, was found "guilty" by Judge Price, on Saturday morning, on a charge of assault and causing bodily harm, and was fined $30 and costs. Young appeared before Justice George Hunter recently and was committed for trial before Judge Price.

One evening during December Young, it appears, assaulted John Banks, of the same township. During the scuffle which occurred Young bit one of Banks' fingers so severely that it had to be amputated in the Hotel Dieu some weeks later.

For some weeks this case has been causing a great deal of interest among the residents of this section of the county. When the case opened on Saturday morning the court room was crowded.

The accused was willing to acknowledge that he bit Mr. Banks' finger, but stated that it was more or less an accident. The court could not see it that way. The accused also stated that on the evening of the row he happened to be passing along when Banks called out some name, which he thought was meant for him. Young claimed that during the scuffle he was bitten on the face by Banks.

Many witnesses were heard on behalf of the prosecution. All corroborated the statement of Mr. Banks that Young pulled him out of the buggy and started the fight. He stated that he had asked Young not to fight but he paid no attention and went for him.

The evidence of Mrs. Cumpson showed that Young had started the fight and also that he had pulled Banks out of the buggy.

In summing up the case Judge Price stated that the evidence of Mrs. Cumpson was enough to convict Young.

Dr. Freeman, who attended Banks after the unfortunate affair, swore that when Banks came to him for treatment the first joint of the finger had almost been severed by the bite. Although the finger had not been amputated, at first he told Banks it would be impossible to save it.

J. L. Whiting, K.C., appeared on behalf of the prosecution, and T. J. Rigney appeared for Young.

MARINE ENGINEERS IN KINGSTON.
The above is a photograph of a number of the delegates, who were in attendance at the convention of the Grand Council of National Association of Marine Engineers held in Kingston, February 3rd to 6th. A finer lot of "good fellows" could not be found. The convention was a great success, and the delegates five Kingstonians appear in the photograph. In the front row are two veteran marine engineers, Thomas and Alexander Milne. They are wearing fur coats, and sand-wiched between them is the grand secretary, Neil J. Morrison. In the top row are Joseph and A. E. Kenney, and George Fleming.

unable, unassisted, to shake off these foes, are slowly dying through neglect.

Mature trees of whatever species should be at least thirty feet apart and the municipal act empowers municipal councils to remove trees within this limit without the owner's consent. If this provision were judiciously acted upon in the old towns of eastern Canada, the remaining shade-trees would be given a new lease of life. The forestry branch of the department of the interior, Ottawa, has on its staff a skilled silviculturist whose services are available to woodlot owners. Municipal shade-trees are not, strictly speaking, wood-lots, but municipalities so desiring could doubtless secure the advice of this expert regarding the trees requiring removal.

Dark Days for Spinsters
London Chronicle.
Even Dr. Pangloss might receive a shock from the facts disclosed by the report of the Dominion Royal Commission just published. Our worthy optimists in this country have always assumed that the cure for the preponderance of spinsters in the British Isles was for these superfluous ladies to migrate to the Dominion and there marry. Now, unfortunately, the Commission's report suggests that they will not much better their position by making the 12,000 mile journey to Australia. In Australia the chances of marriage are much what they are in this old England. "The proportion of unmarried women to married women between the ages of twenty-five and fifty is practically identical" in the two countries.

The worst of it is that the surplusage of one sex aggravates every social problem. The women who cannot marry must enter some trade or profession to live. There they inexorably dislodge men or send down the man's rate of wages. Thus, to the host of women who cannot by any possibility marry is added yet another multitude of women whom men would marry if they could and if they had not been driven to the wall by the competition of the original superfluity of spinsters.

SHADE TREES SUFFER
Municipalities are Careless of an Important Asset
Dr. Fernow says that in "walking along the streets of any city one will find at least from twenty-five to fifty per cent. of the trees in a damaged condition." In the small towns of eastern Canada, it is safe to say that at least seventy-five per cent. of the shade-trees need attention, for, unlike the cities, these towns employ no "tree doctors" to guard the health of the trees, and even trimming is done but irregularly, and often carelessly. Yet if the shade trees in many of these towns were destroyed one of their chief attractions would be gone.

There are several reasons why the trees in these old towns need attention. The chief is probably due to defective crown development, the result of overcrowding. Misshapen and weakened crowns result in excessive wind-break, and ragged breaks, if left untrimmed, provide the best possible entrance for fungi and insect pests, so that a great number of these fine old shade-trees, which because of their very age are

A Juvenile Guild Event
The Juvenile Guild of St. Andrew's church held a tea and sale at the residence of Miss M. Ferguson, 125 Baggot street, on Saturday afternoon. The tables were dressed with nappies and valentines, and the children who took part were dressed in red and white. The dining room, in which the event was held, was also prettily decorated with pink tulips. Miss Ferguson expects to realize between twenty-seven and thirty dollars from the sale and the proceeds are to be given to the funds of St. Andrew's ward at the General Hospital.

AT THE GRAND
To-night Julia Dean in "Her Own Money"
The brilliant-comedy success by Mark Swan, will be the attraction at the Grand tonight. The play deals humorously with a subject that has its grave aspect to every wife, young or old, and to every young woman who expects to be married. It deals lightly and amusingly, but none the less effectively, with the problem of the wife's "allowance."

Julia Dean appears in the leading role—as Mrs. Alden, a young wife who rebels in spirit if not in deed against the custom which decrees that she must ask her husband for money whenever money is needed to defray the family expenses. The situation which confronts Mrs. Alden, her husband, and their married couple, and still a third couple about to be married brings to light the various phases of the important question of a fair apportionment of the family income between husband and wife. The incidents, though refreshingly amusing, combine to plead the common cause of all wives everywhere. In the case of the Aldens, however, the situation suddenly shifts from humor to grim seriousness and the comedy leaps immediately to the plane of thrilling drama.

The play is supported by an excellent company which includes Helen Lee, Mabel Carruthers, Maud Durand, Lionel Adams, Walter Wilson, Phillips Tead and others.

one memorable performance, Thursday, Feb. 19. In view of the fact that several companies are presenting "Fine Feathers" on the road, many playgoers are likely to doubt the authenticity of an announcement that the original all star cast is to be seen here, as is evident from inquiries received at the box office. But everyone is assured that "Fine Feathers" as it will be presented here is the identical cast and production which ran last season at the Astor Theatre, New York. The wonderful cast includes Wilton Lackaye, Robert Edeson, Max Figman, Rose Coghlan, Florence Rockwell and Lydia Dickson, a group of stars whose fame is known not only over America, but who have gained the praise of the London critics as well. "Fine Feathers" as a play, is too well known to require description, having received more attention from newspapers and magazines than any play produced in New York in years.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel"

Britain Going Ahead
Toronto World.
During the six or seven years that this talk of decadence has been prevalent what has happened? "England," says Sir George Paish, "has saved a sum of £2,000,000,000 sterling or $10,000,000,000. Her income has gone up faster than it ever went before and the result is that we are in a position to do business in the future on a bigger scale than ever we did business in the past."—In the past sixty years Britain has provided capital for Imperial and Foreign countries to the extent of the inconceivable amount of $17,500,000,000 and the greater part of
