THE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS

OF QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY HELD ON SATURDAY MIGHT

The Winners Will be Entered in the Intercollegiate Events at Montreal Next Saturday.

A large number of students and city people filled Queen's gymnasium, Saturday evening, to witness the annual assault-at-arms held to determine the men who would represent the college at the intercollegiate assault-at-arms

The contests started with the 115pound wrestling, in which Roberts dethe match between him and Appleby was exhibition. Both men were in good condition and put up a spirited scrap, showing considerable science, although Denyes was somewhat lacking in guard.

The 125-pound boxing was one of the best of the evening. Hagey (weight, 1241), last year's champion, contested with Dunlop (weight, 125) Both mixed it up, although Hagey rushing, and was given the decision In the 135-pound class, Inman was up against Colhoun, both men show ing very good form, especially in footwork, and a close decision was given

In the 158-pound boxing, Laycock, who defeated Cole in the interfaculty match, was himself defeated by Cole, who has shown a great improvement principally in aggressiveness. He used his extra weight to advantage in attacking Laycock, who was three pounds lighter.

On account of Dawson having had his nose broken on Monday, there was no bout in the 145-pound boxing.

In the Heavyweight Young, a former wrestler, con tested, with McInnes, the former champion, in an exhibition match. Young showed lots of fight and a mule-kick punch, but was weak in his guard. McInnis was in excellent shape, and showed more science than his opponent. Young will represent Queen's at McGill. The 135-pound wrestling bout, Dodds vs. Spears, started out a very promising exhibition, the advantage being slightly with Spears at first, but owing to his shoulder being hurt, ing; in fact, it is so old that the match was stopped and given to

The 145-pound bout was very interesting and exciting. Matheson, weight 1421/2 pounds, was pitted against Walker, weight 144 pounds. Matheson showed remarkable skill against Walker, who appeared to be slightly stronger, and there were many close moments in the bout. No decision was given and the match will be finished Tuesday.

The 158-pound bout was between McQuay, 158 and Kennedy, 156. McQuay showed aggressiveness in the first round and secured a fall and in the remainder of the match stalled while Kennedy worked hard to even the score. Both men were in prime condition, but Mc-
