THE CANADIAN CLUB

WAS ADDRESSED BY PROF. HORNING OF TORONTO

At its Dinner in the Frontenac Hotel—The Speaker Deals With Germany and Her Advance in World Politics.

Prof. Horning, of Victoria University, Toronto, was the guest of the members of the Kingston Canadian Club, at dinner in the Frontenac hotel, on Thursday night, and delivered a masterly address, in which he dealt with Germany and her advance in world politics. His address provided rare treat for all present. Prof. Horning is a fine speaker and dealt with his subject in a most interesting manner. The speaker spent several years in Germany in study.

R. Uglow, the vice-president, occupied the chair, in the absence of the president, J. L. Whiting, K.C., and introduced the speaker. Thereafter, as said by Rev. Dr. Ryckmann, and six close, on motion of Prof. O. D. Skelton and Aid. T. F. Hignison, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

"When we speak of the concert of the great powers of Europe," said Dr. Horning, "we mean the six—Great Britain, Germany, Russia, France, Italy and Austria—and of these we all instinctively, and rightly pick out two as standing out prominently and distinguished from the rest, namely, the British and the German empires. Therefore it is that these two are always in the public mind, and in the press and in the speech of all peoples, for upon the relationship of these two Titanic, Teutonic nations of kindred blood and similar, sister tongues depend, for weal or woe, the fate of the world."

"Therefore it behooves us Canadians, who are rapidly becoming so strong in the councils of the British Empire, to take sober thought on these problems of Anglo-German relations. Gradually the tension has grown and increased, until in these latter days peril after peril has passed, emergency after emergency has swum into our ken and vanished over the far horizon, and we are left with an uncanny feeling and have a mysterious dread of the next event or of the possible outward march which shall set a fuse to all the terrible preparations for slaughter and bring about an Armageddon unparalleled in the history of the world."

With a scholarly grasp of his subject Dr. Horning indicated clearly the historical lines of development of both nations, and pointed out some of the reasons, chiefly commercial, why there is so much friction. He said that he was fully persuaded that he who would attempt to settle these differences by an appeal to arms was looking backward and not forward, that he knew little of the great world problems of today and along which way their solution seems undoubtedly to be guiding us. He continued by pointing out forces which make for peace and goodwill. "First among these," said the speaker, "is the almost miraculous growth of the means of bringing the nations of the earth together."

"The business men of the world," pursued the doctor further on, "with the exception of the armament trusts, are rapidly seeing the point in question and with the awakened and rapidly growing sense of moral responsibility in money matters will use their influence to make war as antiquated as duelling."

"But this is not my sole hope. It is not my strongest hope," said he, and he referred to the intellectual force of the travel and study of students of Britain and Germany. A new force which makes for peace, emphasized the speaker, has arisen within the past two years and promises to become world-wide in its influence. "The associated councils of the churches of the British and German Empires for a fostering of a better understanding between the two nations have already in very quiet but effective ways, proved their right to recognition. Not only ranged on the side of peace, and considered for long by great numbers of their common people, as linked with their oppressors this universal and elemental force of religion seems about to become a mighty influence for the Universal Peace! Hail the day!"

"Powerful which are the commercial forces which tend to do away with war, mighty as are the educational forces, universal as are the religious elements, my greatest hope is in the common man," declared Dr. Horning. "Man was discovered in the Renaissance, the fleshly man and again in the eighteenth century, the man of reason. The new ideas were slow in developing and the earth was red in the French revolution. But steadily and surely in the nineteenth century the cause of democracy has advanced, the condition of woman has been improved, the mother and the child have been

THE FIRE COMMITTEE

Considers the Duties of the Engineer, W. H. Waye

A meeting of the Fire and Light committee was held on Thursday afternoon, at which the chairman presided. A lively discussion took place over the wages of engineers, and that of the present engineers of the Kingston fire department, W. H. Waye, was discussed at some length. Mr. Waye had forwarded a letter to the committee, asking for an increase, and it was finally decided, upon motion of Ald. Stroud, that the salary of the engineer be fifteen cents a day over that of a fireman for the same length of service, and that he be required to do extra duties such as fireman under instruction from the chief. The present engineer will also be given the option of continuing his duties as engineer only with present salary, or duties of fireman and engineer combined with a salary as mentioned above. Chief Armstrong read a report wherein he stated the salaries and duties of fire department engineers in various places.

Chief Armstrong recommended some alteration to be made at No. 2 station for the purpose of securing quicker response to fires and also better care of horses. It was decided to go ahead with the improvements.

In attendance at the meeting were Alds. Sutherland, Stroud and Hanley.

First Aid Classes

The Y.W.C.A. is to commence a series of classes on first aid to the injured at its rooms on Johnson street, which will cover a period of five weeks. Up to Thursday evening there had been thirty registrations. Miss Knowles expects that in the course of a few days several others will sign. The class is to be divided into two sections, which will meet different days. The first class will commence next Monday afternoon and will continue as such for the following five weeks. The second section will meet on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The instructor will be Dr. W. Kennedy, of Queen's University.

Old Boys' Excursion

The Kingston Old Boys' association of Toronto has issued a calendar for the year, advertising dates of their regular meetings, their annual concert on Feb. 26th, their 12th annual excursion to Kingston on July 25th. Fare $2.50. And good for four days. The calendar is illustrated with a nicely printed bird's-eye view of the city of Kingston. The association meets at their headquarters in Room 1, 22 College street, the fourth Thursday of each month throughout the year.

The Whig's Second Section

The second section of the Whig is always readable. In today's issue the report of the Frontenac-Liberal convention will be found on page nine. The farmers will be much taken with the address of Professor H. H. Dean on "Dairy Farmers" on page ten. The story fills the space on page eleven, while on other pages are to be found country news, letters of considerable weight, and the project of a new steamer line being started on the great lakes.

To Cross on the Ice

Nat Goodwin and company, consisting of 22 people, will make the trip from Kingston, Ont., to Cape Vincent by sleighs on Sunday, and already the management has contracted for eight big sleds on which their scenery, trunks and other paraphernalia will be taken across. Then there will be other sleighs to carry the twenty-two people.

Direct From England

Today an enormous shipment of English hats and caps were passed through customs for George Mills and company, wholesale and retail hatters, the only direct importers of men's hats in Kingston.

Dr. Mawson, returning, reports two companions perished in Anisicongia, but new lands were discovered.
