SLAVE TO COCAINE WRITES HIS CONFESSION

Cured of the Use of Mo phine. Scion of Wealth and Affluence, Takes Up the More Pernicious Practice of "Sniffing" Cocaine Horrors of the Deadly Drug Described by a Victim, a Former Philadelphia Lawyer: Tells How He Became Addicted to Habit.

rice, and his reputation as a pleader fore the Bar was such as to always insure big and root audience whenever it was one of the many important cases that and after giving himself up completely existence. living practicalty the life of a

But in a seemingly lucid interval, and which he to-day declares was fraught with his hiding place and went to New York ligence and fairly danced as they seem- beset me in the last year of my stay in qualities of a drug dendlier by far than his story.

cured of that bablt only to fall look upon without a wate of reputpance chips she once was so proud to call son. a rictim to the eyes more dreaded and horror sweeping over him. Not a i am on outcast now, but there is one practice of "spitfing" excular, trace of the one spiendid looking and solace left me, and that I embrace to the and to-day a seritable state to well groomed havver remained. Instead full, that most instructing of all there sai a staring, unkempt, filthy human "How did I become addicted to the drug man now calling himself Frank dereliet who apparently was lost to all babit? Why, just as thousands of others

Andrews gives here what he char- sense of shame and at all times, when did and just as millions of others will a flake under the tulinence of the drop obsessed he caless physicians refrain from admin-of Philadelphia society and reckoned his the. You have me to ten you my experiences may hypodermic syringe and in a twinkling names figured prominently in the leading tend to warn some poor unfortunate devil morphine was injected in my arm. That social events of the day. His income was drugs before the fetters are so strongly and in four years from that day I was large, for he had a big and lucrative pracbut it's too late now, and I have just quarters. He was my sole companion. enough money left to keep up my supply and upon him when in my right senses I of 'flakes,' and that's all I care about." 'showered my affections,

As he talked Andrews drew from his, "I noticed shortly after going to Chinapocket a little silver receptacle of tare town that my sleep and the beautiful workmanship. It was an old fashioned dreams I dreamed were often interrupted spoff box, such as one to-day finds occu- by poor old Jock, my dog, so I decided to ring a prominent place in a cabinet so arrange matters that Jock should sleep where rare bits of bric-a-brac and curios while I did. The needle and its contents nd antiques are zealously guarded and were applied to Jock, too, and it wasn't aroudly displayed. From his he pinched long before he was just as dependent upon a small quantity of a pure white powder the drug as I was. He didn't last long. which he sprinkled on the backs of two poor chap, for when summer came along flugers, held tightly together, that he ex- and under the influence of a too strong tended. Raising his fingers to his nose injection he ran wild through Chinatown aided by a missionary who worked cease- he took a quick, deep draught and the until stopped by a policeman's bullet. The powder had disappeared. At the outset newspapers said he had hydrophobia, and shackles that bound him and, after endur- he had "sniffed his flake," or "coke," and the policeman who shot him was lauded ing a struggle with conscience and will the effect was instantaneous. Instead of as a hero. But I knew differently, and I the previously dead lustreless eyes the alone was responsible. all the torments of bell, he emerged from writer gazed into orbs that flashed intel- "I won't drag you through the mire that determined to make a fresh start and see ingly took in at a swift glance all that Philadelphia. Suffice it to say that a if he could not in a measure rehabilitate transpired about him. The old listless man whose one purpose in life is to rehimself in the affectious of an aged mother manner had disappeared, and Andrews, claim just such weaklings as I, who drift and the two sisters be had desected. But sitting erect and talking in a rapid and into Chinatown, took me in tow, and at once more he fell a victim to the soothing highly excited manner, said he would tell tremendous personal cost and sacrifice solves had been thrown to the winds you well know," he began, "My real name almost hourly injectious of morphine. and be was quite as confirmed a slave as, I once was intensely proud of, but it has until I found I could lessen the treatment. one could find in the fastnesses of Peru, been buried with the life I left behind me and so on, down the scale, until I dis-forensic that his interviewer momentarily anew," Andgews continued, as he became through his veins like that of a race and careful than for the law. I took a where the drug and its use originated, in Philadelphia: Once I thought I would covered that I really could exist with expected that a request from faces in a little more composed. "An old friend, a horse as she faces the barrier. When post graduate course at one of the big uni-

Juan Hill district; in New York, made for the coke has me. My mother passed voice pitched high, and with gestures ve- box was drawn from the tattered pocket, used to go to his office, take refuge in his and inspiring as Faust's! famous by the trapy lawless hegroes living me on the street not so long ago. So hement, he arose from his chair and and again a pin h of the dead white pow-private law library and pore over its anwriter found Andrews. Tall, close was I to her that I could have strode about the room with springs, act- der found its way into the mostrile of its thorities and briefs I found there. The crystals, are dearer to me than life. For nent surgeons I knew make a faulty inciant and harrard, a week growth of stub- touched her, but she looked me calmly in ive steps. Had he been addressing a slave, sunken face, his clothing worn the eye and then averted hers. She knew court he could not have better chosen his "I fled from c'hiladelphia, coming here, tuttered, lines fraged and solled, he me, no doubt of that, and after all I can't words, his eloquence often becoming so hoping and fully determined to stret

NCE a confirmed marphiar fleau war one of the pittable objects hone ; ould disens her, for I am not the natty looking Flabe" In the reruscular of by bullucingtions which took many fan istering them in cases where it is not tastle and far reaching shapes and phases, absolutely essential. I had been working "Now please refrain from making any very hard, had a number of important comment on my personal appearance," rises to conduct and was trying to do sold Andrews after the first greetings had three men's work. I was burning the hern exchanged. "I know as well as you candle at both ends and my nerves were do just how I look, how low I have sunk ajangle. Insomnia developed, and when and just what is abend of me. Thank I did not drop into a deep slumber of God there is money enough left to supply exhaustion I lay with staring eyes, immy limited wants for the rest of my days. agining I was the victim of every ill that When that is gone I shall go to the Great could beset man and in consequence in Beyond, and there will be none to mourn a highly wrought state. The physician me. You ask me to tell you my life story, I called in unbesitatingly produced his who can escape from the thralldom of was my first experience with the poppy. ould have done this myself two years terrier stuck by me and shared my humble he brought me to my senses and made blue, and within six months all good "My name is not Andrews, and that possible for me to gradually decrease my

"Sink Into Blissful Unconsciousness and the Dream I Courted Arises Before Me."

over on the gest side and come dreams that are as beautiful eagerly to a surgical career, but an accicharge would result in his eviction to lawyer, had volunteered to extend a help- sleep is desired it can be courted, and resities of Germany and looked forward days were all right, but when night came they alone make it endurable." I found I was overwhelmed by my lon. Then, opening the souff hox he held liness, and then, too, it seemed that when his hand, he took another "sniff" and set-the city's lights burned brightest and I tled back in his chair ready and eager to a new profession, and I did. saw the thousands of well dressed men resume his parrative. women burrying hither and thither, "Once a lawyer always a lawyer," An all pleasure bent, my entire past would drews continued. "No man who ever suc

"This man was the first I ever saw his jury that he gets the verdict ter of me and I asked what it was he used for himself. tso frequently. "He told me it was .. mild stimulant.

'coke fiend' to-day of the most pronounced | Rather sheepishly he replied :for I get my flakes from him."

country rider." observations showed that his flugging bunters. fast approaching the slough of despond, court rooms and race tracks?" I asked. of St. Vitus' dance. It was in this mood that I preferred him, " "Don't call them hadheinations," he Andrews is but one of the thousands of tating reply. "Morphine may invigorate me. I sink into blissful unconsciousness. A walk through the various prisons will! the blood until one feels it coursing for this profession was far more extensive der to procure a fresh one stant, never ceasing nightmare, and I born of victory. He knows when he has found there was just one man in this handled a case well, and he knows when, great, big, restless city who, apparently, with certain defeat staring him in the enjoyed having me drop in to his drug face he, by an adroit presentation of the use cocaine. I noticed from the first so earnestly strove for, that he not only rare the operation the more cherished is that he frequently inhaled a white pow- has done something worth while, but that the dream. I rarely make a slip in such der through his costrils, and my curiosity, another laurel has been added to the cases as these—the operation invariably piqued from the first, finally got the bet- wreath he is fashioning by his own efforts is successful and I am always awakened stimulated his intellect, quieted his lay rapt and entranced by myriads of "Now perhaps you can understand could sleep as tranquilly as an infant." Here was I torn and wracked by ten thou- in the old days when music was a passion Here I sit before you, shabby and unsand devils, lashed by a conscience that with me. I can picture myself in the sad- clean. I know all this, but somehow L was raw and sore, and thoroughly alive die astride an unbeaten hunter, plunging like many another 'flake' partaker, abhor to the terrifying battle I must fight should, at break neck speed over tarf or fallow; water. We prefer to go with faces and I hope to rehabilitute myself, and sleep; Tying over post and rail, stone wall or hands soiled, and when it comes to tidyde ded me! The weary and lonely hours hedge, lifting my mount with the dexterity ing up our wardrobes, why, that would I spent in dragging my tortured body of an Archer, finally counding into the mean a cash outlay which would be sufthrough the street were as nothing when stretch and leading my field by a safe ficient to purchase a supply of flakes compared to those I must spend alone in margin as the thundering boofs of the that would last me several months. That my room, vainly courting sleep. [vanquished pursue me, while I dash under would be a woeful waste. And now that friend the druggist's invitation to 'try a hail me the greatest jockey of them all." | the full. I am tired and I am drowsy. pinch of his coke. Many of his custom- During his recital Andrews sat astride I know the symptoms, you see." ers were addicted to the habit and pur- his chair, giving a splendid but panto- "What is the dream to be this time?" I chased their powder from him. In fact, mimic exhibition of his cross-country asked. he did a thriving business in this tine, prowess which prompted the question:and apparently took no undue pains to lish't it a far cry from a victorious haps it will be of the old days—the days drug was wearing off. And was and he rode well. Many cups were won the saloon it was apparent that another fast lapsing into that lethargic state in by his horses in the mees for gentlemen and more copious "sniff" would be neceswhich I found him. The drift of his riders, and he invariably piloted his own sary to bring the sleep he so ardently

"Cocsine, to be sure," was the unhesis delicions drowsiness slowly creeping over otees is second only to their vicious nightmare follows. Cocaine stimulates. "Before being admitted to the Bar I type, and should by any chance their supquickens the brain, fires the body, stirs studied medicine. In fact, my preparation ply be cut short they would commit mussion which cost the patient her life. My in nerve forsook me and, leaving the amphitheatre, I resolved then and there to seek

"Frequently, however, the old love of surgery returns to me and I dream that arise to jeer and thunt me. It was a consciended at the Bar ever forgets the thrills I am performing some delicate and dangerous operation. I see it all as vividly as it used to be. The immaculately clad surgeons, internes and nurses cluster about me as I stand with lancet or knife poised while I demonstrate the nature of the operation to the hundreds oratory, or a parry or a thrust, so sways of intent and eager students rising tier by the hearty congratulations of brother "Well, now, I'll tell you what cocaine surgeons, who, awe struck by my skill, quanties much the same as quinine, and that by using it sparingly he found it

"You can readily understand what an the wire the winner, amid the deafening I have been telling you about my dreams leasy matter it was for me to accept my roars and cheers of the multitude as they I am going to my room and enjoy one to when you knew me and I really amounted type, and, whereas in my heart I curse. "You may recall thus once I main to something, never suspecting then that that druggist as my first tempter, yet I tained a good stable of hunters and, fur. I would see the day when I would have to wouldn't break with him for the world, ther, that I was a corking good cross- request you to lend me a dollar, since I find myself temporarily out of funds."

It was evident that the effect of the All of which was true, for he did ride . He got it. And as he slouched out of wooed, for his gait was as balting and spirits were at low ebb and that he was "Are your hallne mations confined to jerky as though he was in the last stages.

for I felt confident he would be less apt said. Dreams is a pleasanter and more fitto remance and deaf more freely with fing word. When I partake of my sleeping big cities. A habit that was brought to facts-conditions as they really were, potion, and this is generally a much more the North by the negroes of the South "Your last out in Philadelphia." I said, liberal quantity than I take during the among whom it has been prevalent for "through morphine, and then freed your day, I can stretch out on my bed and con-years, it has grown until it is to-day reself of the habit. Now it is cocaine, . ow centrate my thoughts for a moment or two garded as one of the gravest perils that on any subject I elect. Then comes that confront society. The cupidity of its dor-for a time, then it palls and a borrible and the dream I courted arises before me! reveal scores upon scores of claves of this

The Redskins' Skillful Interpretation of Modern Music

CANTE MASICA! Cante masica! ("My heart is sad! My heart is andc). Thus piped the Indian brave rew his maiden forth from her tepee to which he played was practically the only non paper. Few people have understood ast how naturally grapical the Indian is. It is a trait that has not been featured on the pages of the novellets and historians, who have presented principally only file bloodibitsty or warlike attributes.

One generation of the Indian trained in nodern music has shown that he has only to be thught how to express himself to give remarkable evidence of his latent and naturally unusical character James Hole Engle, a typical Sioux war rior from South Dakota, is a fair example of the extraordinary musical ability of the race. Just a year are the wooden flute achievement. Today Holy Eagle plays compositions with consummate skill and

But, with a wisdon that might be emu lated in the education of Leir young white brethren, the redskine are taught v hatever form of music in which it seems they may excel, not primarily to earn a livelthood but in c der that it may soften their character and afford them an accomshment that will emble them to enter certain classes of society which might otherwise remain closed to them. As a result of this idea and its application, says Baldmaster Claude Maxwell Stanffer, of the Carlisle Indian School, there are scattered throughout the country many scores of bands in which are playing young Indians who have gained equal sorial recognition thereby. "Here lies a splendid social uplift ides for the masses of the supposedly more cultured and civilhite race: -Could little slum dwellers, if thoroughly versed in music in the settlement houses and other upilit agencies around or among them develop into strong-sem men and thugs? The Indian school authorities, Superintendent M. Friedman number would be reduced, and ignist that musical training has a tremendously softening effect upon their own charges.

The personnel of the Cartiel Indian Band changes each year. There has I dem half of the seminamore ogether in

