GIVE THAT PUNY CHILD THIS GUARANTEED REMEDY
If your child is under weight, listless, ailing, liable to get sick easily, needs a medicine to build its weight and strength. For this purpose there is nothing else we know of that we can so strongly endorse as RECALL OLIVE OIL EMULSION. The remarkable success of this splendid medicine is due to the fact that it contains ingredients that tone the nerves, enrich the blood and furnish to the entire system the strength, weight and health-building substances it needs. And it does all this without injuring the stomach. In fact, RECALL OLIVE OIL EMULSION is not only pleasant to take, but even the most sensitive stomach is benefited by it, and the digestion improved. On the other hand, it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs which most parents object to giving their children. It does its good work by taking hold of the weakness and builds the body up to its natural strength, at the same time making it strong to resist disease.
If RECALL OLIVE OIL EMULSION doesn't build your child up, feed the stunted, puny creature, and make the little one lively, strong, well, and full of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have, come back and tell us and get your money back. We don't want you to lose a cent. We think this is no more than fair, and it leaves you no cause to hesitate. For old people also—for convalescents—for all who are nervous, tired-out, run-down, no matter what the cause—we offer RECALL OLIVE OIL EMULSION with the same guarantee of entire satisfaction or money back. Sold only at the 7,000 RECALL STORES and in this town only by us. $1.

"She told you? Why, she's been dead in her grave five years, shot to death by that murderous dog of a husband of hers."
"A word with you, Mr. Armstrong," said the woman with great spirit. "You can't talk that way about Mr. Newbold; he saved my life twice over, from a bear and then in the cloudburst which caught me in the canon."
"That even up a little," said Armstrong. "Perhaps for your sake I will spare him."
"You!" laughed the woman contemptuously. "Spare him? Be advised, look to yourself, if he ever finds out what I know, I don't believe any power on earth could save you."
"Oh," said Armstrong carelessly enough, although he was consumed with hate and jealousy and raging against her clearly evident disdain. "I can take care of myself, I guess. Anyway I only want to talk about you, not about him or her. Your father—"
"Is he well?"
"Well enough, but heart-broken, crushed. I happened to be in his house in Philadelphia when the telegram came from your uncle that you were lost and probably dead. I had just asked him for your hand," he added, smiling grimly at the recollection.
"You had no right to do that."
"I know that."
"It was not, it is not, his to give."
"Still when I won you I thought it would be pleasant all around if he knew and approved."
"And did he?"
"Not then, he literally drove me out of the house, but afterwards he said if I could find you I could have you; and, by Heaven, I have found you; and I will have you whether you like it or not."
"Never," cried the woman decisively.
The situation had got on Armstrong's nerves, and he must perform show himself in his true colors. His only resources were his strength, not of mind but of body. He made another most damaging mistake at this juncture.
"We are alone here, and I am master, remember," he said meaningly. "Come, let's make up. Give me a kiss for my pains and—"
"I have been alone here for a month with another man," answered Enid Mattland who was strangely unairial in spite of this threat. "A gentleman he has never so much as offered to touch my hand without my permission; the contrast is quite to your disadvantage."
"Are you jealous of Louise Rosser?" asked Armstrong suddenly seeing that he was losing ground and casting about desperately to account for it and to recover what was escaping him.
"Why, that was nothing, a mere boy and girl affair," he ran on with a specious good humor as if it were all a trifle. "The woman was, I hate to say it, just crazy in love with me, but I really never cared anything especially for her; it was just a harmless sort of flirtation anyway. She afterward married this man Newbold and that's all there was about it."
The truth would not serve him and in his desperation and desire he staked everything on this astounding lie. The woman he loved looked at him with her face as rigid as a mask.
"You won't hold that against me, will you?" pleaded the man. "I told you that I'd been a man among men, yes, among women, too, here in this rough country, and that I wasn't worthy of you; there are lots of things in my past that I ought to be ashamed of and I am, and the more I see you the more ashamed I grow, but as for loving any one else, all that I've ever thought or felt or experienced before now is just nothing."
And this indeed was true, and even Enid Mattland with all her prejudice could realize and understand it. Out of the same mouth, was said of old, proceeded blessing and cursing, and from these same lips came truth and falsehood; but the power of the truth to influence this woman was as nothing to the power of falsehood. She could never have loved him, she now knew; a better man had won her affections, a nobler being claimed her heart; but if he had told the truth regarding his relationship to Newbold's wife and then had completed it with his passionate avowal of his present love for her, she would have at least admired him and respected him.
"You have not told me the truth," she answered directly; "you have deliberately been false."
"Can't you see," protested the man drawing nearer to her, "how much I love you?"
"Oh, that; yes I suppose that is true; as far as you can love any one I will admit that you do love me."
"So far as I can love any one?" he repeated after her. "Give me a chance and I'll show you."
"But you haven't told the truth about Mrs. Newbold. You have calumniated the dead, you have sought to shelter yourself by throwing the burden of a guilty passion upon the weak-

CABBAGES AND POTATOES HURLED BY SPECTATORS
At the Sydenham-Catarqui Hockey Game for the Edwards Trophy—Other News About Hockey
Despite the high cost of living, potatoes and cabbage went to waste at the final hockey game for the J. W. Edwards challenge trophy for the county championship at the covered rink on Thursday afternoon. Although Catarqui won the game by a score of 5 to 4, the Sydenham seniors are winners of the Edwards trophy by a score of 11 to 6 on the round. Sydenham defeated Catarqui in the first of the home and home games at Sydenham last week by a score of 11 to 1.
The game was one that will remain long in the minds of all those who witnessed the exhibition. While the players were busy on the ice, a number of spectators amused themselves by throwing potatoes and cabbages at others viewing the game. On one occasion a whole cabbage was hurled at one of the players. The referee stopped the game to remove the large vegetable.
The screams of a number of female supporters of the teams could be heard a block away.
The game was a fairly good exhibition of hockey, considering that the teams were not used to playing on a large rink. The Catarqui boys appeared to have the better of the game from the start. Their combination work was superior to that of the Sydenham outfit. Had the players on the Sydenham team bored in on the nets a little oftener, they might have scored more goals.
At half time the score was standing 2 to 1 in favor of Catarqui. McConville and "Pudge" Barry did the scoring for Catarqui, while Dier made the "hunk" for Sydenham. The score made by Barry resulted from a rebound off the back of the nets. Dier scored his goal on a pass from Smith, the wing man.
When the second half opened both teams strove hard to win. The luck appeared to be with Catarqui. At one time it looked as though Catarqui would be able to pull down the score of the first game of the round as it made the tally 4 to 1. With fifteen minutes left to play, Sydenham got going and shoved the puck into the nets three times. The scoring in the last period was done by "Jack" Riley, Cooke and Kaiser for Catarqui, and Dier and Verrett for Sydenham. Cooke scored on a pass from Kaiser, directly in front of the nets. Dier scored two of the goals. The first he scored on a pass from Blakie.
The Sydenham outfit was without the services of Dr. Sargent, who was unable to come to the city. Horne, who is the regular goal-tender, took his place on the defence, while Chisholm replaced Horne in goal. This was the first game that Horne had played in two years. Kaiser was by far the best man on the ice. His back-checking was real good. Dier, as rover for the Sydenham boys, put up a fine game. The teams lined up as follows:
Sydenham—Goal, Chisholm; defence, Verrett, and Horne; rover, Dier; centre, Blakie; wings, Lacey and Smith.
Catarqui—Goal, Simpson; defence, Cooke and McConville; rover, Kaiser; centre, Barry; wings, A. Riley and J. Riley.
Referee—Edward Blakie.

Collegiate Hockeyists

Seven of the eight boys who have figured on the Kingston Collegiate hockey team this season were born and educated in Kingston. Allan Singleton, the strong defence man, came from Smith's Falls about fifteen months ago.
"Jimmie" Stewart, "Charlie" Stewart and "Harry" Cooke have played together for the past eight years. They started their hockey career by playing on some of the junior city league hockey teams. Four years ago, "Jimmie" Stewart and "Harry" Cooke were selected as members of the junior intercollegiate team. "Charlie" Stewart joined the team as a regular player the following year. These three players will graduate from the institute next fall.
"Bob" Ferguson, aged sixteen, the youngest member of the outfit, made his debut into intercollegiate hockey this winter. Last winter he played on the second team. This is his second year at the collegiate institute. Singleton who is nineteen years of age, has been playing on the team for the past two seasons. He joined it last winter when Brownfield was put out of the game as a result of a bad injury to his knee.
Hugh and "Cam" Toland, the two wing men, have played a splendid game all season. Hugh Toland has been playing junior intercollegiate and O.H.A. hockey for two seasons. "Cam," the younger of the two, jumped into intercollegiate hockey this winter. Hugh Toland is in the fifth form, while his younger brother is in the fourth.
Clarence Young, who has played spare man for the team, has the "ear marks" of a coming player. He is also in his final year at the K.C.I.
Out of the eight players seven of the boys were members of the Kingston collegiate rugby team which won the junior intercollegiate rugby union last fall.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE RUMOR

Significant Meeting of King Emmanuel and Kaiser
Venice, Italy, March 13.—King Victor Emmanuel and Emperor William will meet here March 24, when the emperor passes through Venice on his way to his villa on the island of Corfu. If Empress Augusta Victoria accompanies Emperor William on the trip Queen Helena will come to Venice to greet her.
Importance is being attached to the meeting of the two sovereigns in view of the activity of the Triple Alliance in the Balkan states, especially Albania, and the belief that further concerted influence will be exercised by the Triple Alliance both in the Balkans and the Mediterranean.
When Col. Roosevelt was a boy one of his favorite stories, in the old magazine for children, Our Young Folks, was "Afloat in the Forest, or A Voyage Among the Tree-Tops," by Mayne Reid. This was probably the beginning of his desire to penetrate the wilderness of South America, the romantic journey upon which he is now engaged, the narrative of which begins in the April Scribner.
