Thinks Aldwych Site Scheme May Yet Fructify

London, April 2 .- The Sydney correspondent of the Morning Post states that he is informed that Earl Grey has every hope of Australian participation in the dominion house scheme, notwithstanding the fact that the commonwealth buildings are already under construction at the east end of the Aldwych site. He further states that the subject is being considered in a conference be tween the premiers which has just begun. Earl Grey hopes that I Australia and New Zealand agree the London county council will renew the option for another year. The present option terminates in June.
