

CABINET WILL STRIVE TO PRESERVE PEACE

And Will Go To Every Honorable Length

PEOPLE ARE ANXIOUS

TO AVERT WAR IF AT ALL POSSIBLE

Cabinet Will Insist That Huerta be Eliminated in Any Plan of Mediation — No Fighting at Vera Cruz Since Monday.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The cabinet for several hours this morning discussed the latest phases of the Mexican situation and it was decided to go to every honorable length to preserve peace. The president is convinced that war with Mexico would not be popular in the United States. After the first flush of excitement, following the Tampico and Vera Cruz affair, the United States' people generally have sobered down to the fact that there must be averted if possible. While some are still clamoring for a "general clean up," others are doing talk thinking about final consequences. It is realized, however, that the campaign begun by the dispatch of Badger and his squadron to Mexican waters cannot be abandoned without some showing to indicate that all fuss made was justified. One thing understood to be decided on by cabinet this morning was that Huerta must be eliminated in any plan of mediation suggested.

Mexicans Await Mediation. Vera Cruz, April 28.—Although air-ship scouts report a force of two thousand Mexicans under General Maas, a few miles from the outposts of the United States troops here, there has been no fighting for twelve hours, and it is thought the Mexicans are holding back till the announcement of the results of mediation.

General Funston formally took command here from Admiral Fletcher at noon. The bluejackets were taken back to their ships. Natives here and all residents have paid their respects to the stars and stripes and are quite amenable to discipline of the United States.

Formally Accepted. Washington, April 28.—Formal acceptance by the Huerta government of the offer of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile to use their good offices to bring about an amicable settlement of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico was cabled to Spanish Ambassador Riano, here, last night, by Portillo, Mexican foreign minister in the Huerta cabinet. European diplomats in Washington, it was learned, are pessimistic over the successful outcome of mediation proposals.

While the action of Great Britain, Germany and France in urging Huerta to accept the proposals is encouraging effect upon officials here, there are few who believe that success can eventuate from the undertaking. It was quite generally felt, however, that too wide a gulf lay between the viewpoint of the United States and that of Huerta to be bridged over by the Pan-American mediation. At it is one of those diplomats said, as if Huerta "is to be invited to step out and commit political suicide—and to expect him to accept the invitation."

Both had listened to the new proposals which were submitted by the prime minister and at the conclusion of his announcement took their leave. Neither wished it to be understood that their leaving was actuated by a feeling of direct opposition to the proposals. They simply desired to retain an open mind on the question when it came before parliament from an unprejudiced standpoint.
